VOLUME FIFTY-THREE

. . . That he should seek direction and yearn to know the forces that control his destiny.

These faces shall not fade; our paths will part, but long shall last the mark in memory of those I knew today.

I glanced around and soon I found
. . . quick acquaintances of those who seek direction.

. . . Begin your search from these friendly marks.

For a few brief hours,
my cares pass
into obscurity and bright lights.

I must struggle against forces full unknown
I must learn to discern . . .

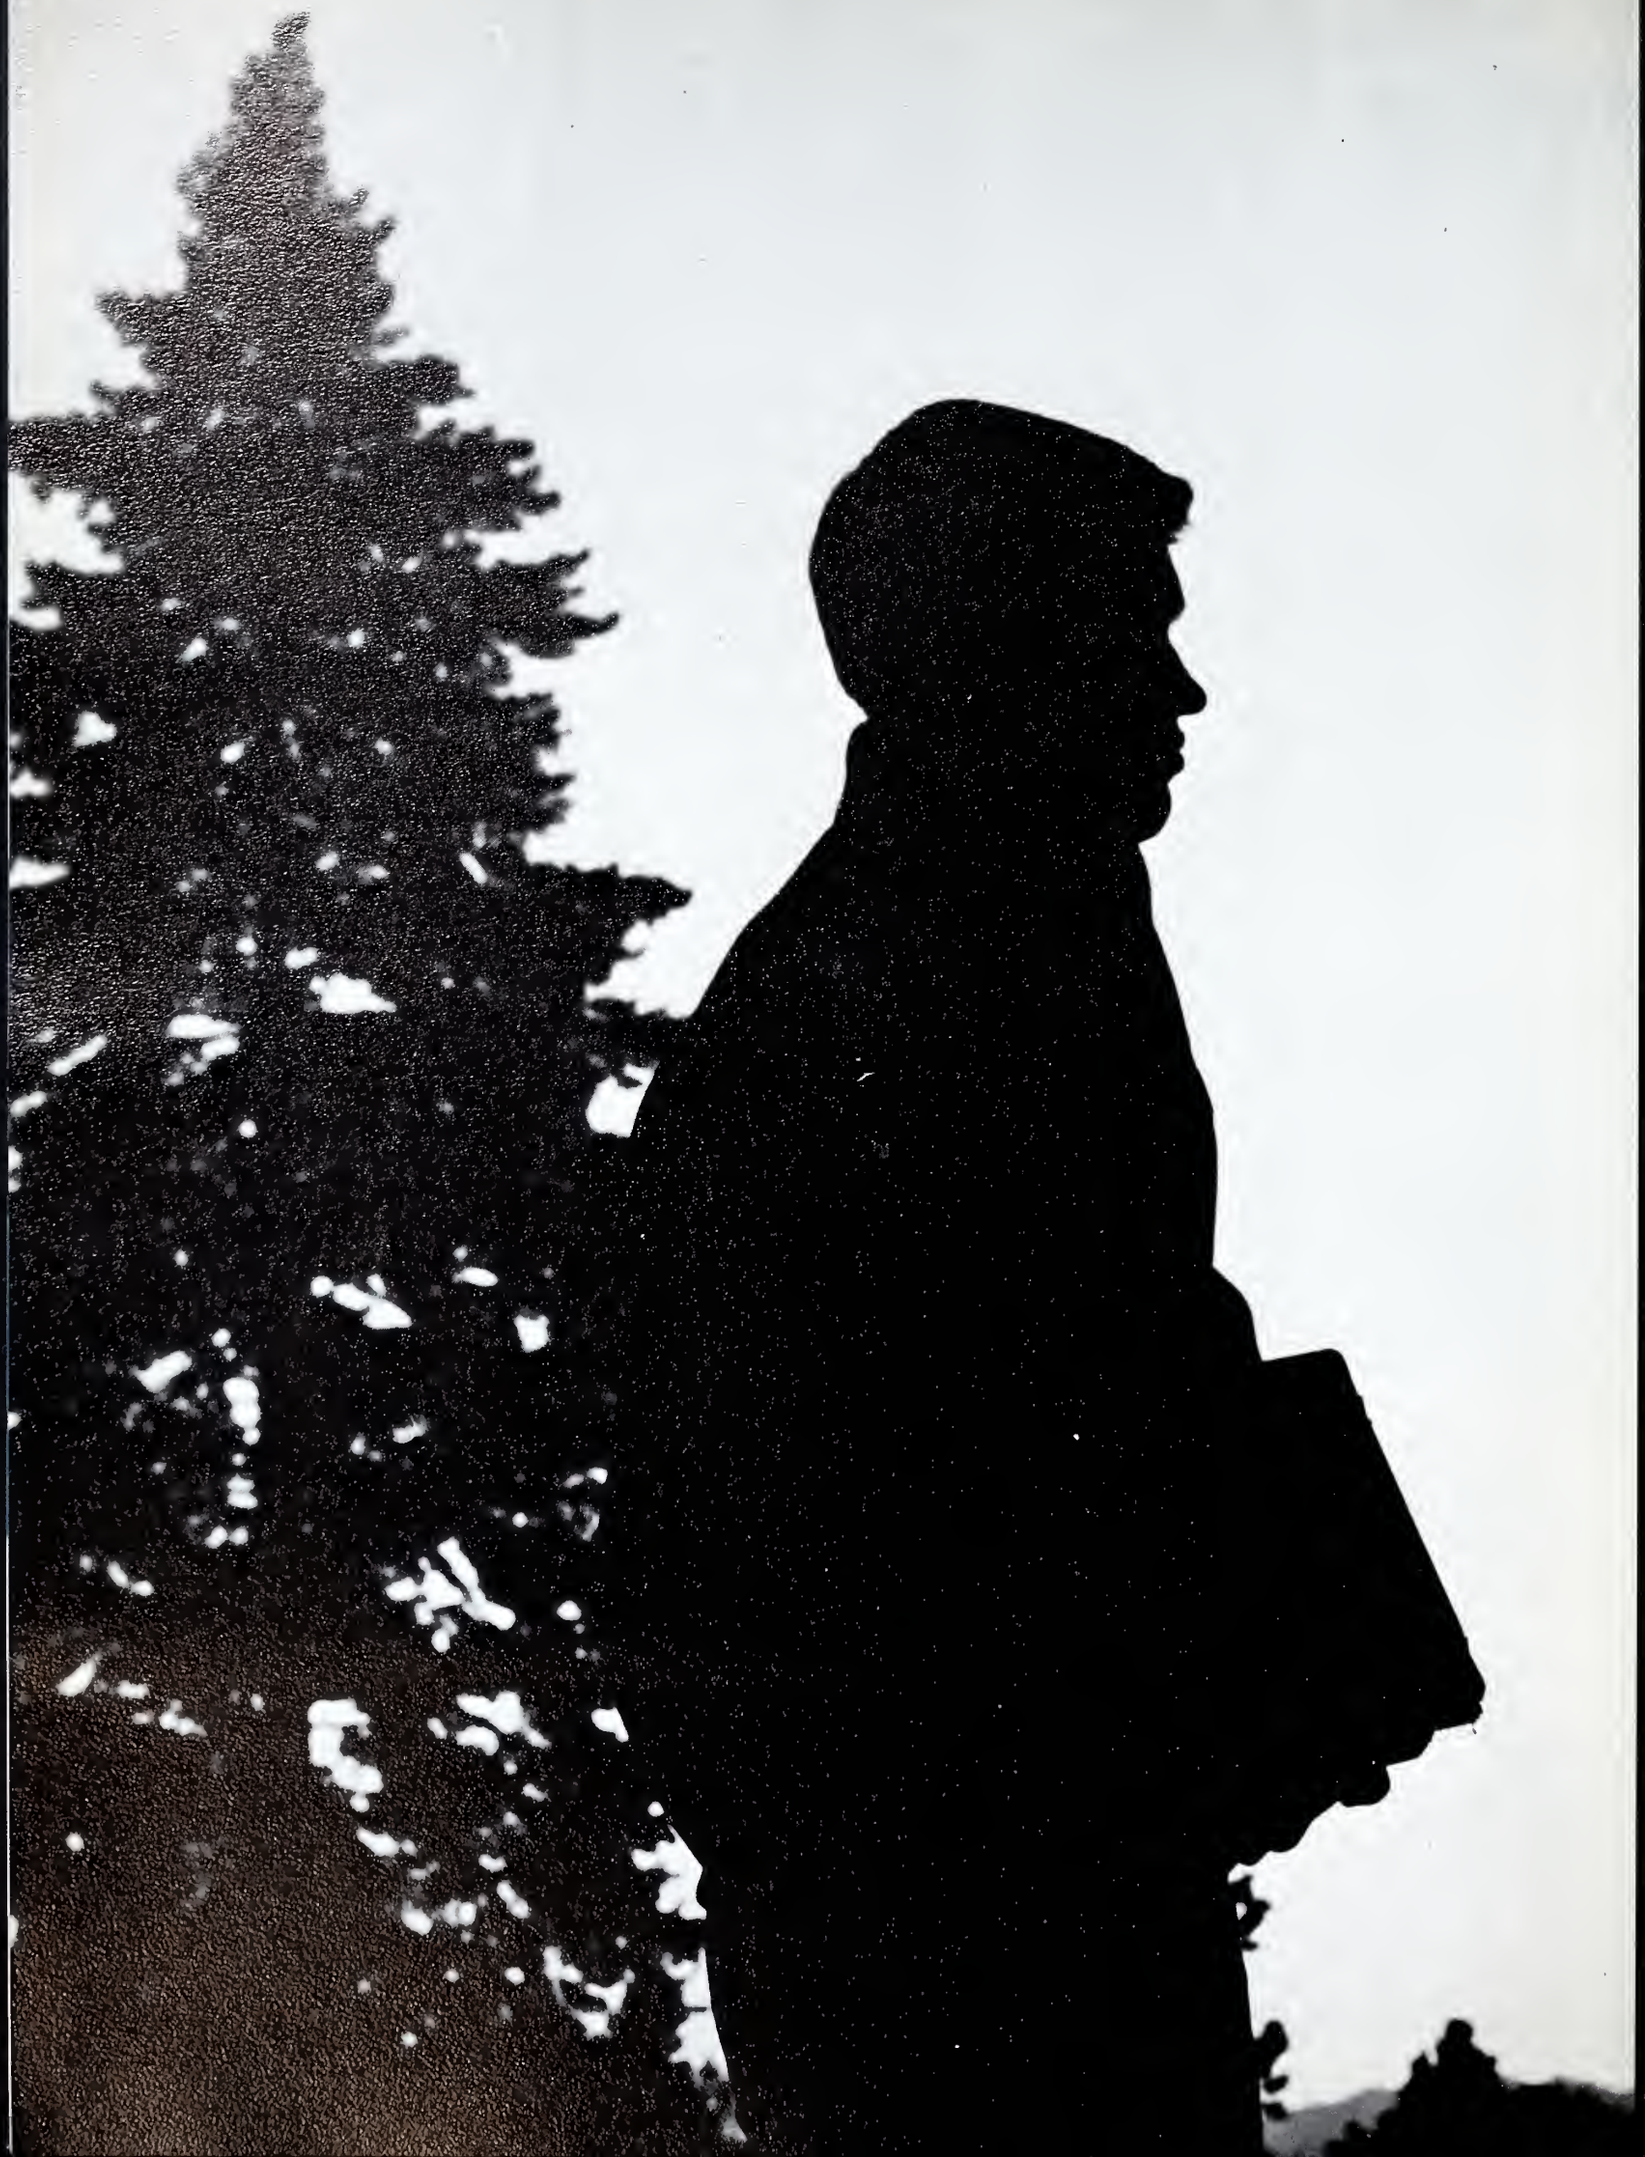

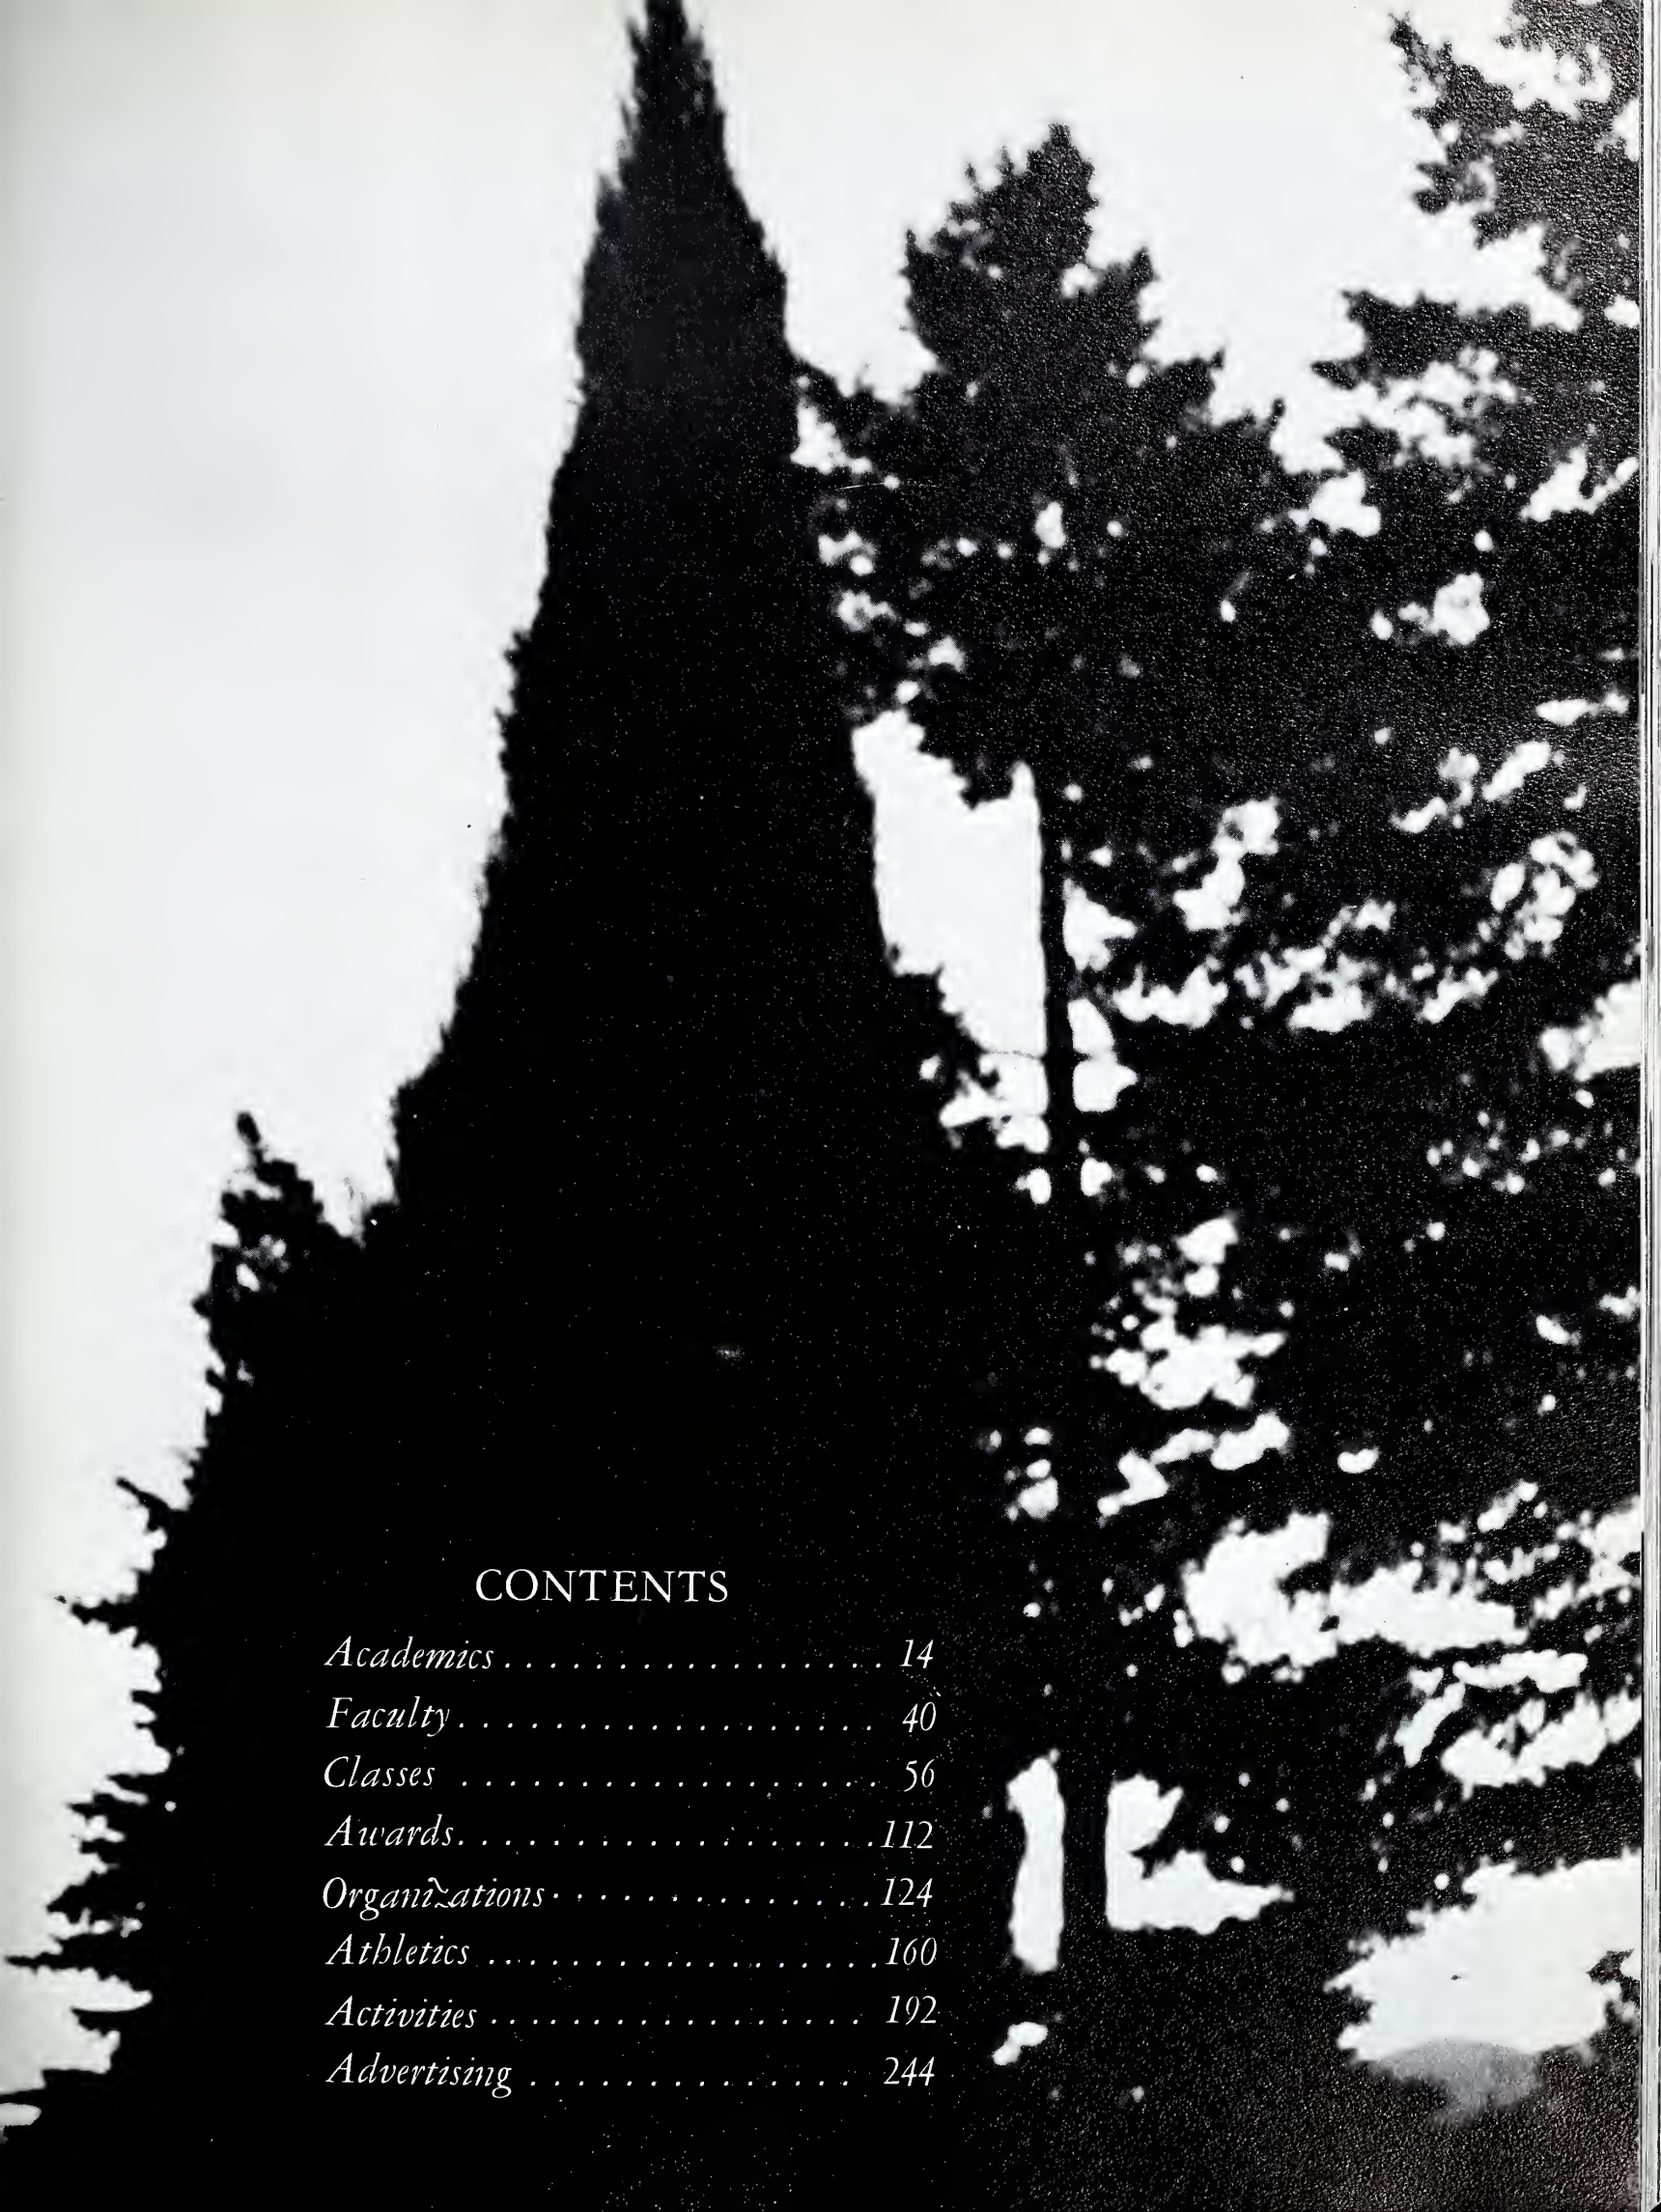

And occasionally
There is time. . .
Spending of the boundless energy
of youth.

What lies ahead, no man can safely say.

Who knows the distant lands where one may venture daringly.

PRESIDENT
Richard F. Ryan, S.J.

We have endeavored in the past four years to build men—whole men—emotionally mature and mentally alert. As we pause and reflect on the graduates of Regis, 1965, we feel we have succeeded in doing this. We are proud of our graduates.

I, as president of Regis College, am proud to have played a small part in your formal education and am grateful I was given the opportunity to have worked with you. I would encourage each of you not only to grasp every challenge possible, but to look for challenge. Use every challenge as a means of growing—mentally and spiritually. And when you are confronted with the materialism of the world, I would hope that you will remember your alma mater and the ideals for which she stands. And as you leave Regis, know that our thoughts and prayers are with you.

Mass of the Holy Spirit

The Very Reverend Monsignor William H. Jones, Superintendent of Schools, Archdiocese of Denver, delivers the convocation sermon to the 1965 students of Regis College.

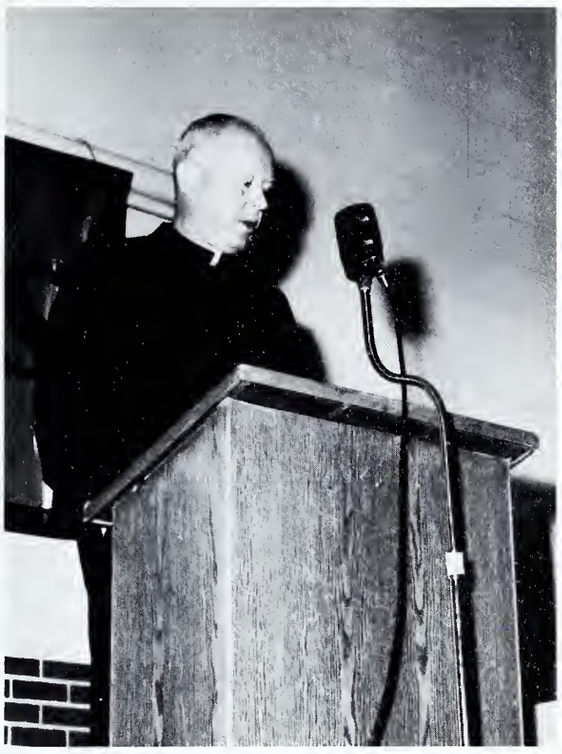

Ten-thirty o'clock in the morning, September 23, 1964. With the entrance of the Offertory Procession, composed of campus leaders, the Mass of the Holy Spirit resumes.

Administration, faculty and students participate as the Very Reverend Richard F. Ryan, President of the College, celebrates the mass.

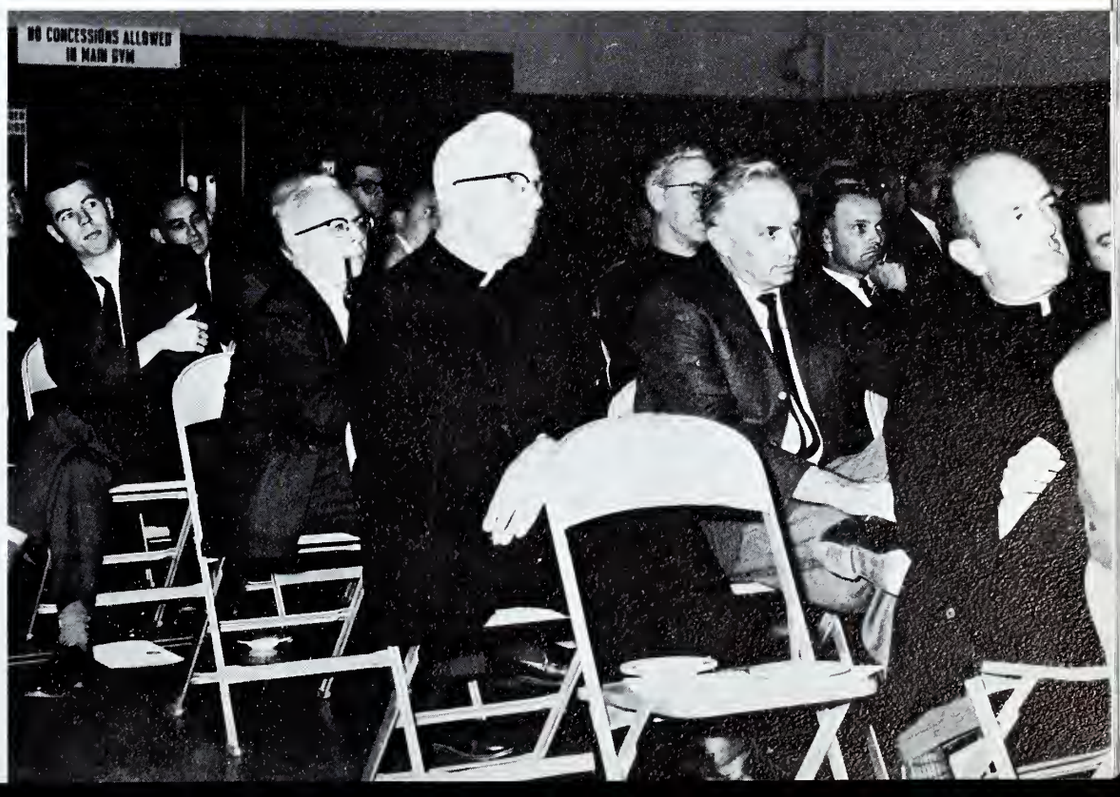

Faculty Convocation

Very Reverend John P. Leary, S J. President of Gonzaga University, delivers the address.

In an informal gathering members of the faculty discuss points of the convocation address.

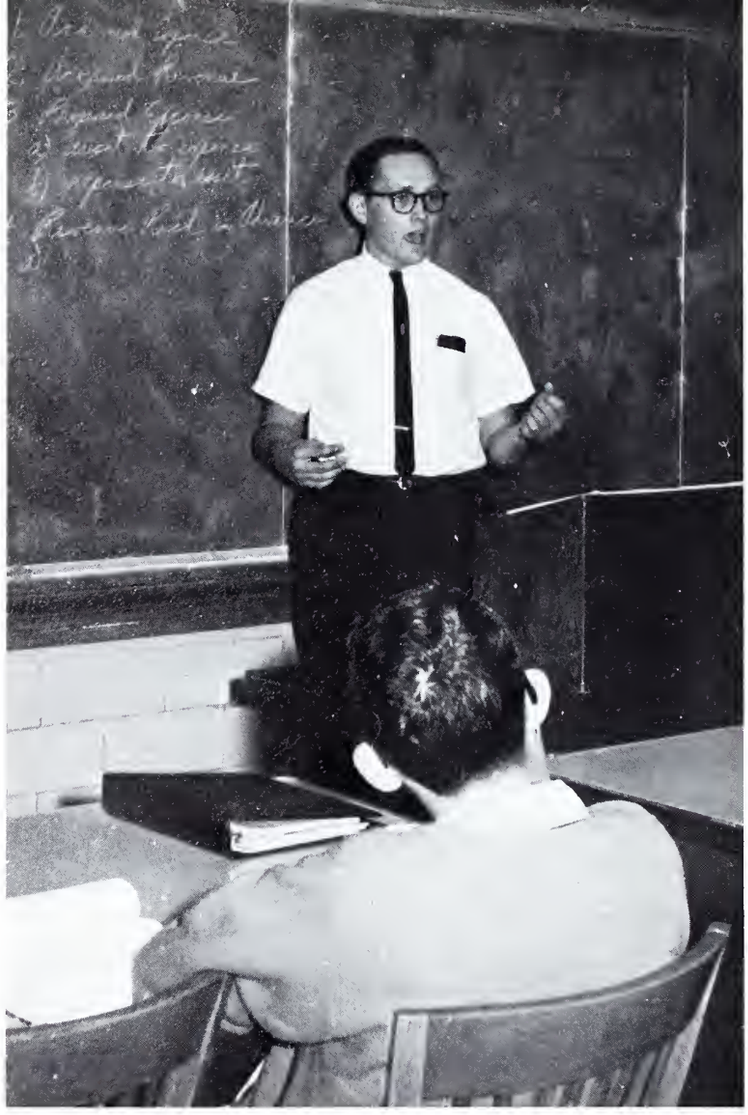

The look of deep concentration pauses on the faces of the faculty during the fall convocation.

Accounting

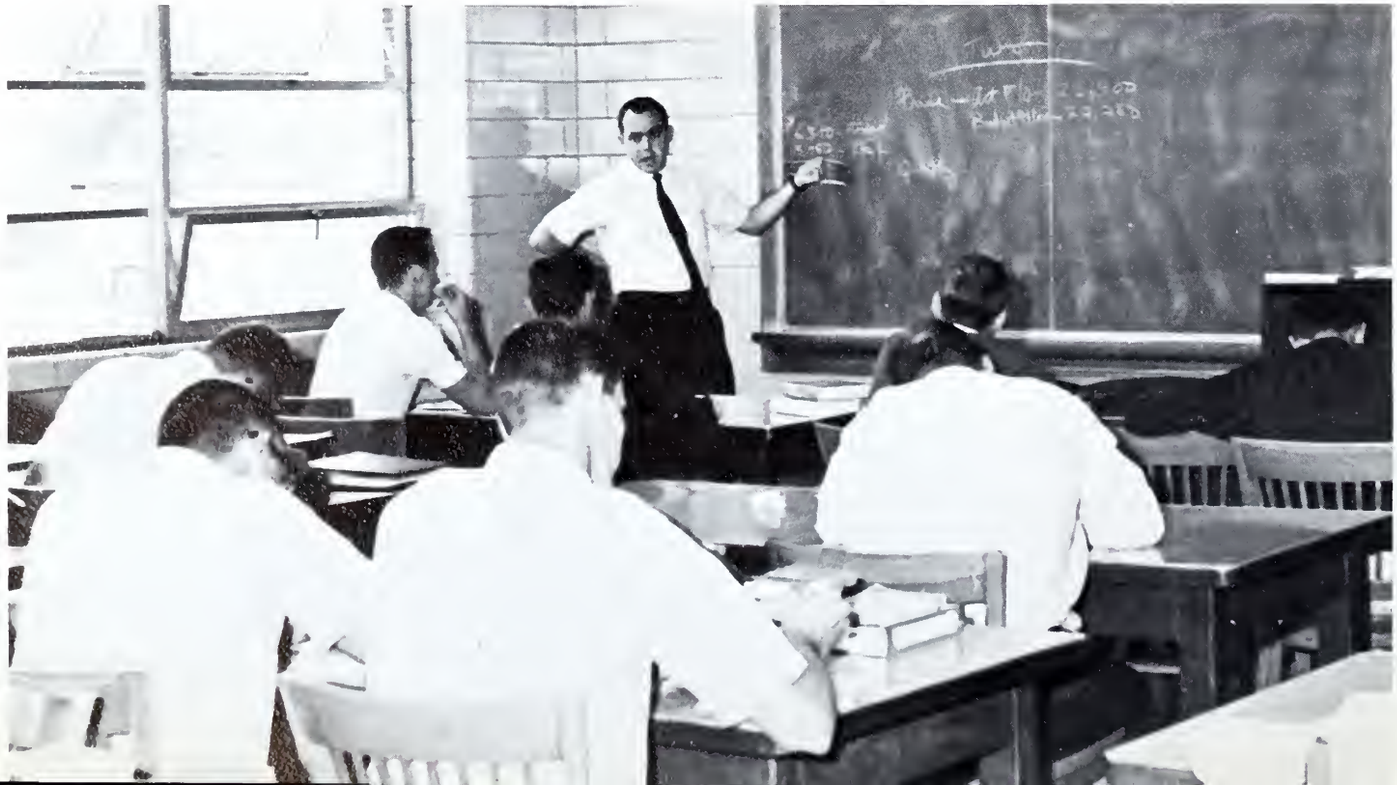

Mr. Robert Lacey, department chairman.

Mr. David Fetyko explaining the basic accounting principles needed for upper division courses . . .

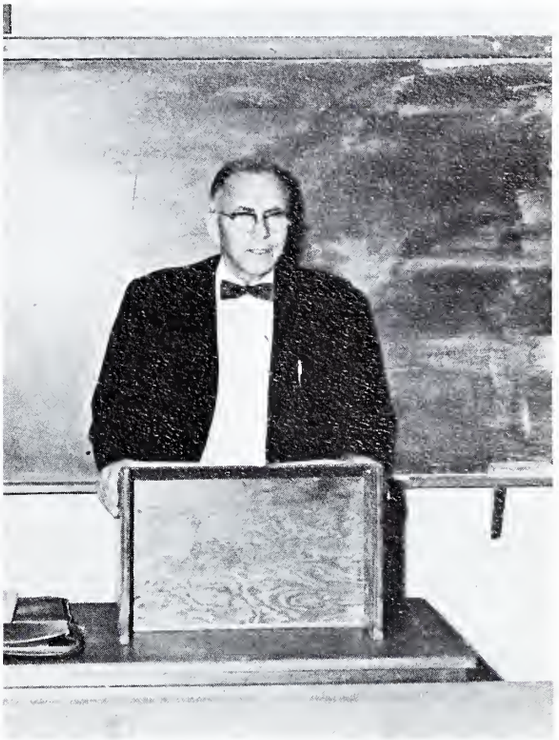

. . . which prepare students for the C.P.A. exam and an influential position in the business community.

Business Administration

Individuals needing advice in the field of business administration find Mr. Sporcich eager to assist them in solving their problems.

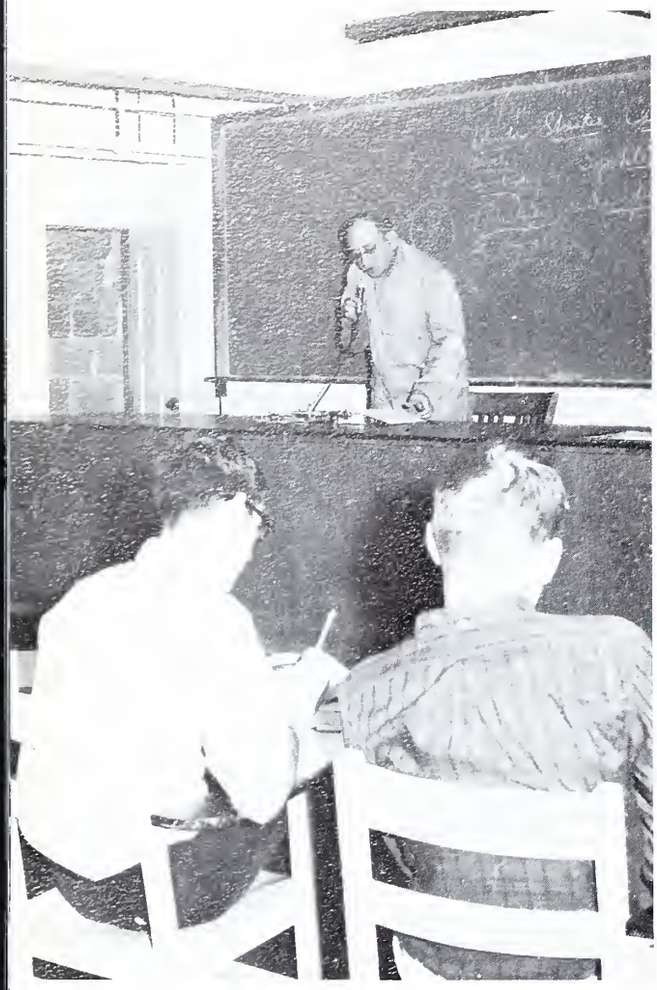

Mr. Olson covers the technique of both investigation and presentation from the initial stages to the completed business report.

The accounting lab provides the principles course students an opportunity to do their assignment with the assistance of the instructor and a student advisor.

Biology

Father Trame lectures on the morphological principles of the invertebrate body . . . .

. . . . the application of the lecture material.

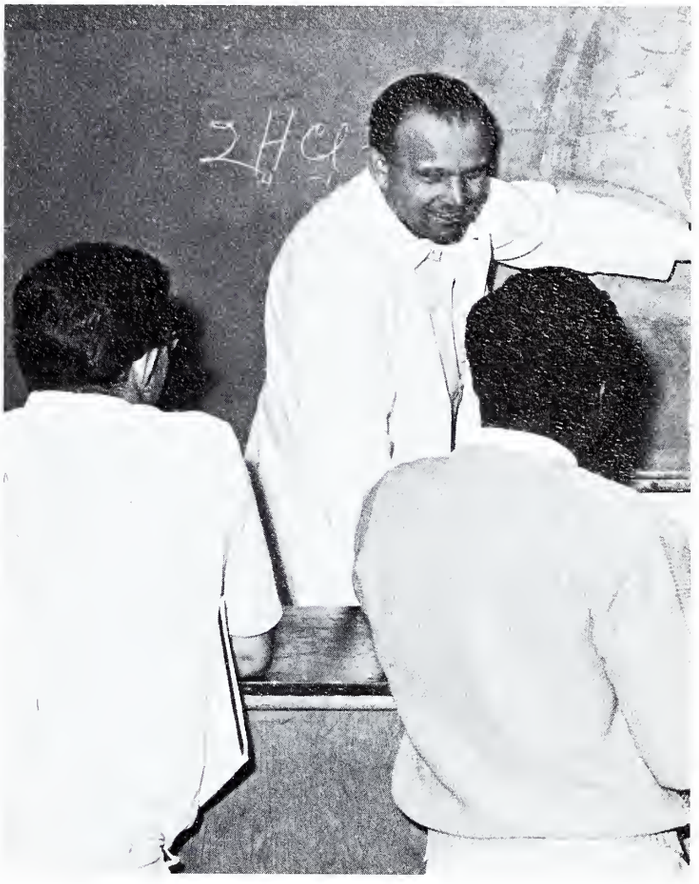

In this Micro-Techniques class Dr. Earle shows the procedures involved in the preparation of whole mounts and tissues for microscopic studies.

Chemistry

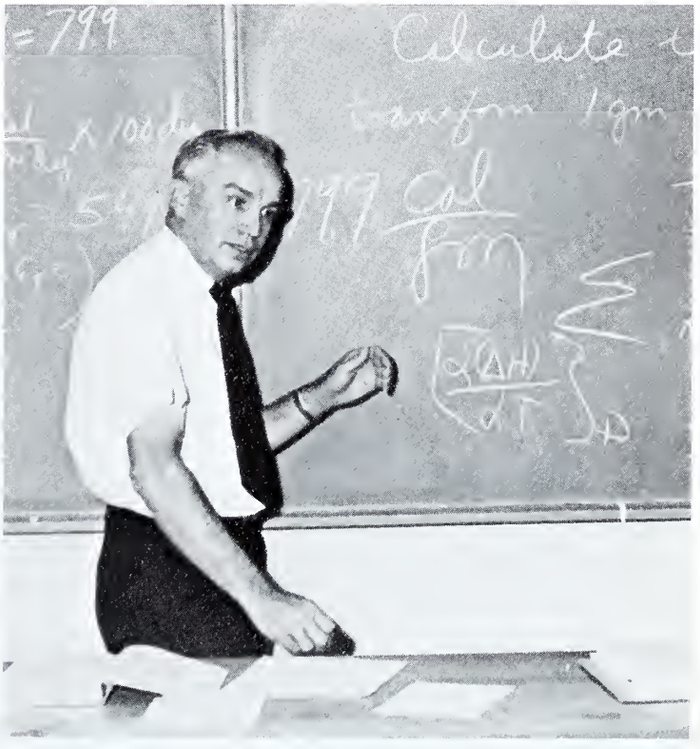

Explanation of problems for organic student . . . .

. . . . and inorganic students

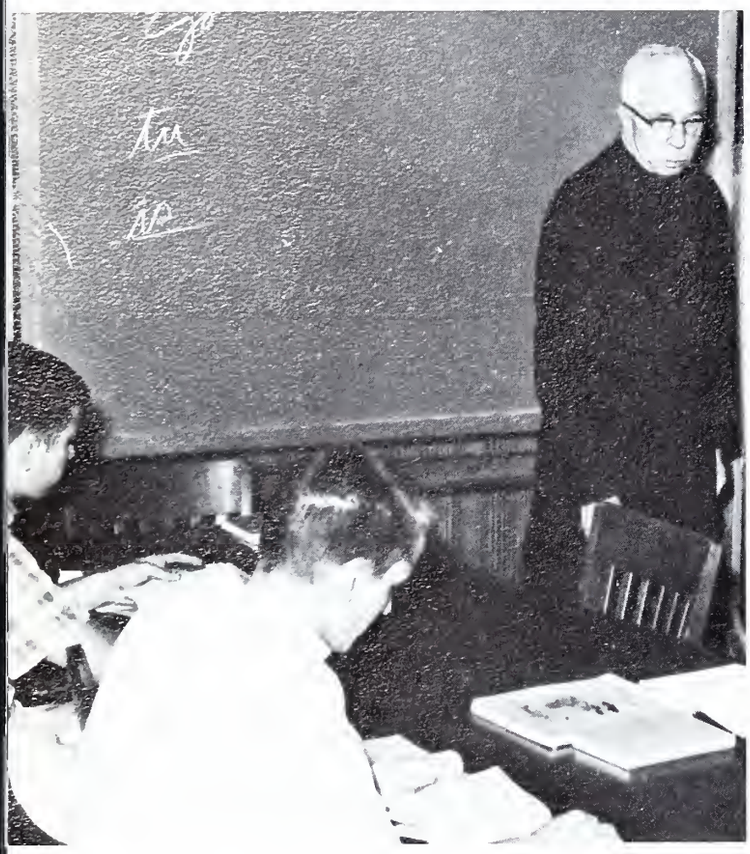

The chemistry lab is an integral part of the student's training, supplementing theory with practice.

Mr. Louis Gachic explains to his class the application of a fundamental principle of chemistry.

Classical Languages

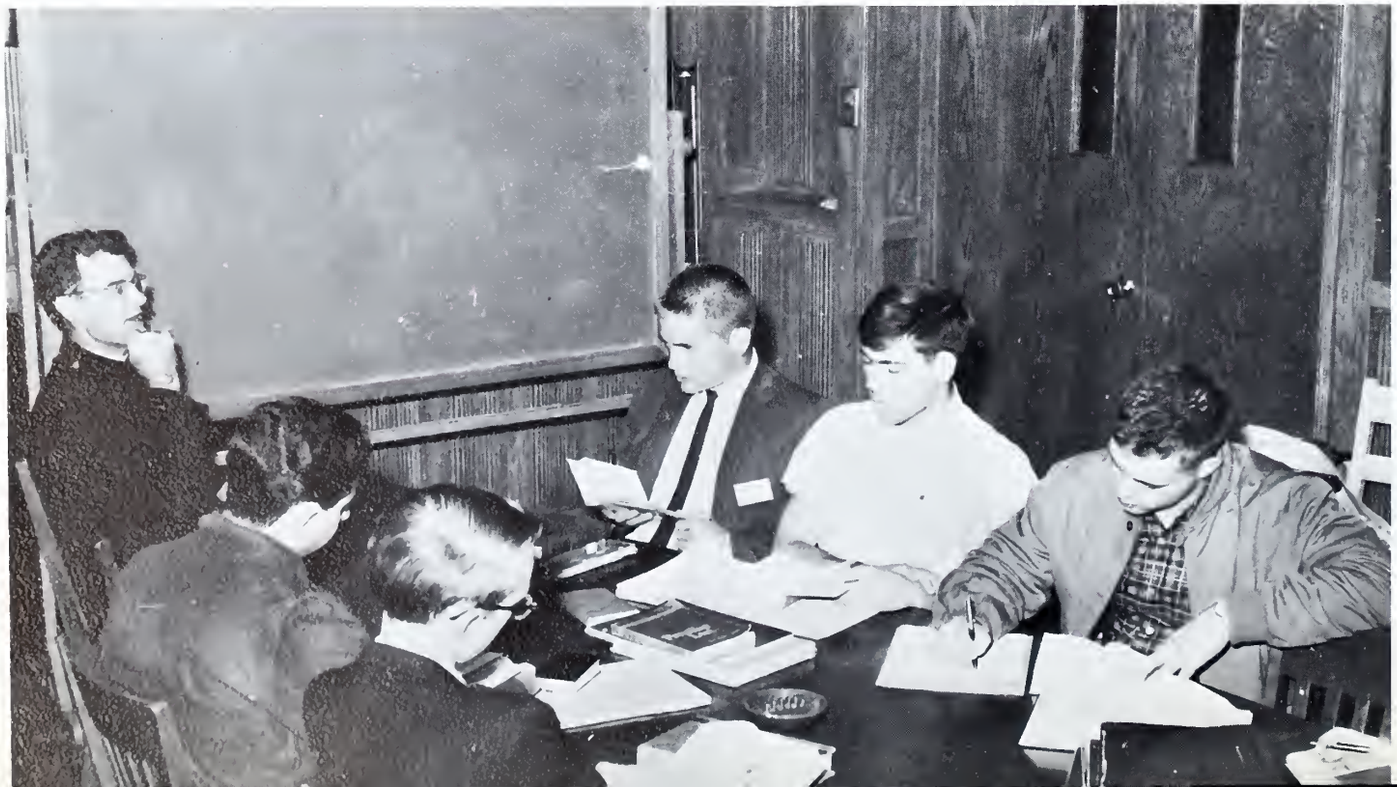

Fr. Karst acquaints the student with ancient Greece, its language and culture . . .

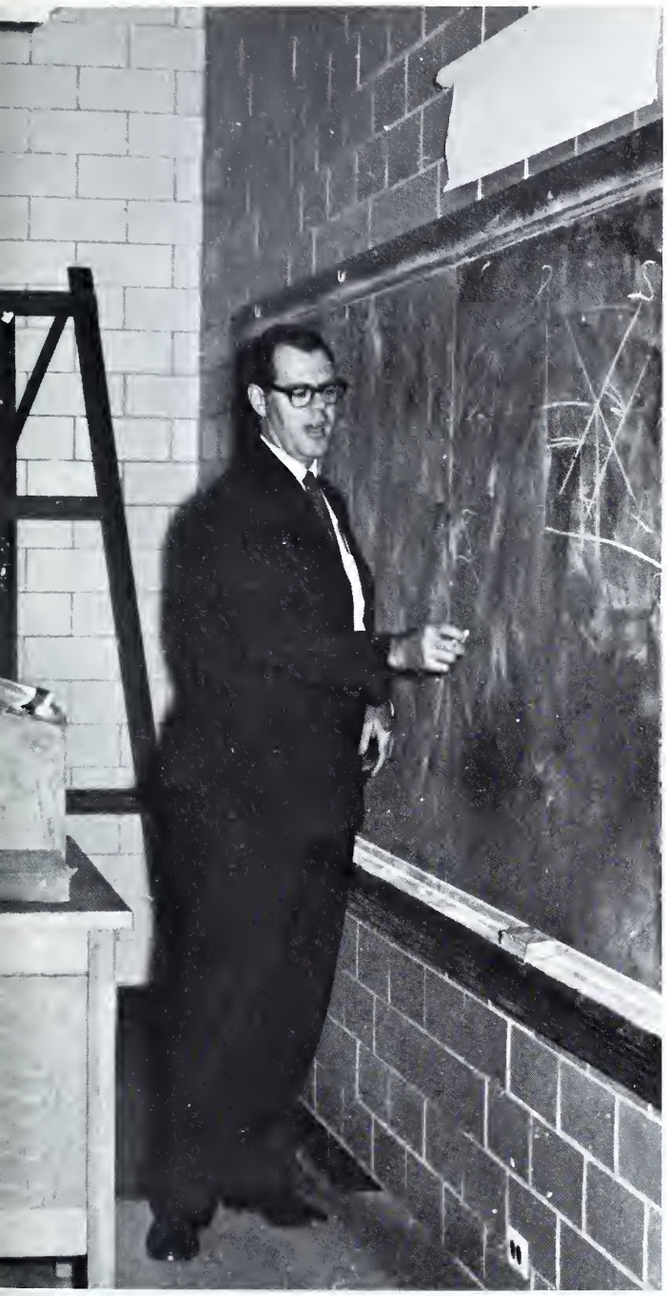

. . . and deals with the ancient classics and the mythology of the Greeks and Romans.

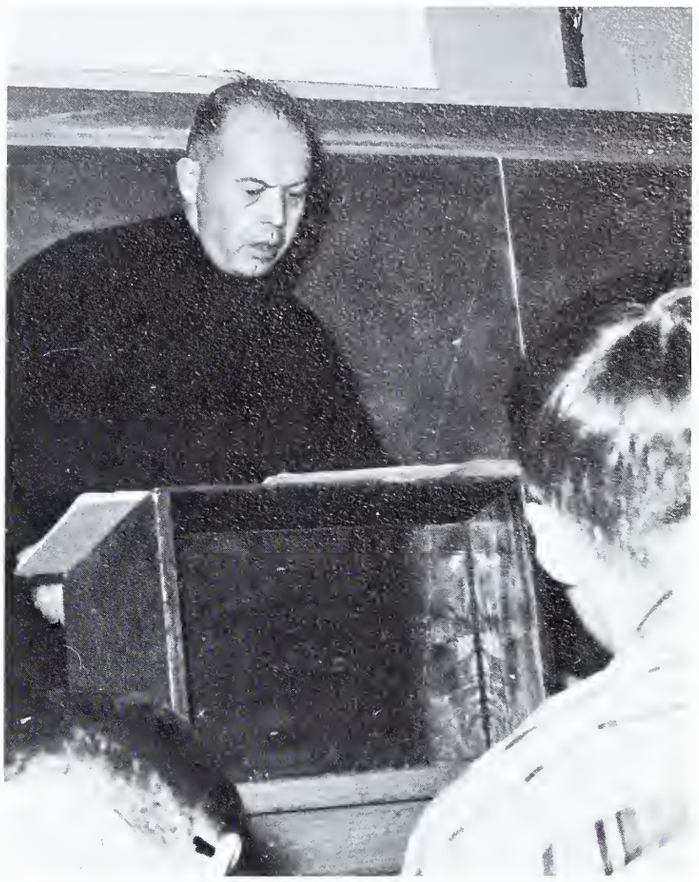

Greek and Latin are taught on the seminar basis which makes for interesting group discussion.

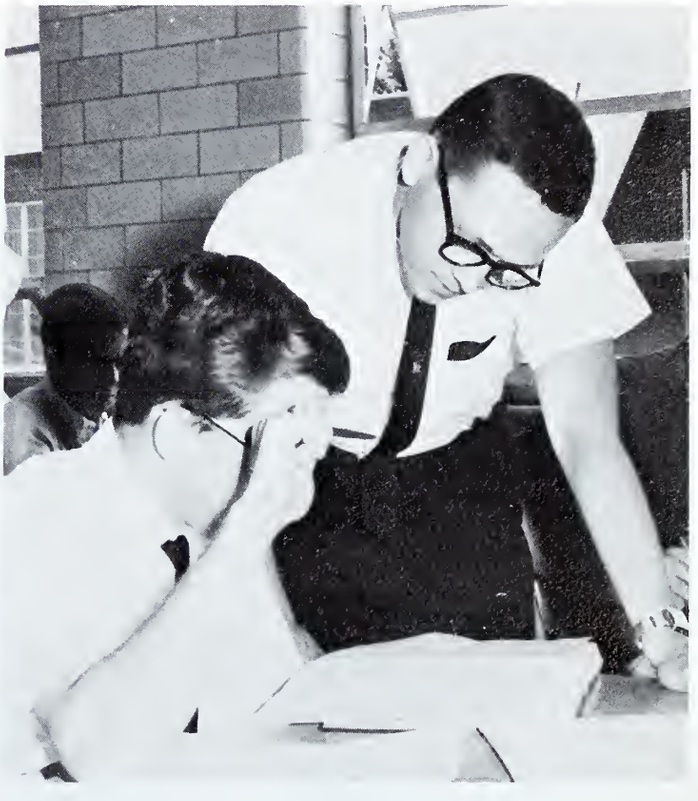

Economics

Mr. Kenneth Seidenstricker lectures on the ways in which various national economics influence each other in international economy.

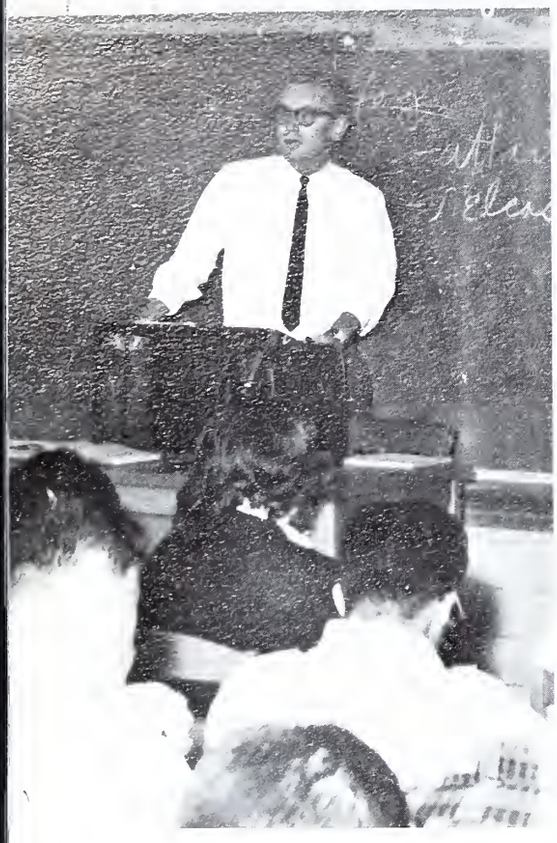

Rev. Robert Murphy seeks to ground the students in economic decision-making.

Quite necessary is the application of frequently used statistical tools in economics and business.

Education - Psychology

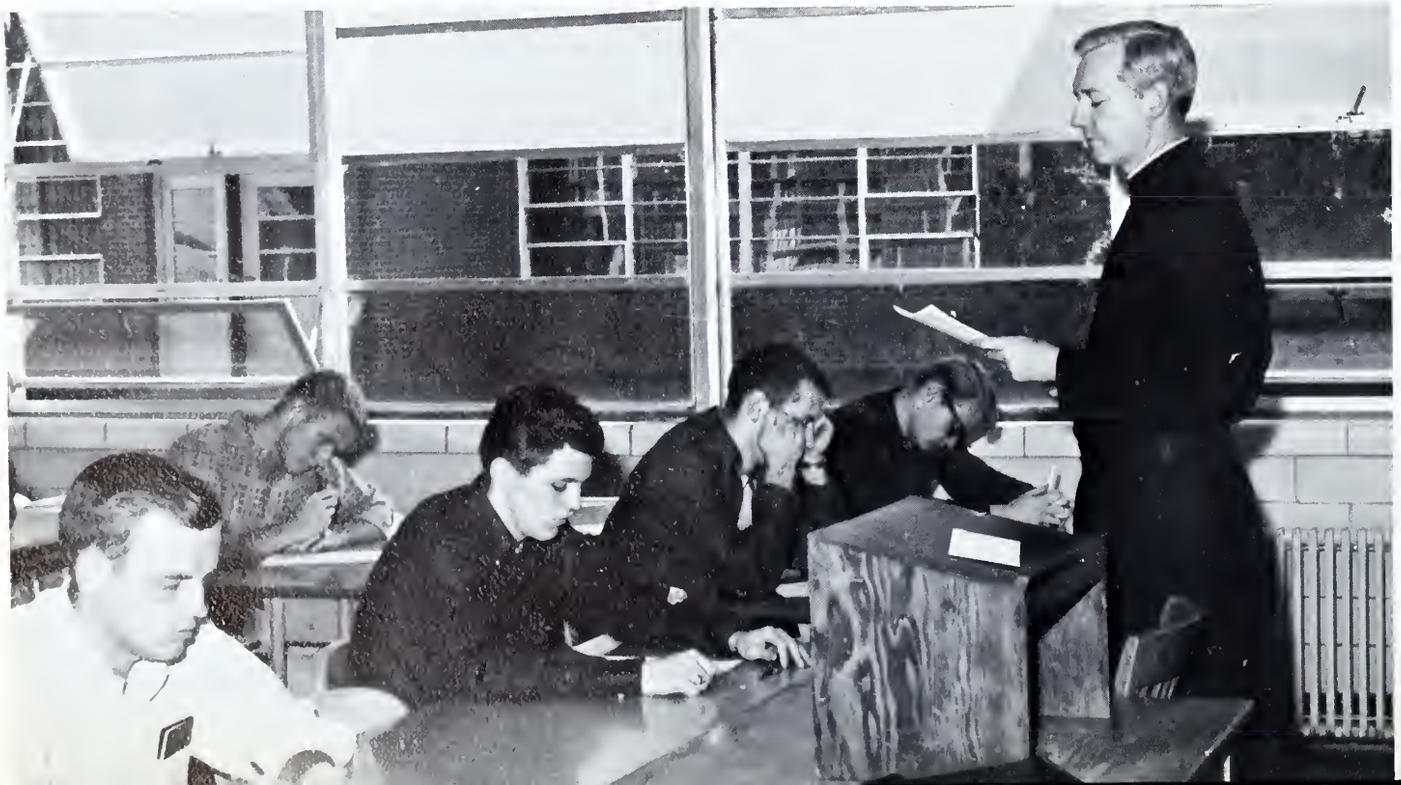

In his lecture, Mr. Hatlestad aims to give the student a knowledge of the scientific principles of human behavior.

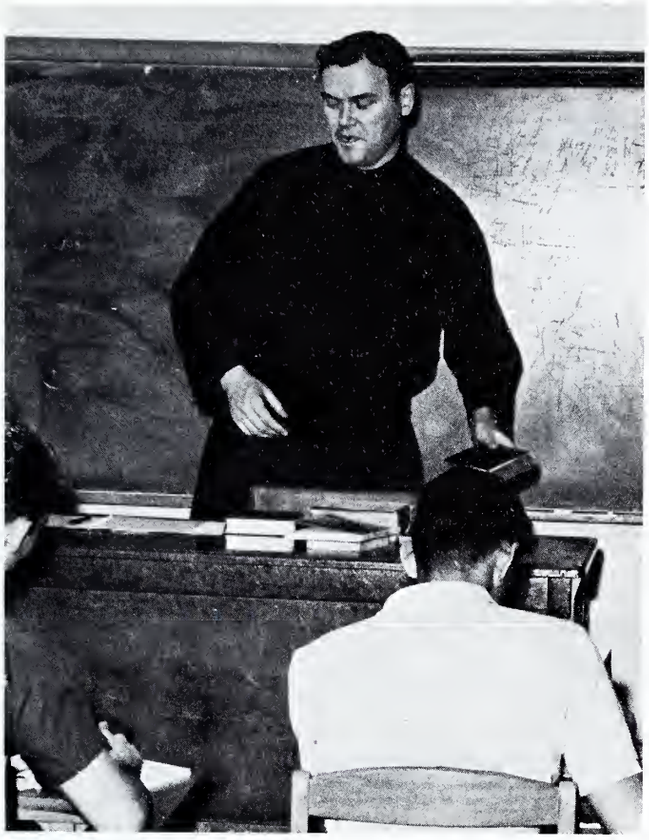

Father Kennedy elucidates the philosophies of early educational theorists for his students.

Father Hoewischer acquaints his psychology classes with a few of the psychological tendencies of abnormal individuals.

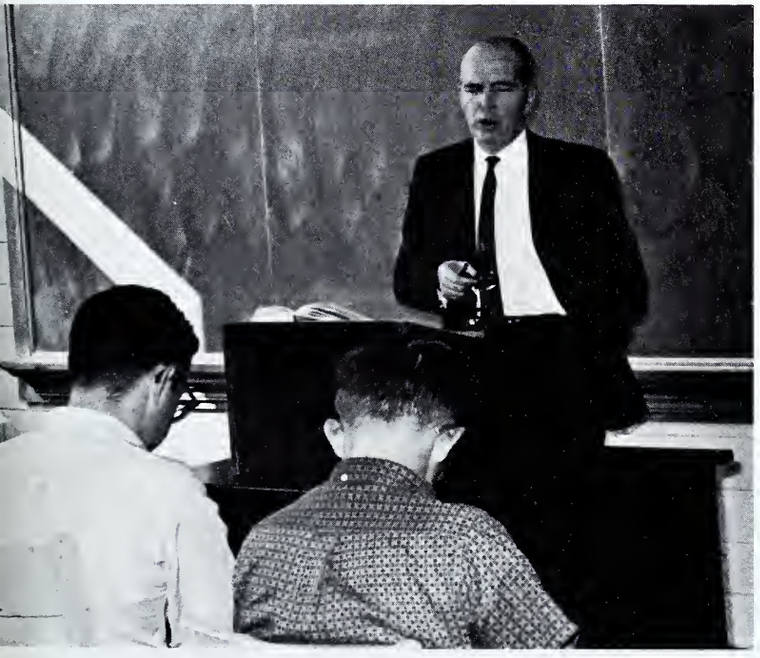

English

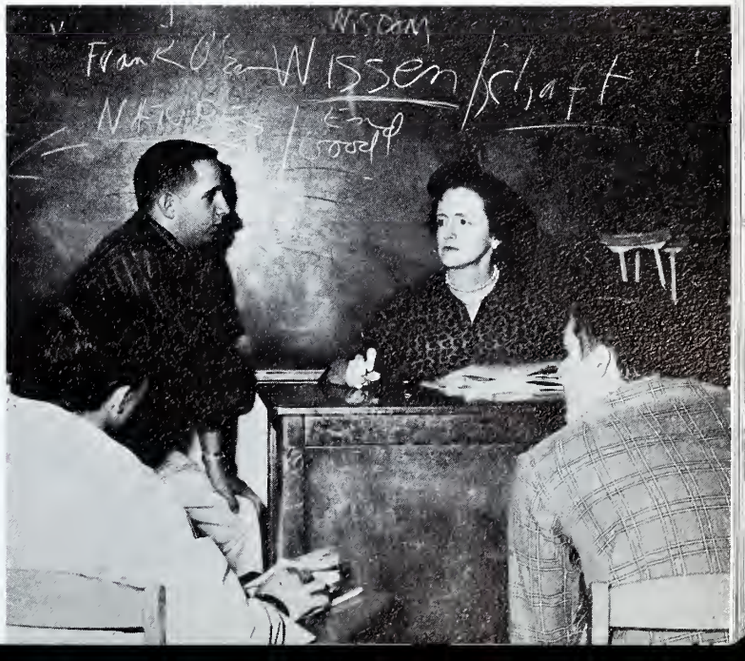

Fr. Teeling acquaints his students with a variety of authors enabling them to obtain a truly liberal background.

Fr. Boyle strives to instill the ability to interpret all works of literature according to the standard of the Bible and Shakespeare's Sonnet 116.

Students are guided in their unanalysis, by Dr. Gribben, of major works of Milton and Chaucer.

Mrs. Pichette aids students in an analysis of selected works of literature and a study of the dictionary as a guide to diction, word-meaning, and the history of the language.

History

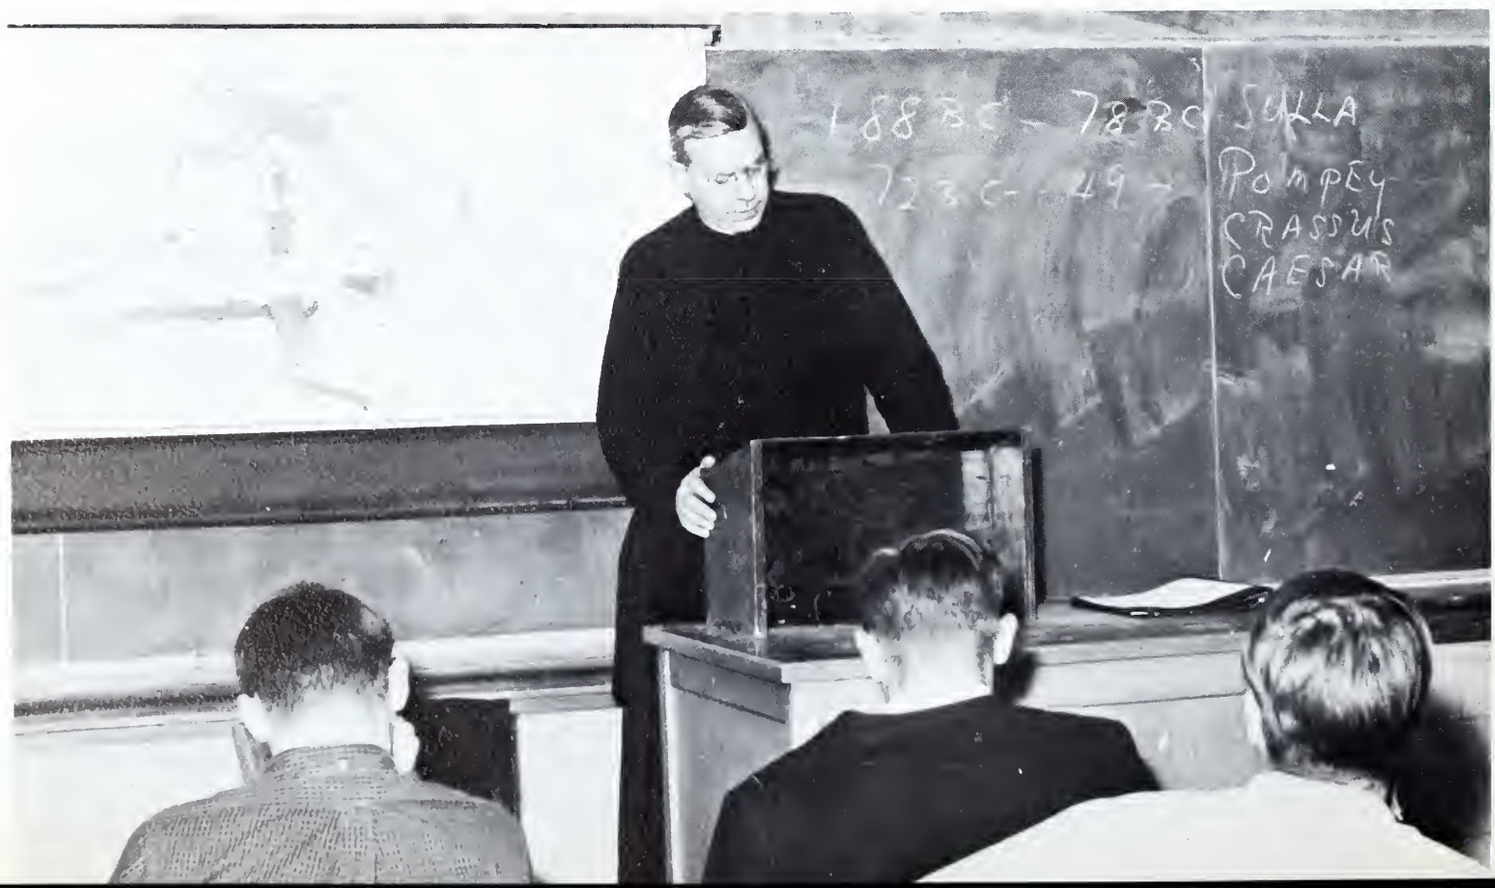

Mr. Edwards provides in his Political Science coarses, orientation and training in the problems of citizenship and special background for those intending to specialize in social science.

To understand the development of Western Man and to consider the modern world in the light of this development is emphasized by Dr. Gordon Ross.

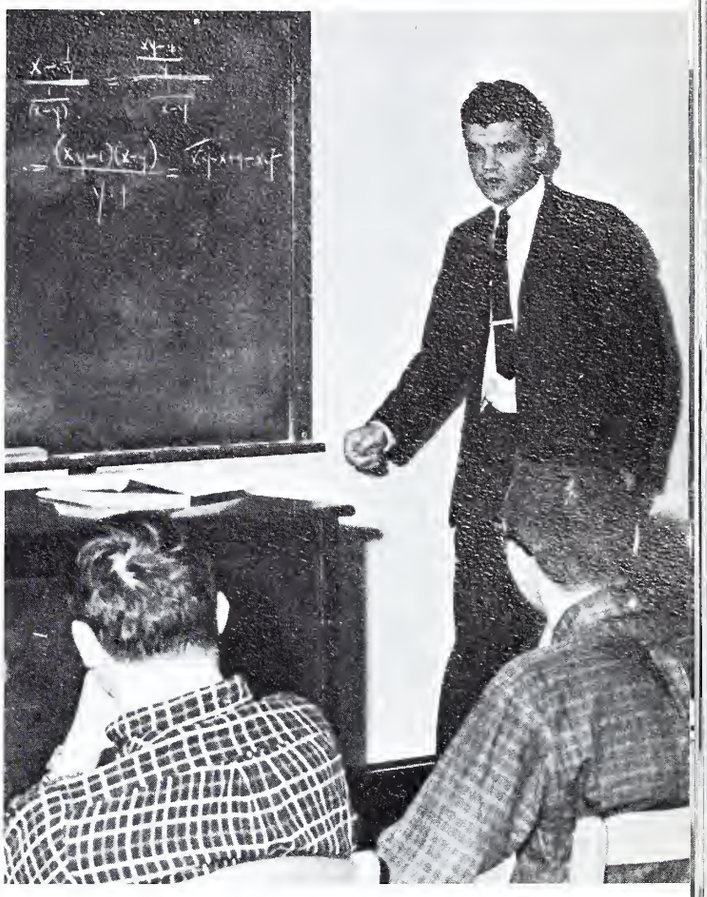

A review of the history of the early civilization, presented by Father Stansell, is designed to acquaint the student with the roots of Western Civilization.

Mathematics

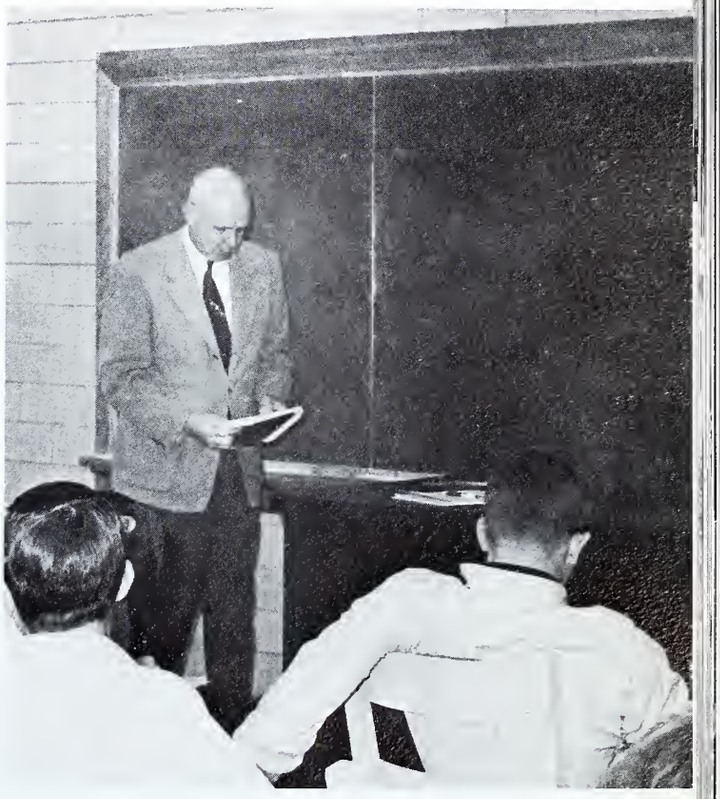

One of the theories found in upper division mathematics is demonstrated by Father Daly.

Probabilities, discussed by Mr. Morez, are the main element in statistics.

College Algebra with Dr. Levings . . .

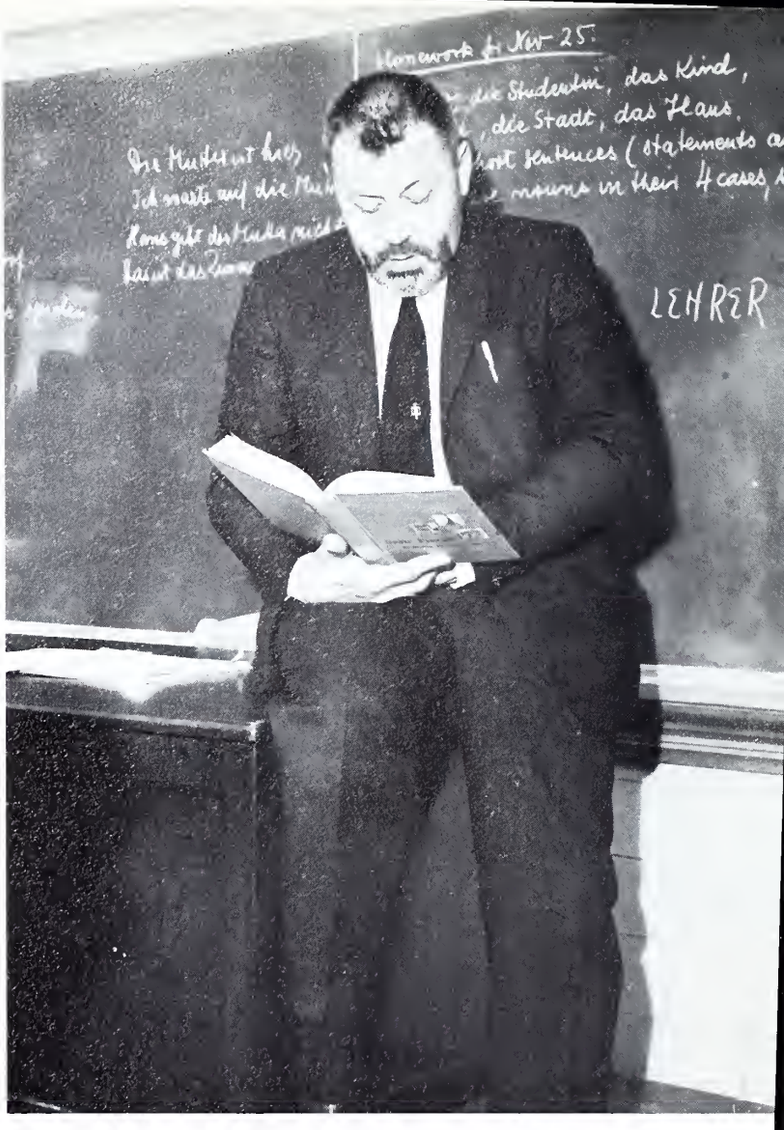

. . . and Mr. Hatcher.

Modern Languages

The lab period greatly facilitates the acquiring of correct pronunciation. The labs are supervised by student assistants.

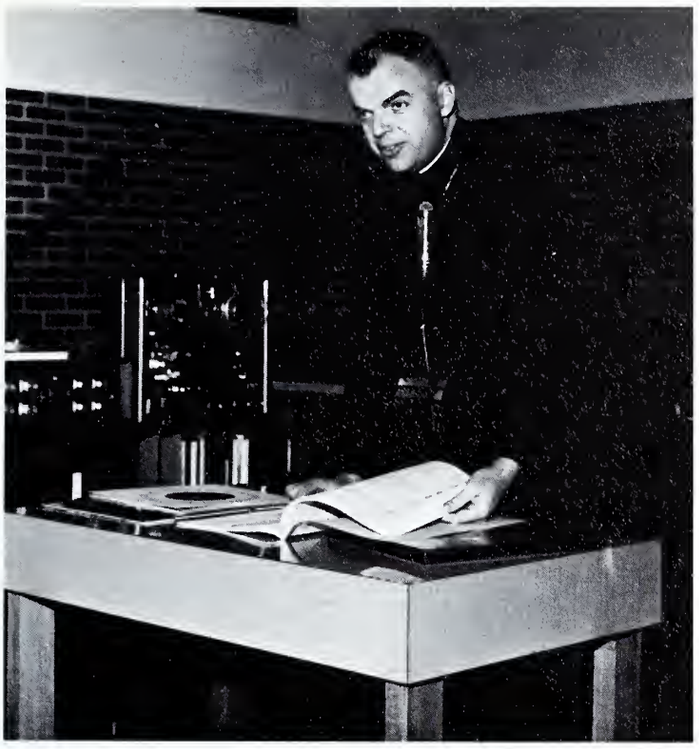

A knowledge and appreciation of the cultural background of French is set forth by Mr. Pichette, plus a reasonable facility in that language.

An accaracy of expression, written and oral, is gained through mastering grammar in Mr. Bechtolt's courses.

Music

Father Maginnis prepares to begin a class in the music of the symphony.

——members of the Regis College Glee Club practice for one of their many functions—— ——namely for the new liturgical reforms.

Philosophy

Fr. Klocker presents the theories of leading names in each of the systems, and criticizes according to the principles of St. Thomas Aquinas.

Mr. Psihas develops investigations of the metaphysics of Aristotle and St. Thomas Aquinas.

An explanation of the real in terms of its ultimate cause and an insight into reality is being handled by Fr. Malecek.

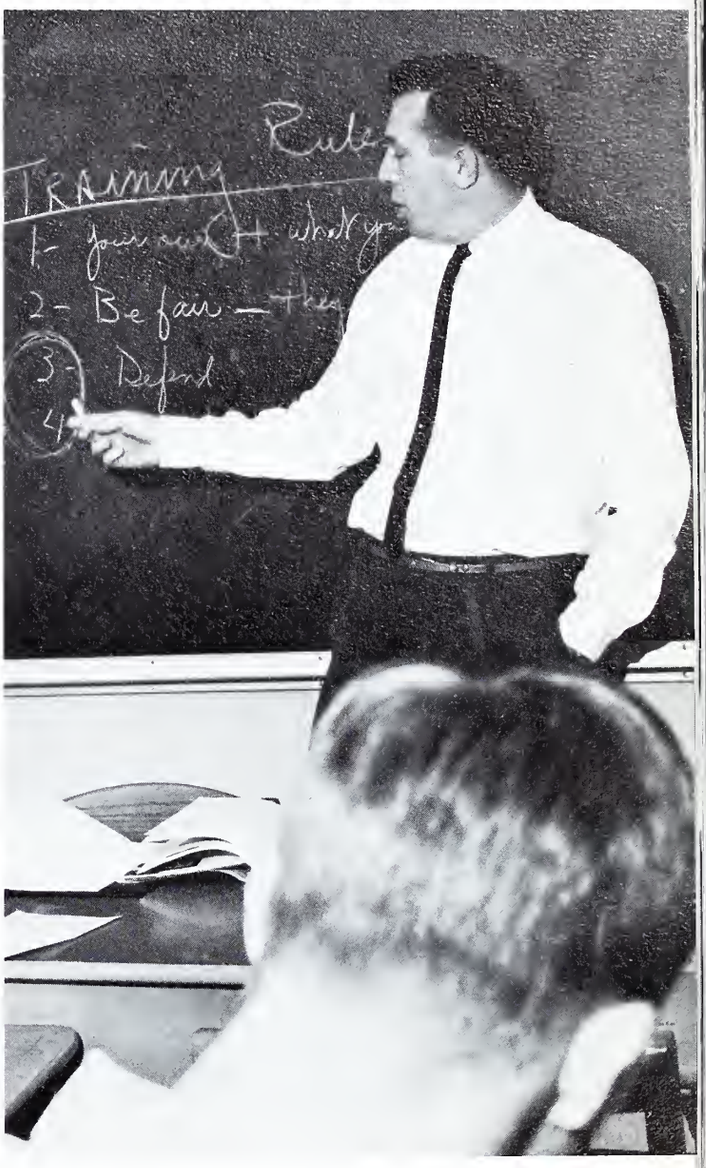

Fr. Bonnet deals with an existential principle of St. Thomas Aquinas, used in the proof of God.

Physical Education

Mr. Swanson supervises athletics in order to develop proper technique in his students of athletics.

Mr. Pahl instructs his class in the correct techniques for the training of an athlete.

In the void of reality Mr. Flanigan gropes his way to the ultimate end of life everlasting.

Physics

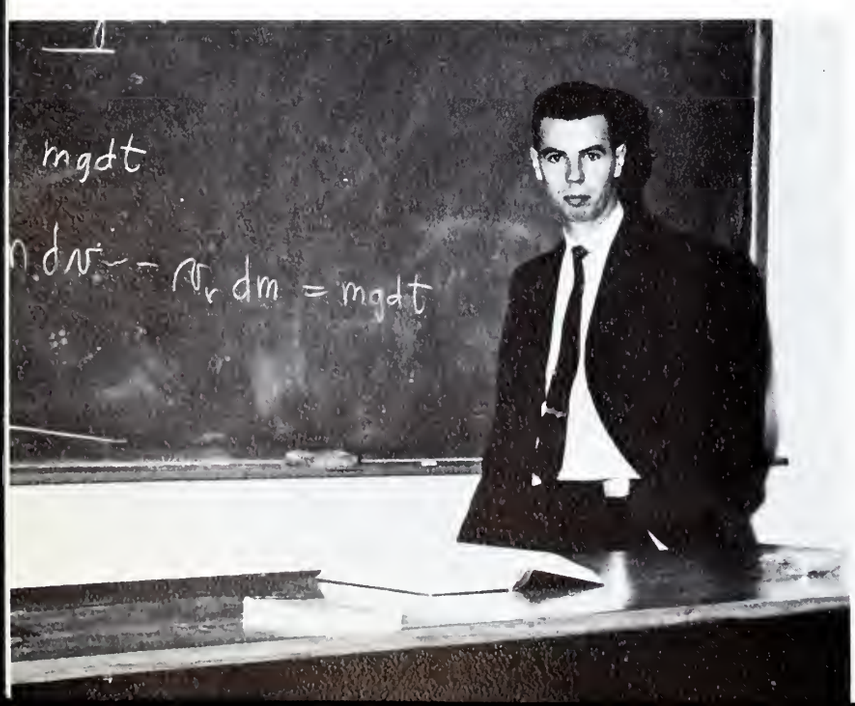

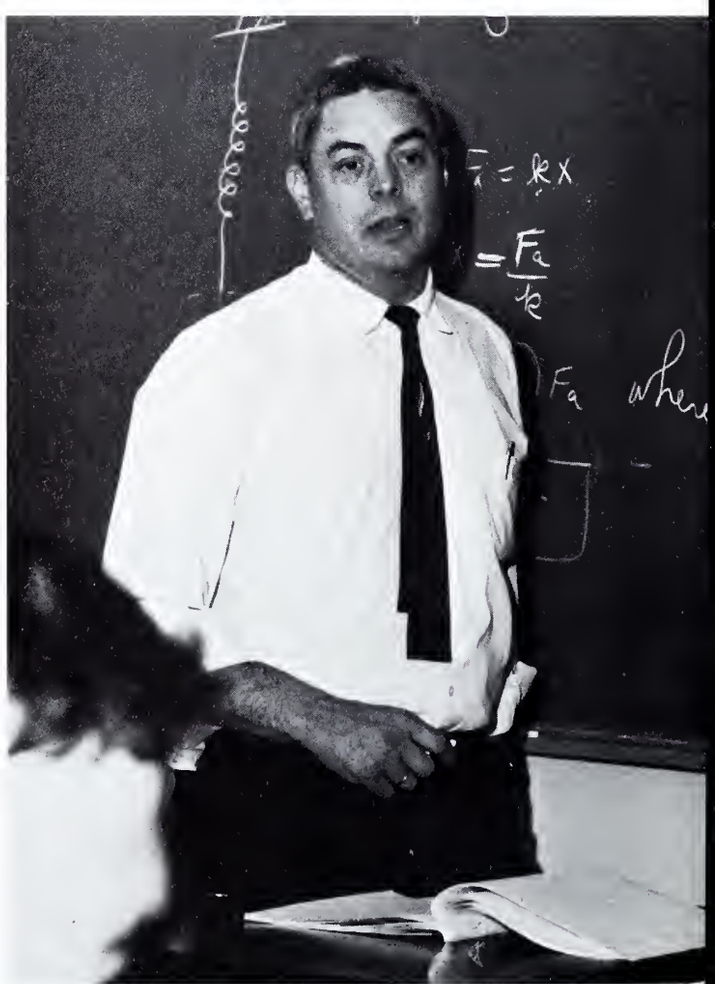

Advanced laboratory work is offered in optics, atomic physics, electrical measurements, and electronics, as shown here.

Here the students are studying the results of a torque about moments.

Topics such as mechanics, sound, light, heat, magnetism, and electricity are discussed by Mr. Coughlin.

The Newtonian concept of velocity, momentum, acceleration, and inertia is emphasized by Dr. Braunagel.

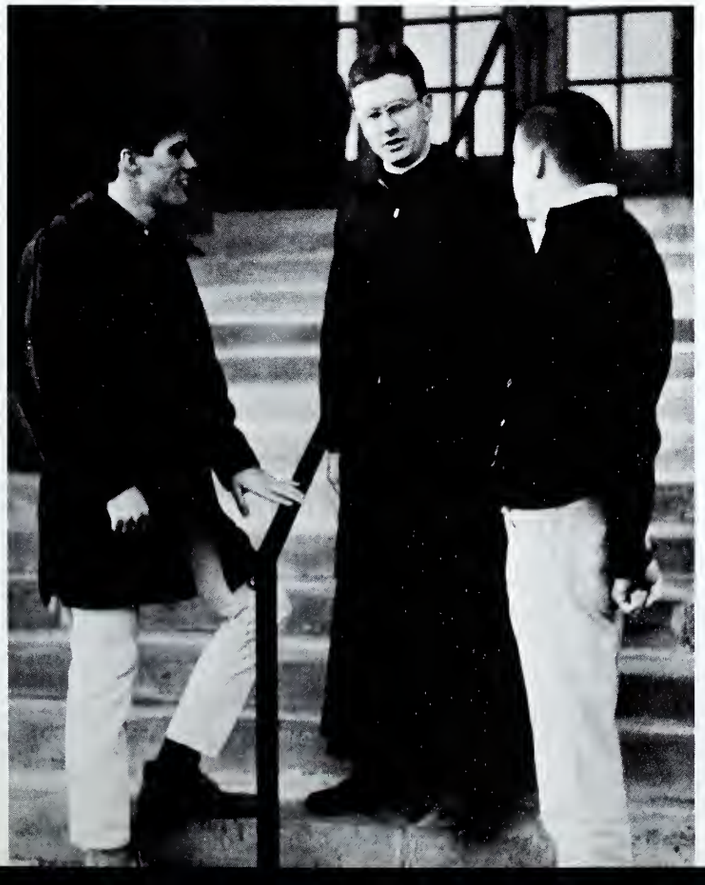

Sociology

By presenting assorted lectures in the field of sociology, Fr. Casey gives the student a broader understanding of individual and family responsibility.

The main concern of Mr. Weller is the field of correctional sociology, where he shows the students the methods of prison correction.

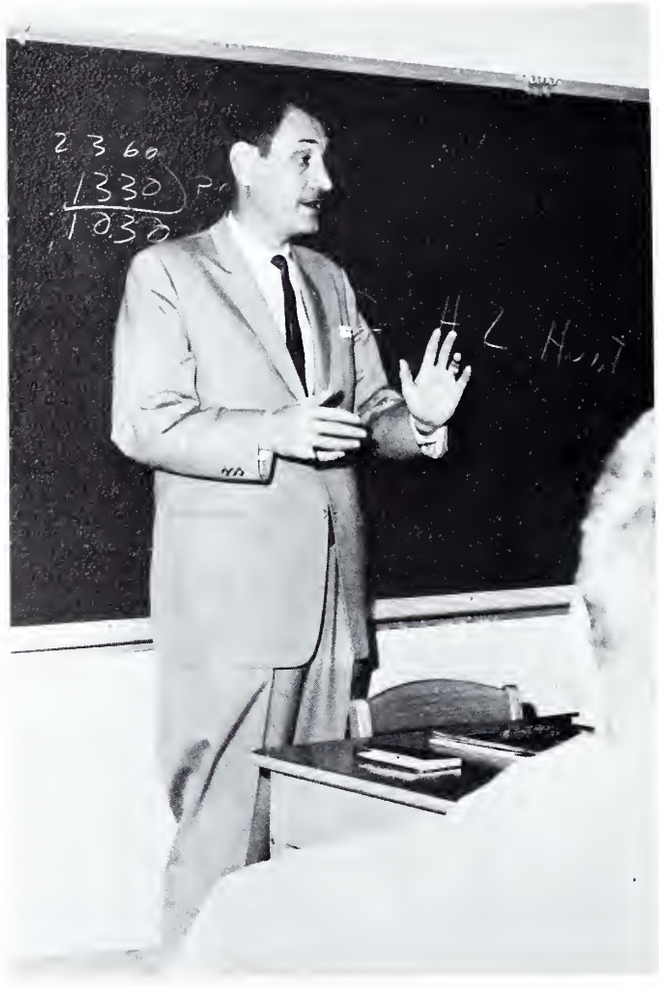

Found often in informal meetings with students, Father has a chance for the application of lecture material.

Speech

Mr. Gunnison demonstrates correct methods of extemporaneous speech . . .

. . . . . and dramatics.

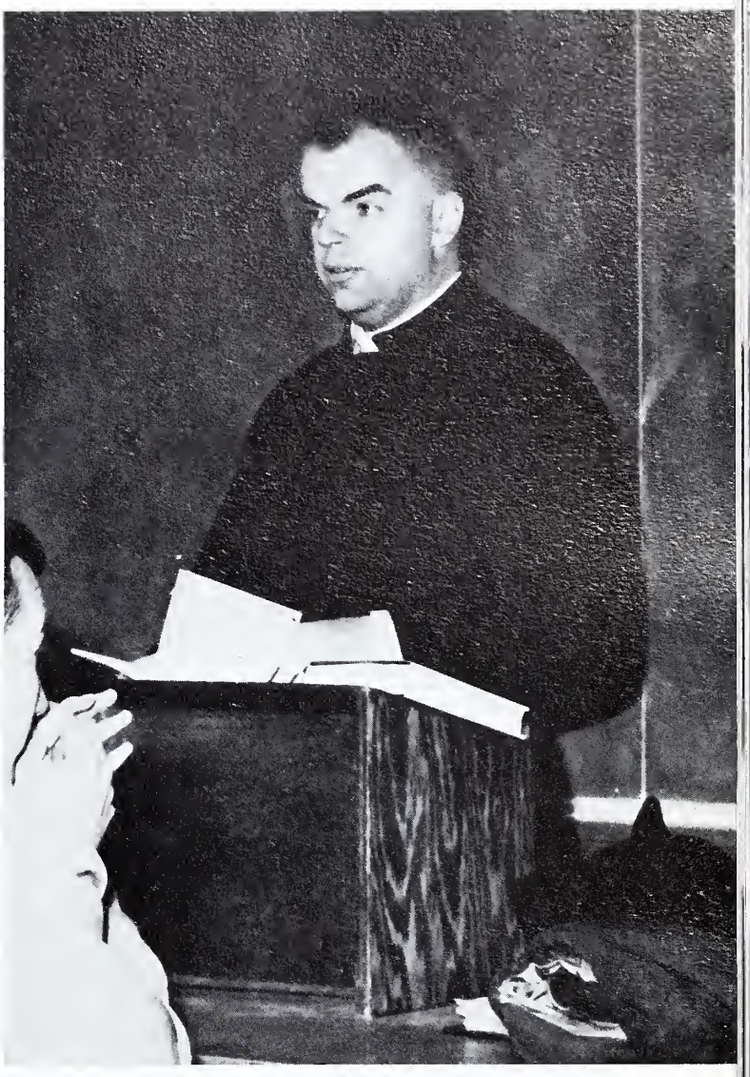

Fr. Bloomer strives to acquaint students with the etymology, diction and pronunciation which are all part of good public speaking.

Theology

Sister Antonia leads a discussion of what constitutes a sacrament . . .

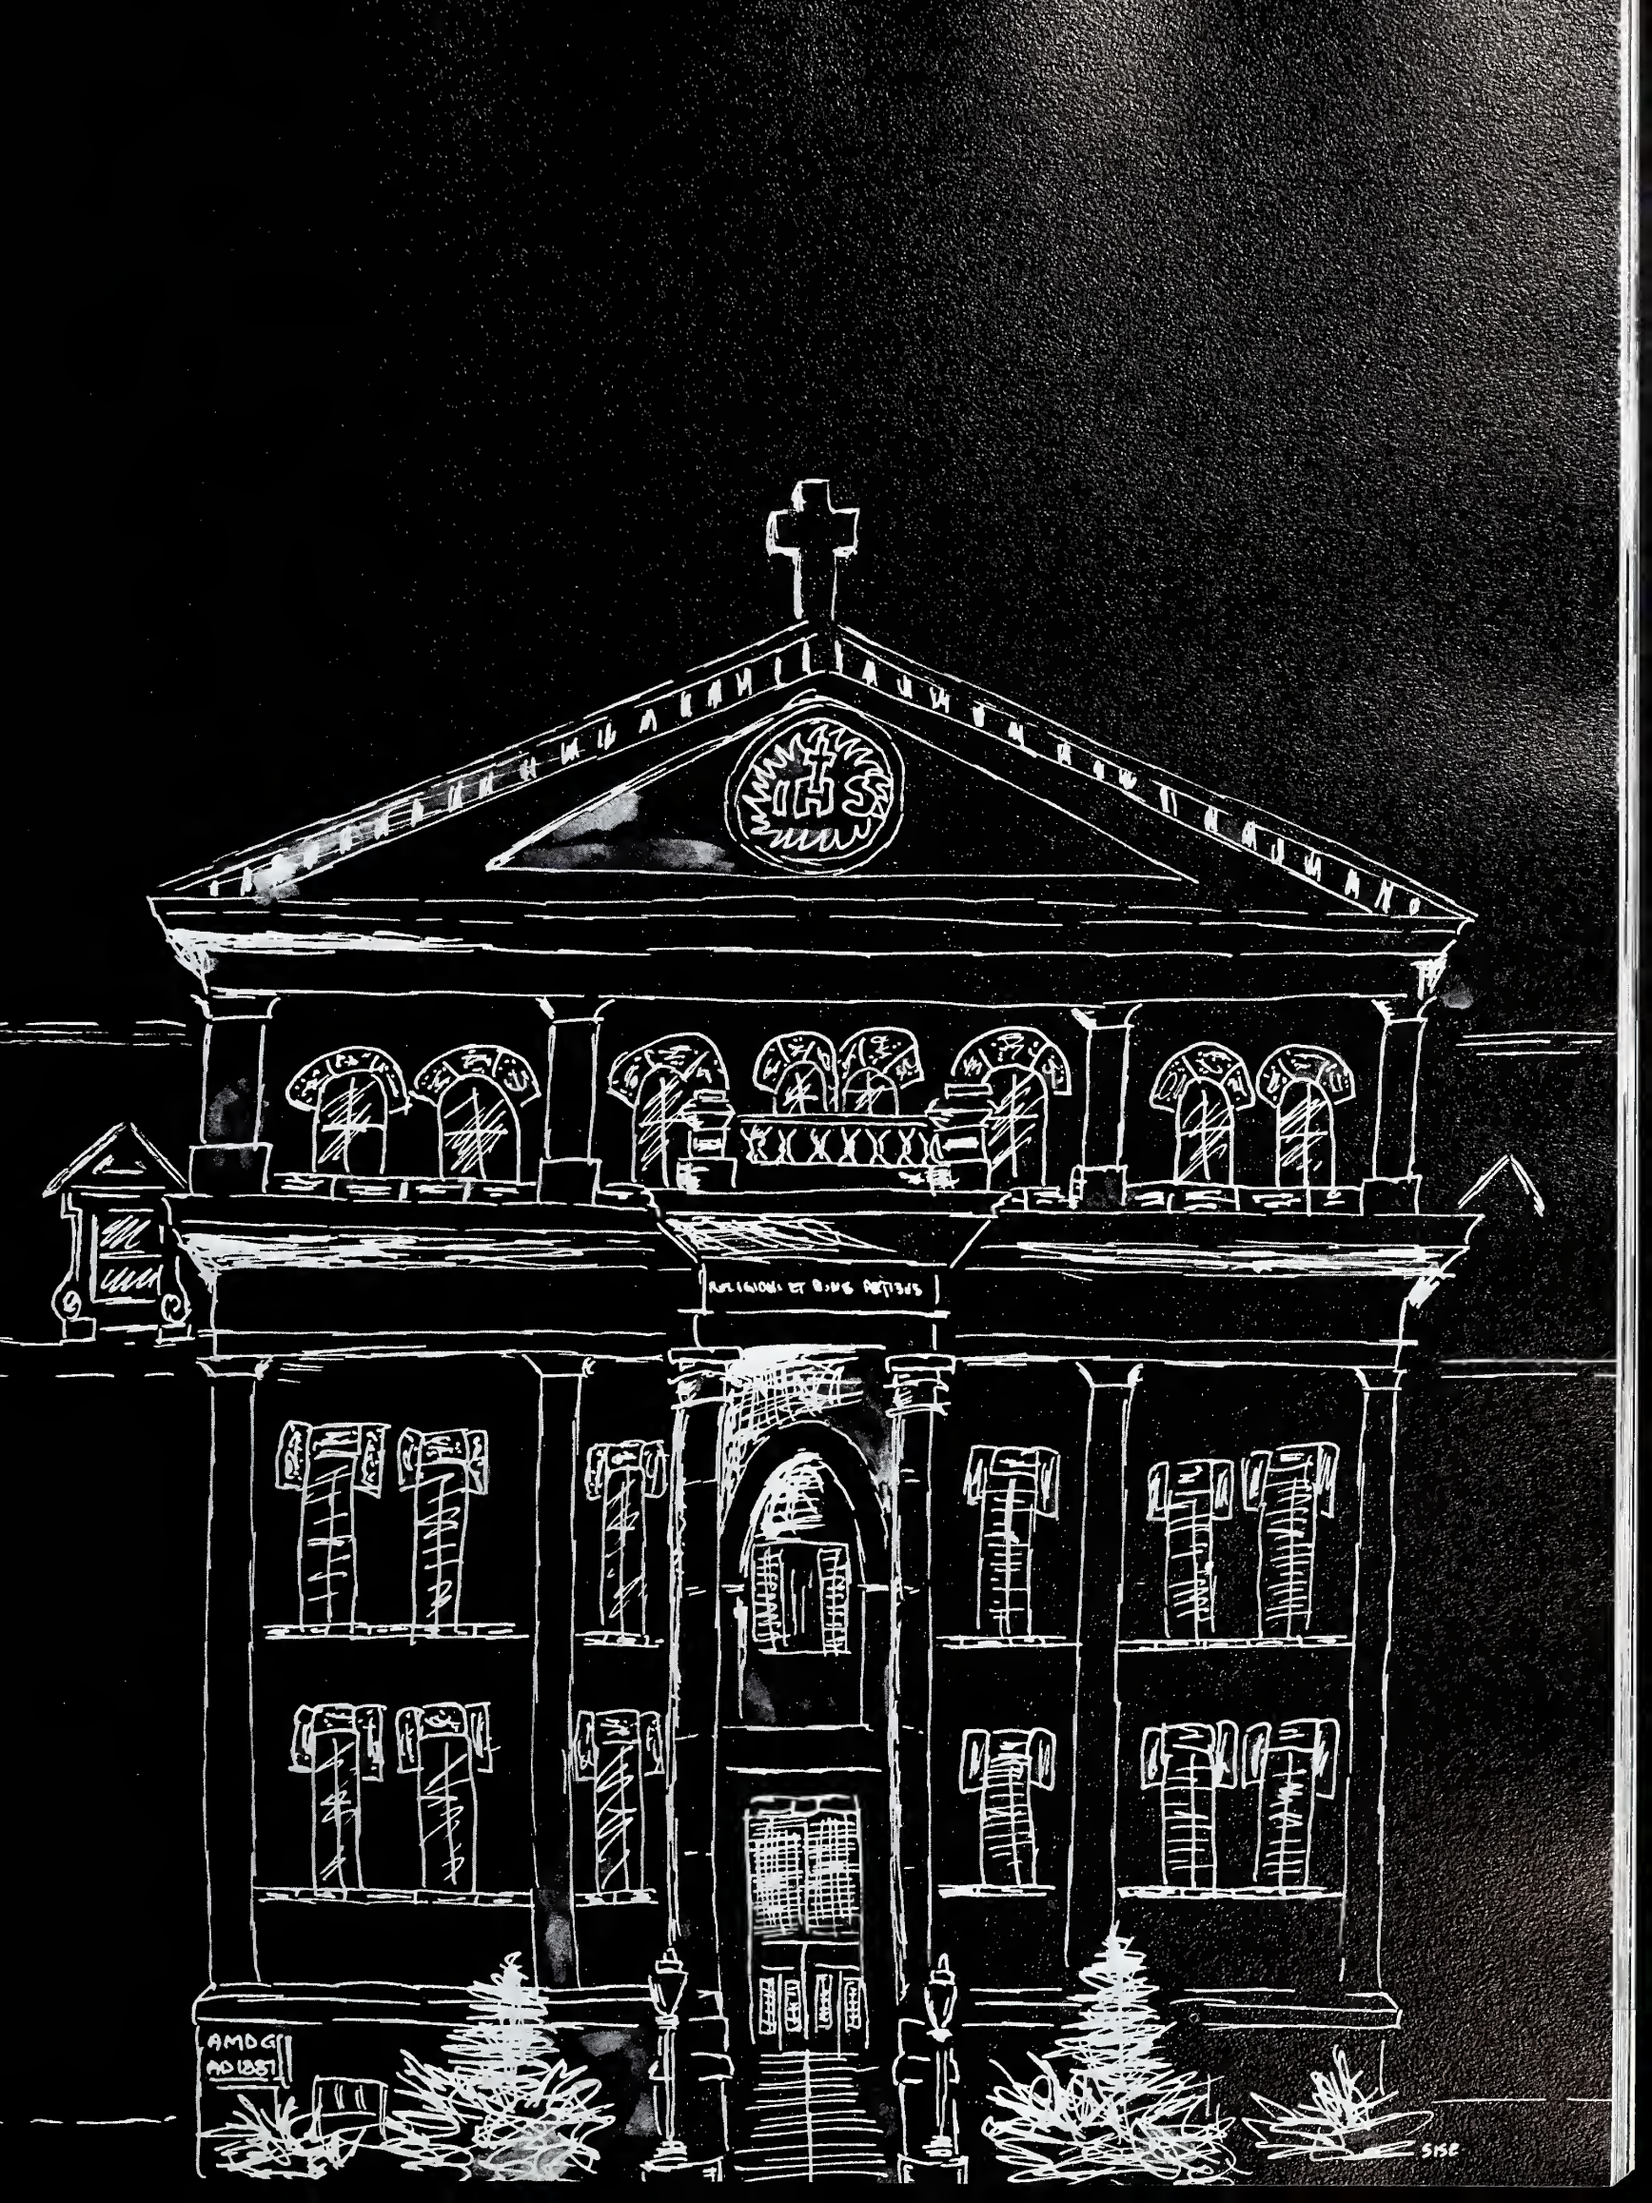

. . . while Fr. Maginnis strives to impart the true meaning of Christian life through a clearer understanding of exactly what is taught by the Church.

Here students are found in a discussion, with Father Doll, concerning certain areas of dogmatic theology.

Humanities

The education of the mind, the pursuit of culture, the dexterity of thought, the discipline and maturation of ideas, the broad view of the variegated meanings in literature—these classic rewards radiate from the experience of studying the masterpieces of world renowned authors, both ancient and modern. Inherent in the humanities is an insight into subjects of interest, oral or written, and a perfected stimulation of fascination into depth and preciseness. The very beauty of sound and rhythm of all works, the very province of genius, complete, correct, and balance each other, and reign so vivacious and modern, that our own minds are refreshed, purified, and ennobled by the expression of minds whose works of simplicity and majesty remain dear to us after the lapse of time.

Philosophy and Theology

The man who is acutely aware of his intellectual heritage, who is able to judge critically, clearly, and competently new insights as well as the weaknesses of modern thinking; the man who, when submitted to liberal discipline, is adept in maintaining his intellectual and cultural development in matters religious on a level with his development in other areas of humane interest: to have achieved this flexibility is to possess a sound rational basis for a true Christian wisdom.

At Regis, the keynote is not agreement or compatibility, but rather shockingly momentous, imaginative, and challenging. These ideas have proved heady ideas for each student involved, and they have also raised some very thorny questions. But in the proof, these programs have made a unique contribution to his complete liberal education.

Natural Science and Mathematics

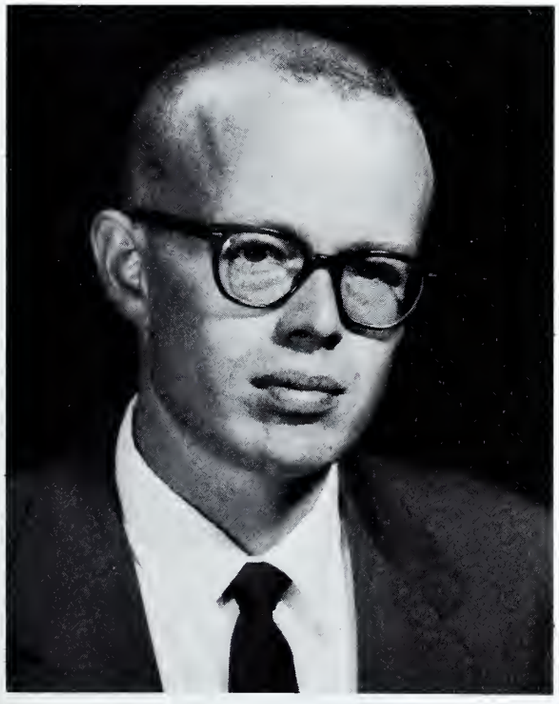

All the advantages and benefits that acquired from the study of natural science and mathematics cannot be pinpointed. But the greatest benefits will undoubtedly stem from the student's assessment of new phenomena which he encounters in the unknown as well as a new and vital curiosity. These are the times that challenge our educational programs and individually and collectively strike at the basic substance of the character of all mankind. No individual is exempt from his responsibility in the unfolding drama of science. The modern thrust of knowledge propels everyone and the minds of Regis students have been accelerated to pace.

Commerce and Finance

The record numbers of accomplished graduates in the Division of Commerce and Finance, in part explains its attraction to such a large percentage of students at Regis.

The methodical, logical, and exacting work required to master accounting is relieved by study in the humanities, essential to a well-balanced education. Thus, equipped with the techniques of study and problem analyzation, the student is prepared to effectively contribute his services to business entities.

The combination of a specialty and the liberal arts develops the poise and ability to express oneself clearly and effectively—the hallmark of the Regis graduate in this space age economy.

Social Science

Mortal man has fought ever since the beginning of his creation to meet the challenges and dangers that confront him each moment of his existence. In this struggle, man, in his enthusiasm to press forward, in his outright defiance of all obstacles, in his resoluteness of purpose, has come to an awareness and love of life that is indelible.

The past never returns: the course of events, old in its tradition, is ever new in its coloring and fashion. Man has been given a mission, and the man at Regis, zealously striving to fulfill it, has successfully captured its spirit. As Regis forges ahead, her students are prepared to play an integral part in that drama of civilization, and in them the idea is fostered that, in spite of all rebuff, man has been able to create, not a masterpiece, but an enduring monument that is the reflection of his God-given genius.

Physical Education and Athletics

Mens sana in corpore sano—any growth which is to be accomplished demands a beginning and development of physical fitness during college life and is part of the education of the whole man. Each season of the year provides an opportunity for students to display physical prowess and stamina whether it be an organized inter-collegiate activity or intramural participation. A maxim: the fields at Regis are not dedicated to its masters, but to the apprentices who properly belong to the college community.

In all of these activities the Department of Physical Education provides an opportunity for students to learn skills and fundamentals which will lead to their adoption of sports as leisure time activities which will lead to their adoption of sports as leisure time activities which will carry over into later life benefits: health, wholesome recreation, trained leadership.

Spring Honors Convocation

The 1965 Honors Convocation was the official opening of the Regis Parents' Weekend. Parents of the students came from far and near to see academic honors bestowed on those students who were deserving of them. The Convocation, attended by all students and faculty members, was presided over by Reverend Robert F. Houlihan, S.J., Dean of the College. Father Houlihan gave a short address which outlined the future of Regis. Doctor James E. Perdue, Dean of the College of Arts and Sciences of the University of Denver was the main speaker. Following Dr. Perdue's address the Very Reverend Richard F. Ryan, S.J., presented the awards to the deserving winners.

Each year the Biology Department awards the Class of 1929 Biology Award to the senior biology who has maintained the highest average during his studies at Regis and who shows the most promise for the future. The award was given this year to Thomas M. O'Dorisio of Denver, Colorado.

This year the Campion Physics Award was presented to Edwin W. Atwater of Amarillo, Texas. The late John F. Campion of Denver, Colorado, founded this award to be given to the individual who shows the most proficiency and promise in the field of physics.

The Rho Chi Sigma Award was awarded this year to Thomas J. Luttenegger of Burlington, Iowa. This award is given yearly by the fraternity to the senior whom they feel has shown the highest degree of service to the chemistry department and who has also achieved an above average record in his chemistry courses.

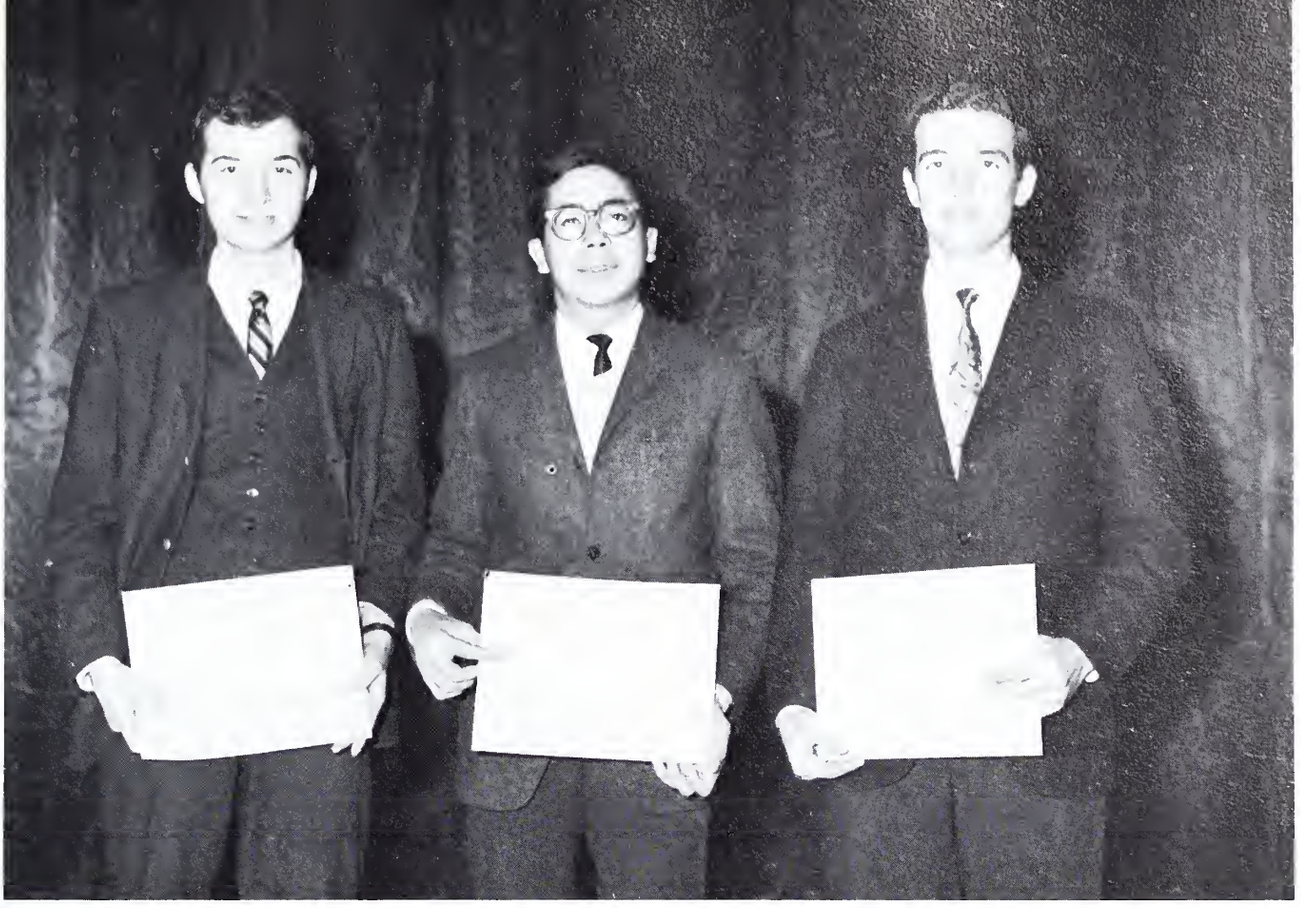

Each year the Chemical Rubber Company Award is bestowed on the student who shows outstanding ability in the field of mathematics. This year it was presented to Richard B. Pomphrey of Warson Woods, Missouri, who demonstrated a superior accomplishment in this field of study.

Alpha Kappa Psi each year presents its award to the student enrolled in the division of commerce and finance, who has most realized the ideals of the division by his scholarship. The award was given this year to Edward J. Essay of Alliance, Nebraska.

The recipient of the A. W. Forstall Award in Analytical Chemistry this year is John H. Nairn of Wichita, Kansas. It is given to the man who has shown outstanding knowledge in the field of Chemistry.

The Seventh Annual Honors Banquet marks the occasion when the students of Regis College join together to honor their peers for excellence and achievement in extra-curricular activities.

This banquet adds to the esteem of the student body as a whole for, in recognizing creditable values in its members and realizing that these achievements all reflect upon the student body, it demonstrates an awareness of what is good and right.

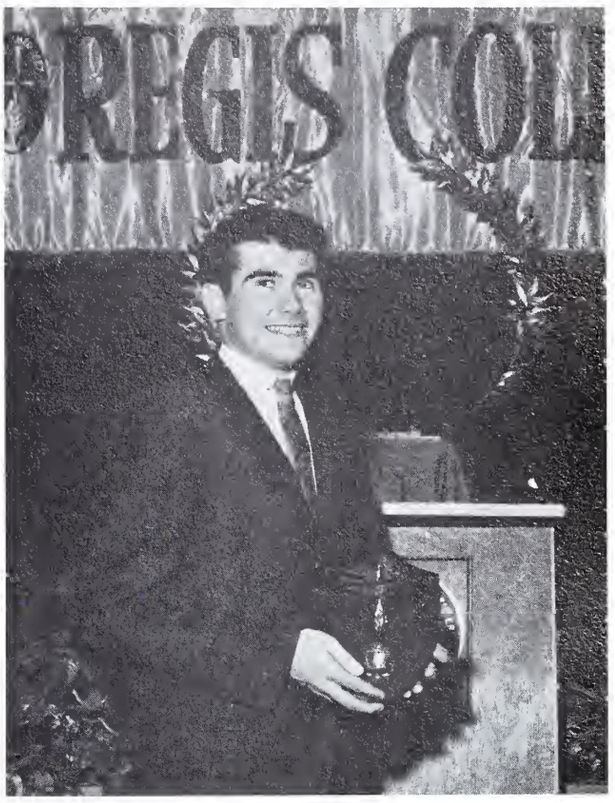

This night is an occasion for all to reflect on the year past and to give serious deliberation to their purpose and responsibility as students of Regis College.

Annually, the Brothers of Alpha Delta Gamma present the Gleason Memorial Award to the senior athlete who best personifies the ideals of good sportsmanship at Regis College. This year the honor was bestowed on Thomas O'Dorisio.

The Benchwarmer Spirit Award is given to the student who supports and promotes all athletic events to the utmost. This the award was given to Dave Wallner.

The Student National Education Association annually bestows an award on the senior who best fulfilled the aims and ideals of the organization. This year the award wen to Keith Hassey.

The Regis Man of the Year Award is given each year to those students who stand out and most typify the Regis Man. They are men who through their untiring and unselfish effort exemplify the student that allows himself to become a brick upon which the college shall continue to grow and become a still finer place for those to follow.

The college may well be proud of these students, for not only has our community benefited by their presence, but they will carry with them the mark of Regis throughout their encounters in future life. They are and will continue to be outstanding Regis Men.

Student Government

". . . second the motion . . . all in favor . . . gavel . . . move to adjourn."

Hanley Dawson, Director; Jack Coyne, Secretary; Joseph Early, Vice-President; Fred Clervi, President; James Thompson, Treasurer; Thomas O'Donisio, Director; Leo Tierny, Director

The opportunities to learn and exercise leadership are many and varied throughout life. In almost every situation in life, the individual can develop his leadership qualities. Needless to say, there is no better opportunity than during the college years to exercise this principle. You, the individual, are the way; Student Government is the means. The success of the individual in pursuing an education is dependent upon his endeavors in the academic field of study in which he has chosen. The same can be said of the student in the field of leadership. His success and the success of the whole is dependent upon his application and endeavor.

A strong and capable Student Government is indispensible to the well-being and efficient operation of an institution. Yet, the Student Government is only as strong as the individuals who compose it and the support it receives from the student body. Everybody must take an active part.

Who is the leader? Perhaps the best explanation is a description of the actions of a leader. A leader must put the interests of the group ahead of his own. He must accept the desires of his followers; he must get behind them, not back at them. The leader must learn to obey those over him, the dictates of his conscience, and the rules of the society in which he operates. Not a hard dictem to fulfill you say? Then fulfill it. Who is the leader? We must first look to ourselves to find the answer. The door of Student Government lies open to you.

Requiring only a fun-loving Irish spirit and enthusiastic generosity of its members, the Irishmen of Regis provide vigorous leadership in the three phases of college life which it hopes to develop. The Irish Regis Association is a social, service, and spiritual organization whose members each year strive to accomplish the three-fold aim of the club.

The social functions of the club, which include parties and picnics for its own members, dances, and the legendary Hayrack Ride for the whole school, prove beyond a shadow of a doubt, their love for fun. They also show their strong sense of generosity and community spirit by their outstanding service projects, such as the annual Orphan's Party at Halloween and their work on the St. Patrick's Day Charity Ball. The Irishmen do not neglect the spiritual and intellectual phases of their college life either. Each month the members attend Mass and Communion Breakfast, after which they listen to talks on Irish culture and history. The Irish Regis Association prides itself on a history of well-rounded accomplishment which annually benefits its members, Regis, and the Catholic community of Denver.

The brown baggers took a second look at their charter and decided this year to show their worth as a true service organization. The Club organized a drive for Cystic Fibrosis, published the Denver events in the campus newspaper, lent their time and numbers in organizing functions of the college, and in general acted quite different from the year before. We interested some of the dorm men in joining and hope the effect will be new ideas for closer cooperation between boarders and day-hops and for a more active enthusiasm on the part of the Denver students into the college activities.

The Club endeavored to upgrade itself and become a viable organization on campus that will provide the familiarization of the residents with the happenings in the Denver area, and especially introduction to more of the non-resident students. We preached participation in and support of the college functions at every meeting, and attempted to prove a club could survive purposefully without obligatory dues. We accomplished something if we at least showed the thriving interest of the Denver students in the success of Regis College.

Since its conception back in the middle 50's the Benchwarmer's tradition has been spirit. It has been the spirit of Regis. This spirit has been manifest through the promotion and support of athletic events at Regis. The past two years have seen a special emphasis of all sports at Regis. Basketball, soccer, swimming, and baseball are a few of the sports that the Benchwarmers support. Cheerleaders are supplied for basketball through the Benchwarmers and enthusiastic, spirited fans for the other sports are supplied.

There is evidence of more than a spectator's acquaintance with sports. Each year the Benchwarmers field teams in every intramural sport and are the perennial top contender for the intramural trophy. More than one team is fielded in most sports to give anyone who wants to, regardless of ability, a chance to play.

Secretary Walter McNeill and Vice-President David Wallner display Benchwarmer trophy during Freshmen Activity Night.

"Off to Aspen!"

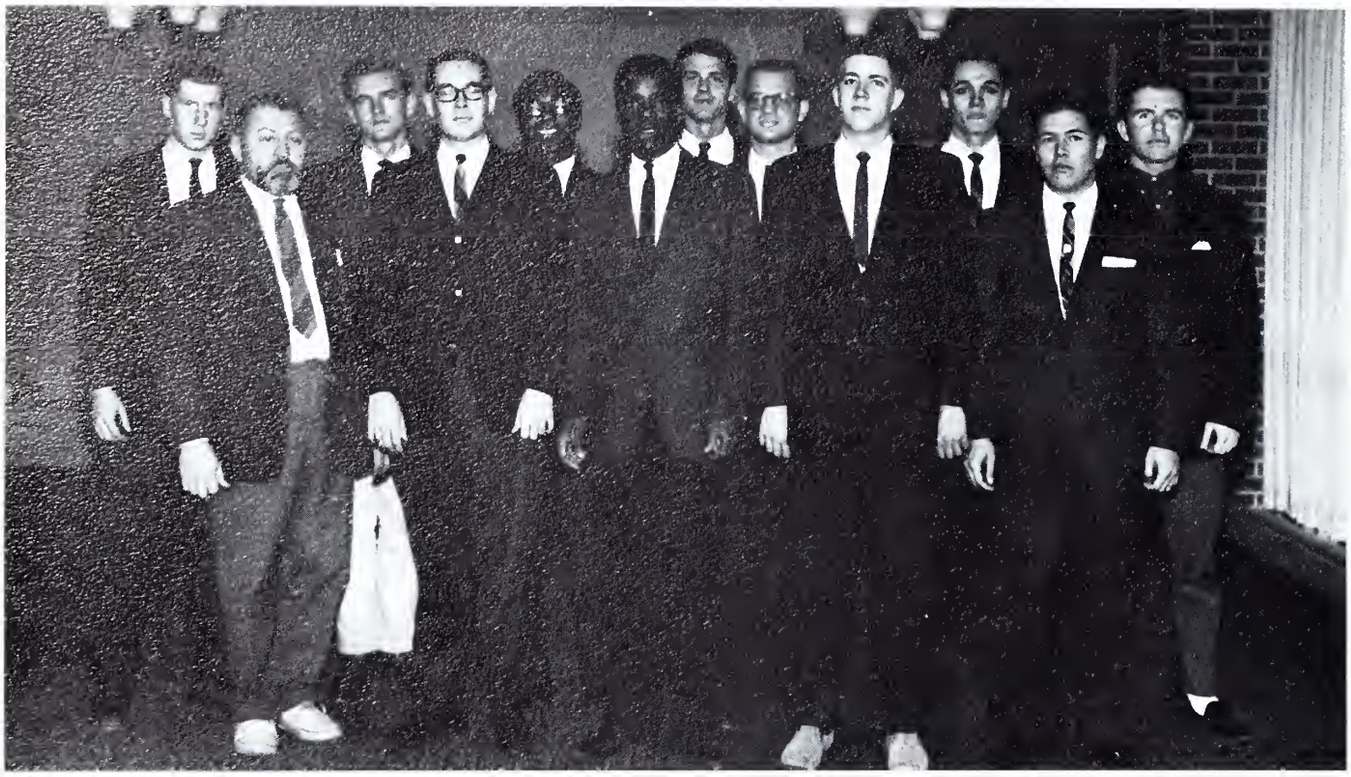

The opening of the 1964-65 Ski season saw Siger take the initiative sponsoring many one day trips to the white country, not to mention the weekends spent in only the best ski resorts in Colorado: Aspen, Breckenridge, Vail, Arapahoe, etc.

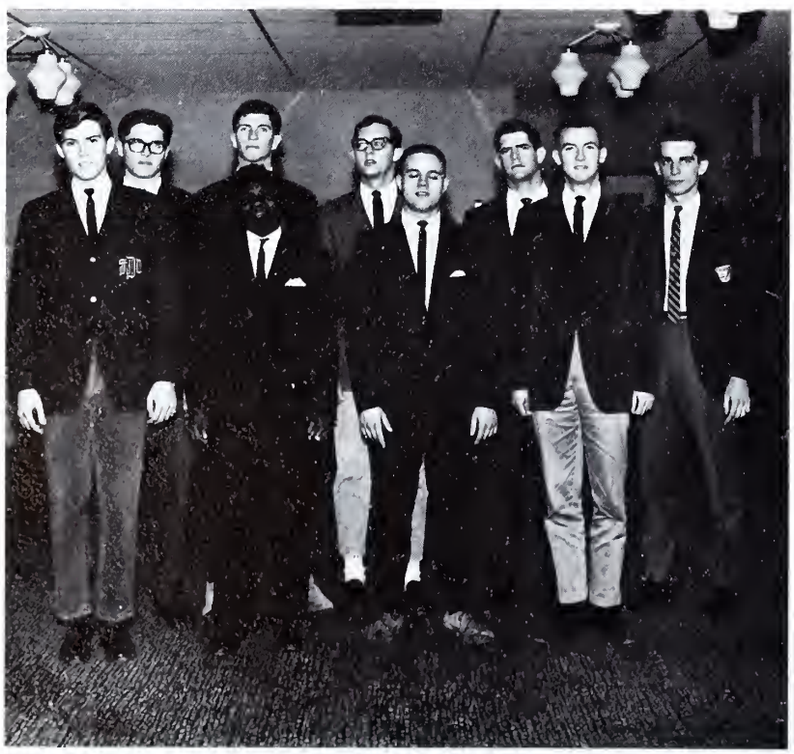

Siger spends much of the year in the promotion of skiing. Guest speakers, authorities in their own right on skiing and related activities, highlight the meeting of this vital organization with penetrating comments on the nuances and techniques gleaned from their days of action on the slopes. Visual aids have long been the strong point of Siger's recruiting program. "Flicks" illustrating in glorious color the action of the slopes and the warm atmosphere to be enjoyed in the lodge after the day is done attracts the prospective members as perhaps no other method could. At any rate, Siger has been eminently successful in this area which can be seen in the real 'spirit' exhibited by its members.

Undoubtedly, we all realize the significance of good international relations as a prelude to the achievement of the priceless world peace. Part of the stumbling block on the road to achieving peace today is the lack of international understanding. The purpose of the I. R. C. is to encourage an awareness and a desire to understand questions affecting world international relations. As college men and future leaders, can we choose to remain ignorant of these vital issues? We dare not! This is why the I. R. C. has the unique role to play at Regis. To effect better world understanding amongst its members and interested Regis students, the club undertakes such activities as movies, discussions and lectures. Through these the members become more informed about current and controversial international issues. Every member is encouraged to present his questions and problems for informal discussion after each lecture by experienced personalities.

"R" Club

FIRST ROW: D. Chavez, T. Beringer, K. Jorgensen, D. Petersen, J. Ugalde, B. McHugh, L. Chavez. SECOND ROW: B. Baumgartner, P. Weldon, J. Schoenherr, J. Peabody, T. O'Donisio, J. Loehr, R. Haberkorn.

FIRST ROW: E. Moloney, R. Toruno, M. O'Donnell, M. Rashid, P. Doyle, M. Veysey, C. Schwartz, S. Horning. SECOND ROW: Coach Flanigan, T. Reed, J. Rapp, R. Harris, J. Coakley, T. Kahl Figge.

The Members of the R Club are something more than just "Jacques's." They are a group of dedicated athletic supporters, willing to devote their time, energy, and spirit to their school. Due to the variety in inter-collegiate sports now offered at Regis, the membership of this club has almost doubled its enrollment of last year.

You cannot really put down in words the exact purpose of this club. It is something that is more emotional rather than written. Yet three functions of this club can be described. First of all it stimulates the student, faculty and alumni interests in sports at Regis. Secondly, it sponsors migrations to basketball games and thirdly, it serves as a sort of status symbol as far as its members are concerned.

The R Club then, plays the role of rewarder to its members and is the school's way of thanking those who have represented it in all phases of inter-collegiate sports.

OFFICERS: Pres., J. Rapp; Special Events Chairman, J. Coyne; Treasurer, T. Reed; Secretary, S. Horning; Vice-Pres., M. Veysey; Moderator, Coach Flanigan.

Sodality

". . . the world needs solid Catholic leadership . . ."

The Regis College Men's Sodality represents the oldest functioning organization on Campus. Under the new and able directorship of Rev. John Teeling, the Sodality has succeeded in accomplishing its two aims of personal sanctification and the sanctification of others.

Working closely with Father Teeling, President Larry Beardsley has organized monthly Communion Breakfasts, apostolic work with the orphanages, and active response to the liturgical movement in cooperation with the Church.

All active Sodalists this year will make a five day retreat to Snowmass which will be given by Father Edward L. Maginnis. Though small for a Jesuit catholic school, the Sodality has had its impact on the spiritual body of its own members, but also, through example, on the spiritual body of many students.

American Society

". . . extremism in defense of liberty is no vice . . ."

The American Society, the Conservatives of Regis College, dedicates itself to the promotion of responsible political thought on the campus. In making students aware of the philosophies behind politics, we believe that the Society makes a valuable and necessary contribution to Regis.

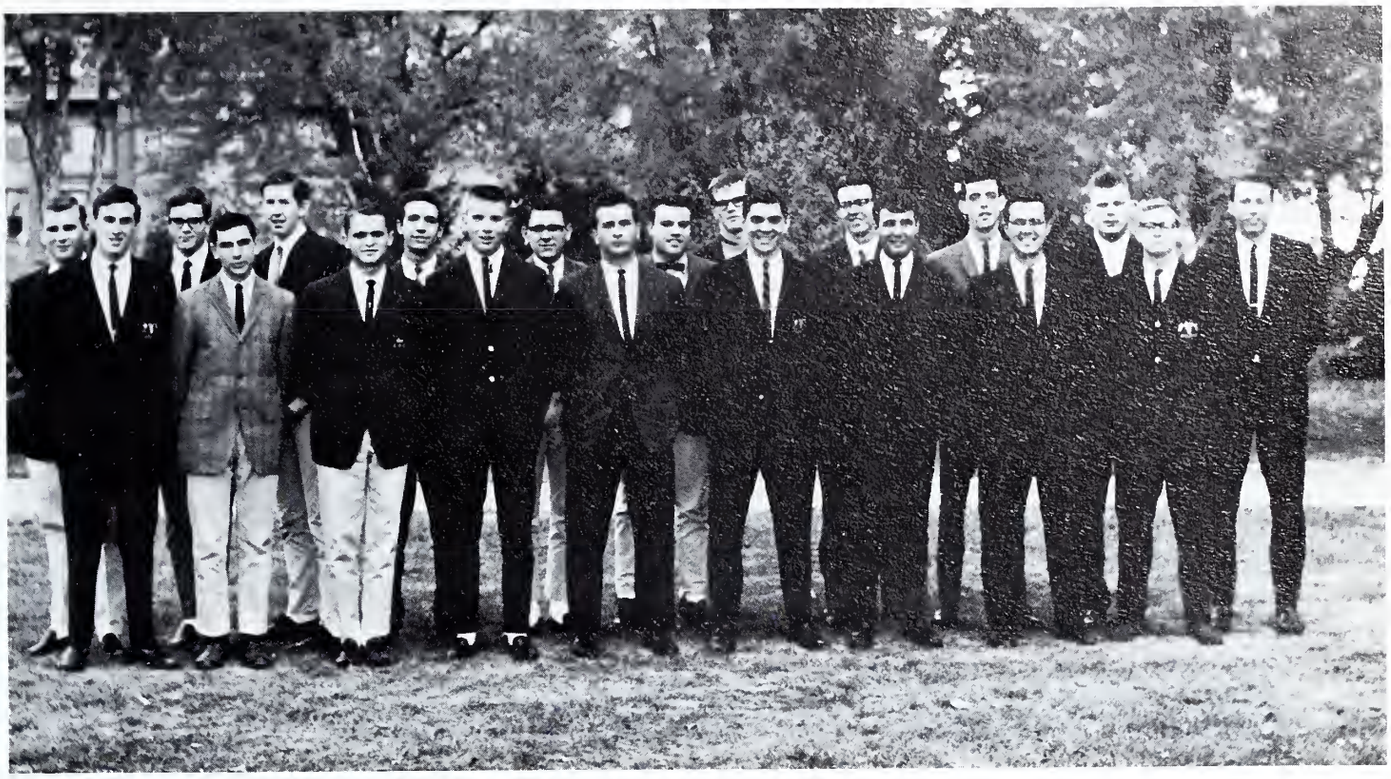

Since its founding in 1962, the American Society has sponsored lectures by nationally acclaimed scholars in the area of political science, donated books to the library, supplied its members with timely literature, made additions to a growing library of tape recordings, shown movies, and even sponsored a memorable queen candidate in 1963.

This year the American Society structured a Board of Trustees. This growing board of past officers periodically receives the Club's Newsletter which keeps them abreast of our organization's campus activities. During the year the Society presented the first annual American Society Award for Outstanding Scholarship in Political Science. It was presented to recognize a relatively new area of study at Regis and as further instance of the American Society's commitment to Regis.

Italian Club

B. Mariacher, J. Heiney, B. Paulsen, J. Domenico, P. Kelly, M. Jerome, D. McCue, R. Kelly, J. Mallicone, E. Pedotto, R. McHugh, J. Schmit, T. Willard, T. Elliot, L. DeCredico, D. Mergen, M. Grace, D. Sewald, G. Kuhls, J. Loehr.

Affording its members the opportunity for mature social development, with the understanding that such a growth is an integral element of liberal education, the Regis Italian Club endeavors to instill in its members the irrepressible Italian spirit of responsible camaraderie. While primarily providing its members the means for social development, the Italian Club openly offers its help and cooperation both to the administration and to other campus organizations. Decidedly non-esoteric in its orientation, the Club is defiantly non-sectarian, pledging full equality to Sicilian and Eskimo alike.

In familiarizing themselves with Italian tradition, the members have concentrated recently on aesthetic appreciation. This talent for recognizing feminine pulchritude has given the Italian Club a fine reputation and record, especially in the Regis queen campaign.

The purpose of the Regis College Aquinas Academy is to develop an insight into the varied problems of philosophy among its members. It also provides for the inquiring student the equal to the "honors program" offered on many campuses across the country. Through reading and discussing representative works in certain areas of philosophy, the members of the Academy satisfy their intellectual curiosity.

"Love" was the theme of this year's discussions. Under the able leadership of the club's moderator, Rev. Harry Klocker, S.J., the members themselves lectured and discussed the many aspects of the provocative subject. The scholarly and academic tradition of the Academy were well carried on this year with the members under the able direction of the officers.

Le châpitre Gamma Chi de la Société d'Honneur Française Pi Delta Phi a été inauguré à Regis au mois de mai, 1963. Le but de cette organization est de faire connâitre la langue et la civilization française aux étudiants Américains de sorte qu'ils peuvent voir et comprendre la France comme un pays moderne et le français comme langue vivante.

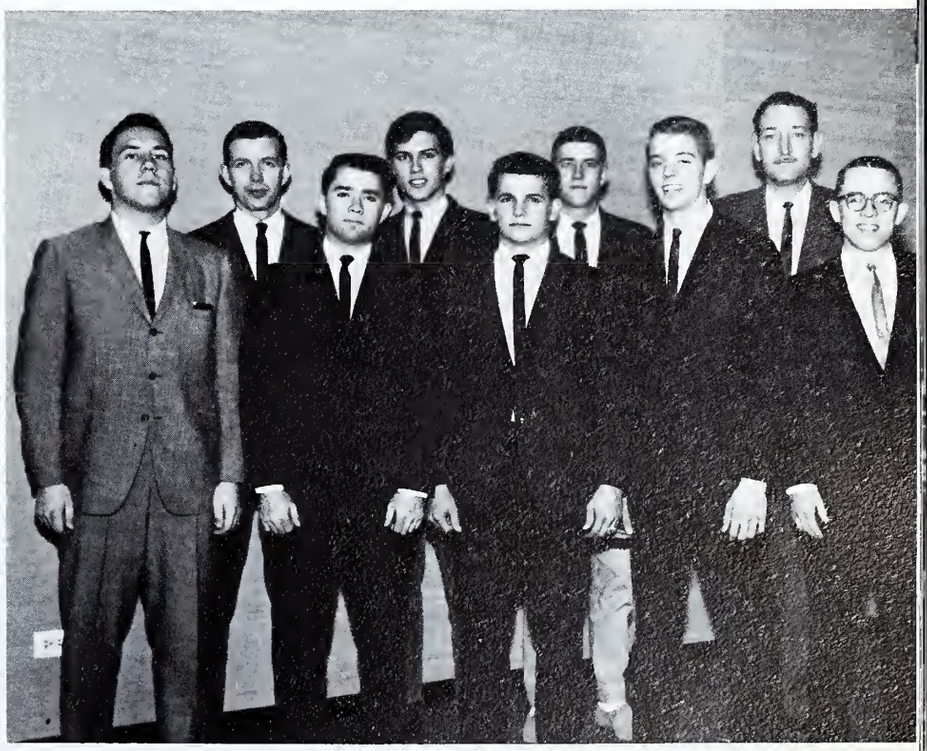

Les marques distinguées de cette société sont les membres choisis pour leurs efforts supérieurs dans leurs cours et leur enthusiasme de faire connâitre l'esprit français aux autres étudiants.

Debate & Oratory

The Third Annual Regis College Forensic Tournament commenced the activities for the members of the Debate and Oratorical Society. Eleven schools representing five Western states participated in the tournament. Members of the Club represented Regis in debate, impromptu speaking, extemporaneous speaking, oral interpretation, and original oratory at the tournaments held in the Rocky Mountain area. The Society also held the Regis College Oratorical Contest for the benefit of the entire student body.

Offering its services to various high schools in the area for judging and coaching, the members of the Society have strived to build a strong, active organization to represent Regis College.

Brown & Gold Review

In addition to providing an outlet for creative students interested in journalism, this year the Brown & Gold underwent some radical changes in order to better fulfill the responsibility of a college newspaper to the student body. It is the aim of the "B & G" to provide the students of Regis with a publication which can be more readily available to its readers through the means of more issues. By directing editorial comments toward various controversial issues which often exist on a college campus, the paper will assume a position of notable leadership.

The success of the Brown and Gold, under her new policies, has been proven by a more active interest by the student body to the individual issues as they were published, and by the fact that many commentaries, both pro and con, were received as letters to the editors.

If the clock on the wall were visible in this candid shot, it would probably read 1:00 am on a Monday or Tuesday morning. No, these aren't the salaried executive editors of the Brown & Gold. Rather, these are three dedicated Regis students who have to face a philosophy exam at 8:00 the next morning, who had only four hours of sleep the night before, and who realize that they have a deadline to complete. Hours unlimited are required to produce a copy of the B & G so that the student body can spend fifteen minutes reading it, five minutes making paper airplanes out of it, and another month forgetting about it. If Regis College hadn't devoted men who professed their dedication under all circumstances, there would be no Regis College.

The Student National Education Association is affiliated with the National Education Association and the Colorado Education Association, inculcating their aims and purposes while receiving their publications and the insurance which they proffer to regular teachers. The Regis chapter of the S.N.E.A., the Golbrick chapter named after Colorado's first educator, has as its main function the introduction to the student in the organization of the goals, aims, methods, and areas of advancement which are presently active in the field of education. This group acts as a contact between the Education department and the student while attempting to interest more students in this ever important field of studies. The student benefits from the organization through the reception of the publications both national and regional and also by being allowed to participate in the insurance program offered to regular teachers. There also exists a definite interaction among the various area chapters giving each member a chance to meet and converse with members of the other schools which are actively involved in similar pursuits. The S.N.E.A. exists for the direct benefit of the students who are involved in the field of teaching.

Why have we come to Regis? was the question asked of a group of Carroll Hall residents. Have these ends been attained by us as individuals in our years at Regis? If not, why? What can we, as students, do to ameliorate the situation and bring it into clearer perspective for underclassmen?

With these considerations in mind, it was decided that these real aims must be pursued by means of an academic organ if anything efficacious was to flow from the effort. The moribund pre-law society surnamed the St. Thomas More Society was selected for rejuvenation and redirection.

The initial undertaking of the St. Thomas More Society was to invite Mr. Vasilios Priakos to KFML Radio to offer his insights into the present trends in "Art and Living." A further step was taken to get to the radix of the student lack of initiative at Regis by having a faculty panel of three priests and one lay instructor face the Society and offer in candid, open-minded terms their insight into scholastic lethargy from the faculty point of view.

On the more practical level, the members of the Society have sought some remedy to unwholesome attitudes on campus.

A club for the reading and discussion of good literature, the Literary Club this year considered the works of Joyce Cary including Not Honor More, The Horse's Mouth, A Prisoner of Grace, and An American Visitor. This year the club participated in weekly discussions on various literary topics. During the second semester the club devoted much of its discussion to works of literature that are on the reading list for English Majors.

The Club also encourages students in their creative efforts, particularly in writing. In this connection it encourages its members to enter the Jesuit essay contest, and those who do enter are often judged among the top in the contest.

Theater Guild

The Regis College Theatre Guild promoted drama on and off campus. This year the Guild sought to encourage students to support various theatres in the Denver area. On campus, the Guild cooperated with the Speech Department's Arena Theatre productions. The Guild also co-sponsored the Sunday Night Movies series which offers current full length films to the students at special rates. Members of the Guild directed their own productions for the third year on Experimental Theatre night.

The President's Council was formed this Fall in order to foster cooperation and instill unity in the various student organizations on the Regis Campus. The major contribution made thus far has been a bi-weekly calendar of events to forstall any conflicts in schoolwide activities. This organization more than any other gets at the "grass roots" of the student body of Regis. In this manner the majority of students will know far in advance the upcoming events on the campus and plan accordingly. Instead of individual organizations working at odds with each other, they can unite to better the Regis community with concrete action.

The Regis College Ranger staff employs imaginative thinking and unique means to produce a spectacular panorama of the life at the college. As can be seen from these pictures. dedication and formal organization contribute to the efficiency of the staff. The beautiful surroundings provided by our office in the Center add another facet to this stunning clarity of vision and purpose that is exhibited by all the members of the staff of the Ranger. The staff goes to any extreme to see their work from another aspect. A most notable example of this is the mass exodus out the window in order to get a clearer prospective of layout, etc. We caught Chuck on his way back in to read another copy of Life (picture, bottom left). This helps the whole staff get a broader vision of the conglomeration of upheaval present in our office. We all work hard cutting out pictures from various academic journals, viz., Playboy, Esquire, etc. to cover our unadorned walls with awe-inspiring material for etherial contemplation. After all this hard work and exciting pressure, the staff produces the Ranger. Pere Maginnis has contributed also.

The purpose of the Saint John Berchman Society is to promote and further intelligent participation in the liturgy of the Catholic Church. By assisting as servers at some fifty Masses offered daily on campus and by supplying the students with Dialogue Mass Leaders and ushers, members of the Society acquire a deeper appreciation of the Holy Sacrifice of the Mass in daily life. The Society's example of unselfish perseverance and determination directly influences spiritual life on campus.

The Society does not hold regular meetings because its only purpose is service to the Student Body and the Society of Jesus. The operation of the Society is handled by a Board, composed of four Directors, who are elected by members of the organization. The Board is advised and guided by Fr. Maginnis, moderator of the Society.

By its dedication to Christ, the St. John Berchman Society has become one of the most respectful organizations on campus.

Bonded together by the goals of medicine, dentistry, or chemistry as their future professions, the brothers of Rho Chi Sigma fraternity continue to mold the golden traditions they have inherited with dynamic innovations to preserve their recognition as one of the outstanding organizations at Regis College. With the magic formula of the lamp of science, the cross of Christianity, and the handshake of fellowship which appear on the fraternity's insignia, the brothers have furthered Regis spirit for religion, knowledge, and unity.

The brothers' common interest in chemistry has focused on participation in projects undertaken by the chemistry department, tours of industrial plants, and monthly lectures featuring visiting scholars and doctors.

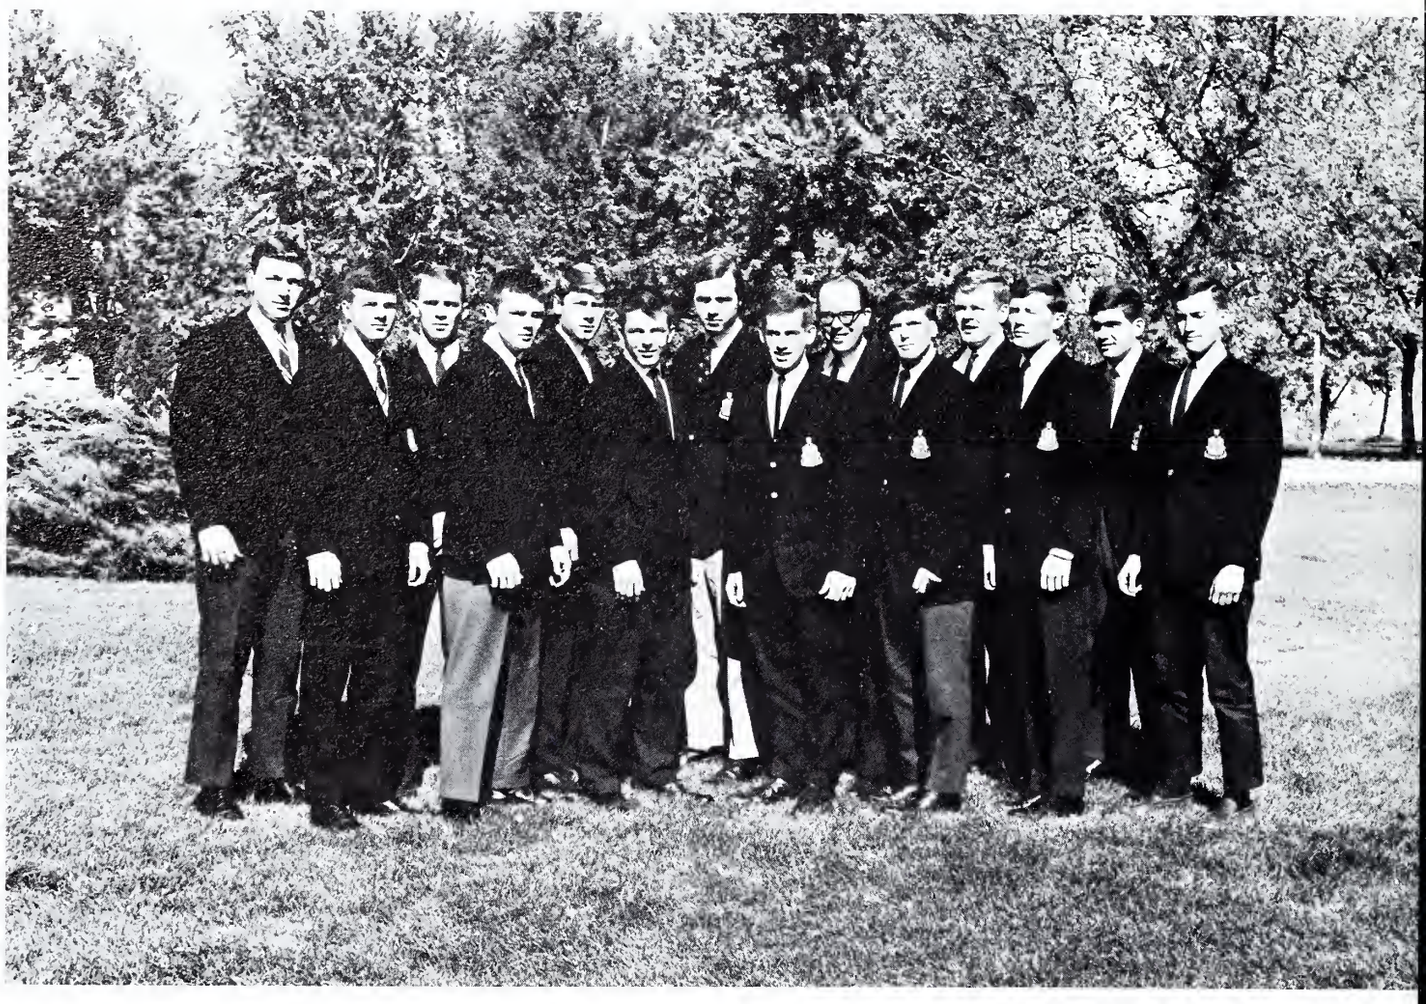

Moreover, the brothers have vigorously participated in service projects for the school and the community. These include sponsorship of Sunday night movies, on campus and the support of the Cystic Fibrosis and United Campaign drives in Denver. Together the brothers of Rho Chi Sigma have formed a nucleus of energy and action at Regis as they attain their goals.

This is Alpha Delta Gamma, a national Catholic social fraternity. Its ideals are high, but considering the caliber of men in this fraternity they are easily realized. All of these men hold the ideals in high esteem and work hard to see that they are preserved. The unique spirit peculiar to this fraternity makes this possible.

The first duty of a fraternity is to provide its members with the essential purpose of the organization. ADG fulfills this obligation by furnishing the brothers with a variety of events: parties, banquets for special occasions, and informal get-togethers.

Since a fraternity also has obligations to the school, ADG sponsors the Halloween Dance and the Coronation Ball. The brothers occasionally lend a helping hand to charitable organizations. They are more than ready to answer the call for the behind-the-scenes work at college functions.

Toward the goal of rounding the Christian man, ADG looks to the spiritual needs of its brothers with a monthly Communion breakfast.

Alpha Kappa Psi, a professional business fraternity, stands out on the Regis Campus. The brothers work in a fraternal spirit to achieve goals both fraternal and schoolwide. They can be seen in any number of activities on the campus offering intelligent direction and enthusiastic support. They have sponsored numerous worthwhile activities on the campus this past year, viz., Cystic Fibrosis Drive, lectures both on business and subjects of national importance, and a dance to improve the campus attitude toward basketball. They have been in the forefront in practically every activity, academic, spiritual, and co-curricular. Alpha Kappa Psi can be summed up in one word—Leadership!

Rho Chi Sigma Fraternity was chosen as the outstanding fraternity for 1965. The Brothers were distinguished both in their service to the school and in fulfilling the aims of their organization, which are to instill in its members a desire for knowledge in the field of chemistry. Dedicated to the academic as well as social growth of its members, Rho Chi Sigma truly deserves the honor of Oustanding Fraternity.

The Irish Regis Association was chosen as the outstanding social athletic organization for 1965. The I.R.A. tries to bring its Gaelic culture to the campus by helping with the Catholic Charities, annual, city-wide St. Patrick's Day Ball. Also this year the I.R.A. sponsored Miss Sue O'Toole who is the present queen of Regis. The I.R.A. truly deserves the honor which has been bestowed on it.

The St. Thomas More Club was chosen as the outstanding academic-spiritual organization for 1965. This Pre-Legal and History Society is composed of a small number of Regis Students who wish to explore the study of law and history.

Under the leadership of John Hart the St. Thomas More Club was completely reorganized and revitalized this past year. This organization has dared to be different and has created a true academic atmosphere for its members by the careful planning and the progressive leadership of its officers.

Through the guidance of the capable Dr. Gordon Ross the club's moderator, this organization has evolved into a vital body of thinking individuals. Various lectures were given in the past year for the members which were, "Art of Living" by Mr. V. Priakos, "Regis Apathy" by a four member panel, "Art of Dress" by Gano-Downs, "Anatomy of Criticism" by Dr. John Murphy. Through these lectures the members have found themselves through intellectual inquiry contributing to the social consciousness of the group and thus presenting the opportunity for a synthesis of learning.

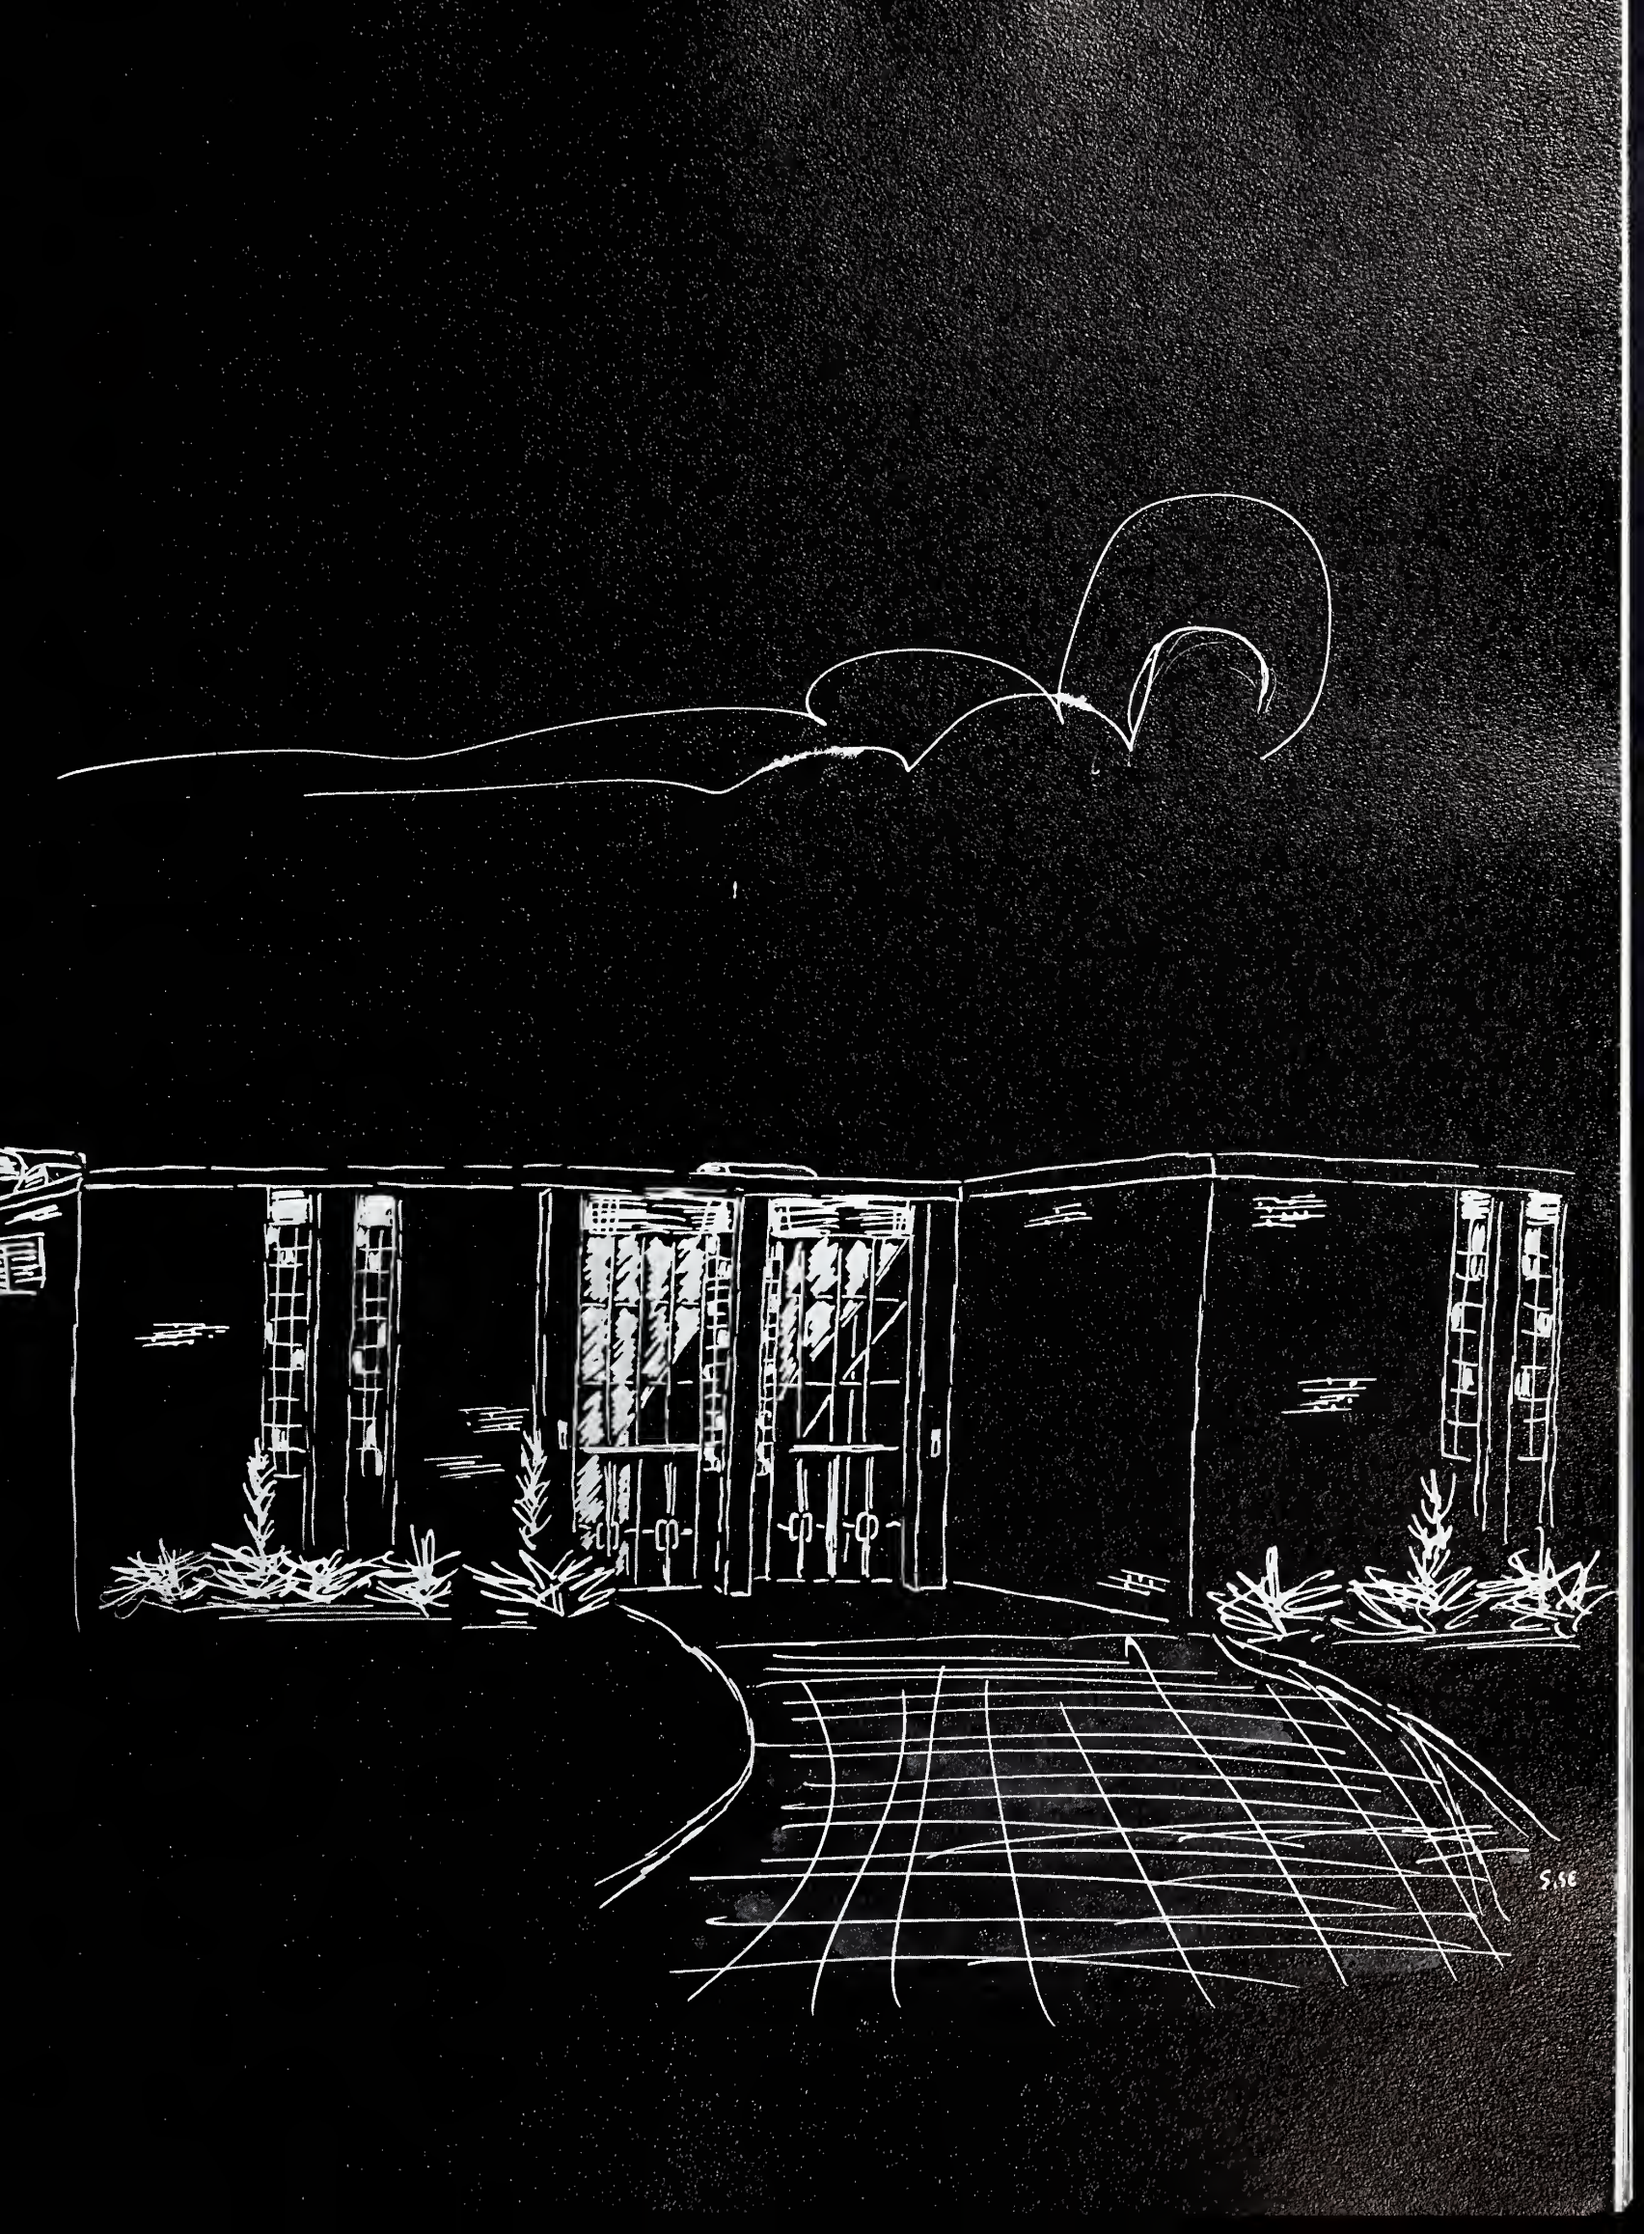

The Club has also sponsored many schoolwide activities such as the Humanities Seminar series. The theme of this most beneficial series is "Man's Search for Self-Identity." The speakers included Dr. Gribbon speaking on Mythology, Sr. Cecilia speaking on the Book of Job, Dr. Ross speaking on Macheavelli, and Dr. Earle speaking on Evolution.

The Brown and Gold Review has published the work of the club's evaluation of student life which included academic opportunities here on campus and the social aspects of college life at Regis.

The outstanding leaders of this organization are John Hart, Anthony Andrews, Brian Kimmel, Micheal Veysey, and Richard Bowles who truly deserve the praise for the award of most outstanding organization that they have won for their Club.

The objectives of physical education are to improve organic strengths, neuro-muscular skills, to create a more favorable attitude toward play, and to establish proper standards of conduct.

The scope of the physical education program at Regis College is divided into three major areas: required program, intramural program, and varsity intercollegiate program.

The required program consists of physical fitness tests in both the Fall and Spring complemented by a knowledge and the acquisition of a basic facility in soccer, tennis, basketball, swimming, golf, weight-lifting, handball, and gymnastics.

At Regis the intramural program consists of twelve sports, each designed to encourage wholesome recreation and physical activity among those students who do not participate in the Varsity Program. On the individual basis the program offers badminton, golf, handball, billiards, table tennis, and tennis. Six team activities are also available to students: basketball, softball, swimming, touch football, track, and volleyball.

There are seven sports included in the varsity program: basketball, baseball, soccer, swimming, tennis, golf, and skiing. Regis College competes on an intercollegiate level with schools of comparable size in Colorado and surrounding states.

The opportunity is there for all students to participate on the intramural or varsity level with activities varying with each season of the year. Fieldhouse facilities are open to all students regardless of their participation in any one of the formal programs.

The success of a sound physical education program depends upon the close cooperation and participation on the part of all concerned: students, coaching staff, and faculty.

Ranger Soccer

The Regis Soccer Team completed its season with a dashing 1-8 record. However, this record was to be expected due to the fact that the team was in its gestation period. The squad "carried" nine freshmen onto the inter-collegiate soccer fields of such outstanding opponents as Denver University, the University of Wyoming, Colorado University, and Colorado State University all of which were comprised of foreign and experienced players. However, the future of the team is bright, for all of the members saw an abundance of action thereby gaining the much needed experience which was lacking this past year on the battlefields of soccer.

Outstanding performances through out the season were turned in by Ralph Toruno, the team's leading scorer who also tremendously filled in as goalie when called upon to do so; Mike O'Donnell, considered by many as the most improved player, who played heads up and rugged ball all the way. Jim Horning, Butch Mortland, and Dennis Bankowski with his highly developed soccer techniques worked instinctively as the team's halfbacks and comprised the backbone of the team. Yes, the future is promising and victory, not defeat, should spotlight the 1965 schedule.

Coach Meta Andel points out the defensive weaknesses of the "opposition."

Ranger Golf

The returning members of last year's golf team are John Coumbe, Ken Jorgensen, and Mark Whitaker. The '64 team produced effective results in competition with high caliber area teams; and the '65 team hopes to equal, if not better last year's record, even though the loss through graduation of stalwart Chuck Chalberg will somewhat hamper them. However the enthusiasm already shown this year could prove to be an important factor, for according to Mark Whitaker, self-appointed captain, the golf team has been making weekly meetings at Billy's.

Team Captain Mark Whitaker points out some of the "finer" points of position to his fellow teammates, John Coumbe and Ken Jorgensen.

Joe Kaveney, freshman, adds two more points to Regis' romp of Colorado College, 78-61.

John Coyne, a newcomer to the team, often sparked the Rangers with his aggressive backboard play.

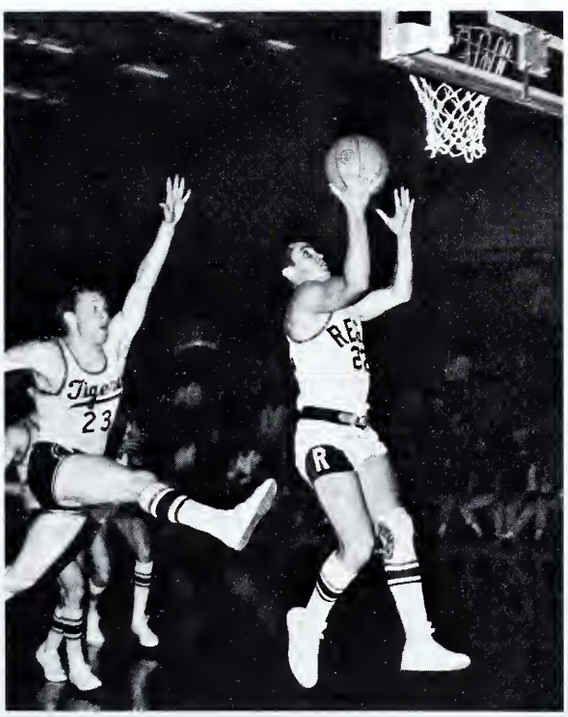

Coyne adjusts sights for two more. John came into his own during the second half of the season and greatly aided the Ranger campaign.

Paper Tigers

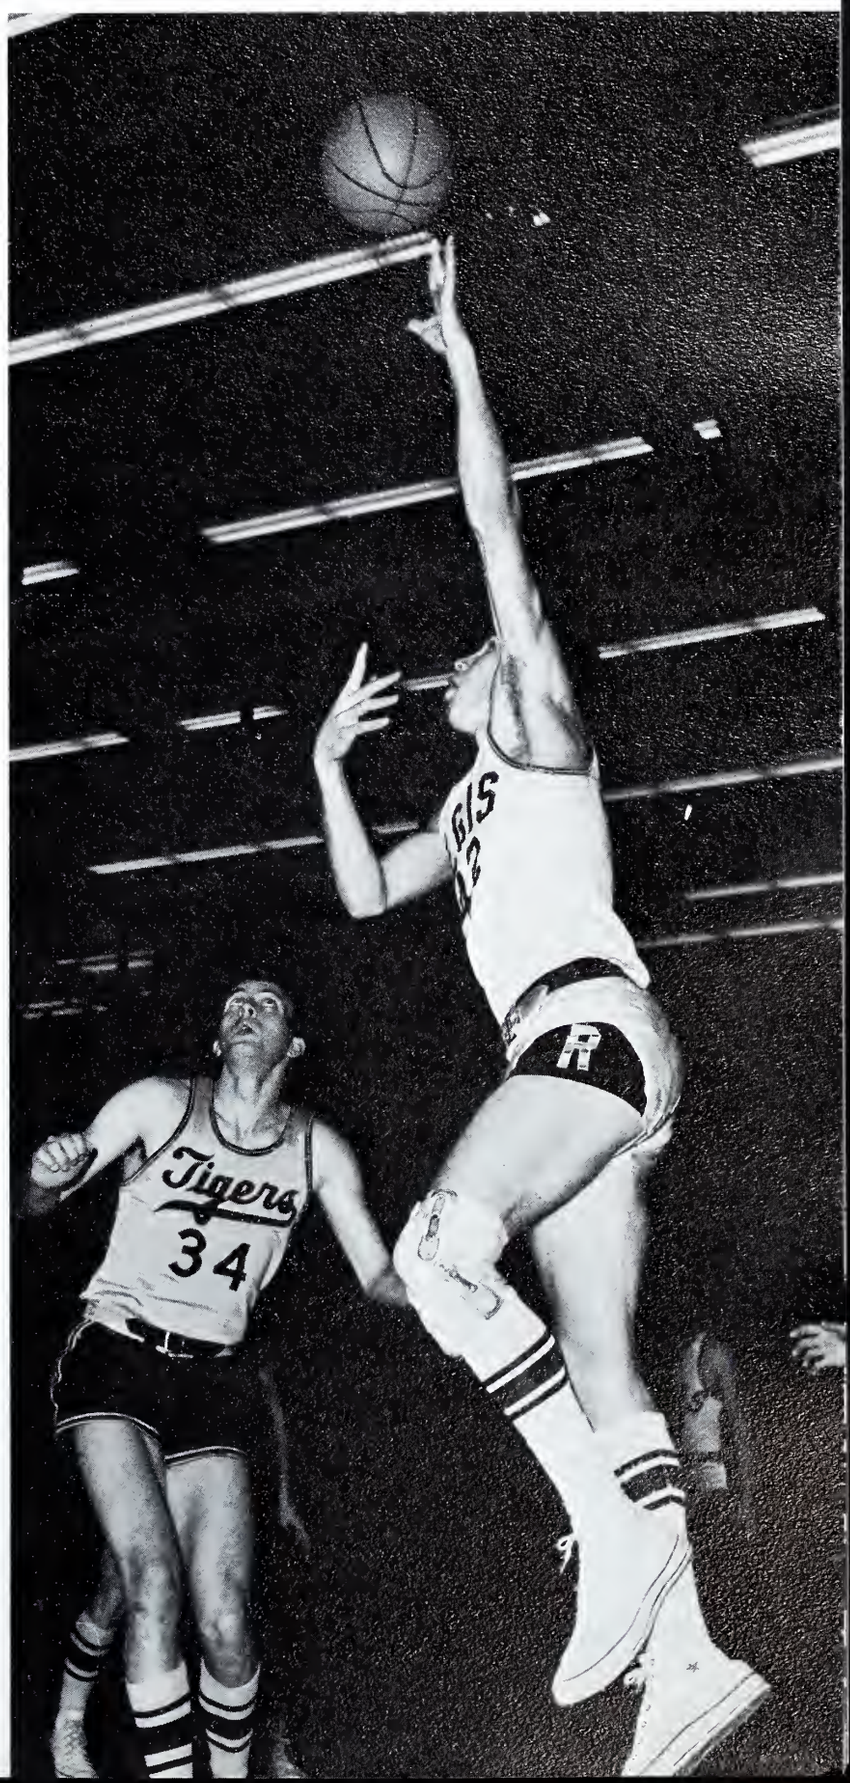

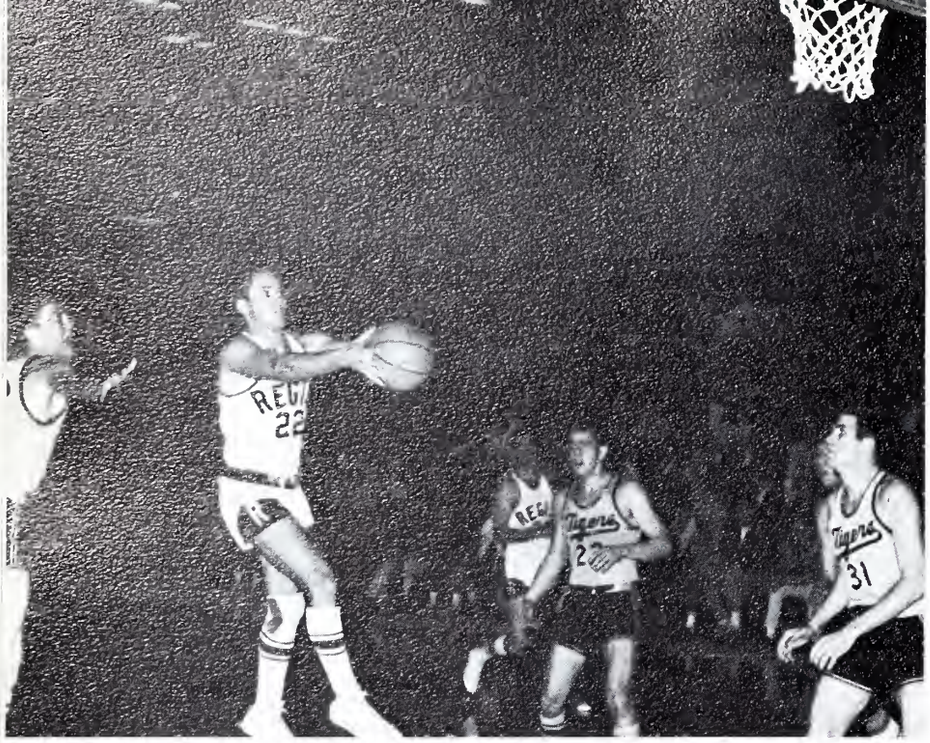

Freshman Kaveney tips the roundball to teammate Coyne against Pasadena College.

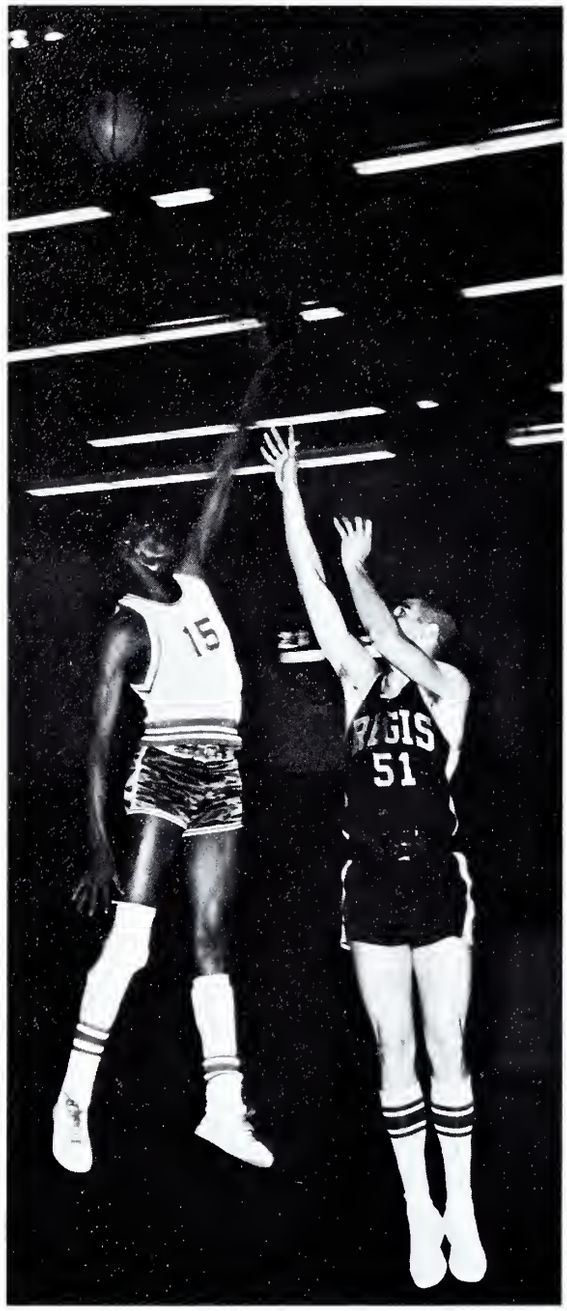

Always reliable Tony Reed, makes it look easy against the paper Tigers of Colorado College. Regis went on to win 78-61.

John Rapp, senior, was an outstanding player on the offensive team. Here he buckets for two as the CC cage-man looks on with disbelief.

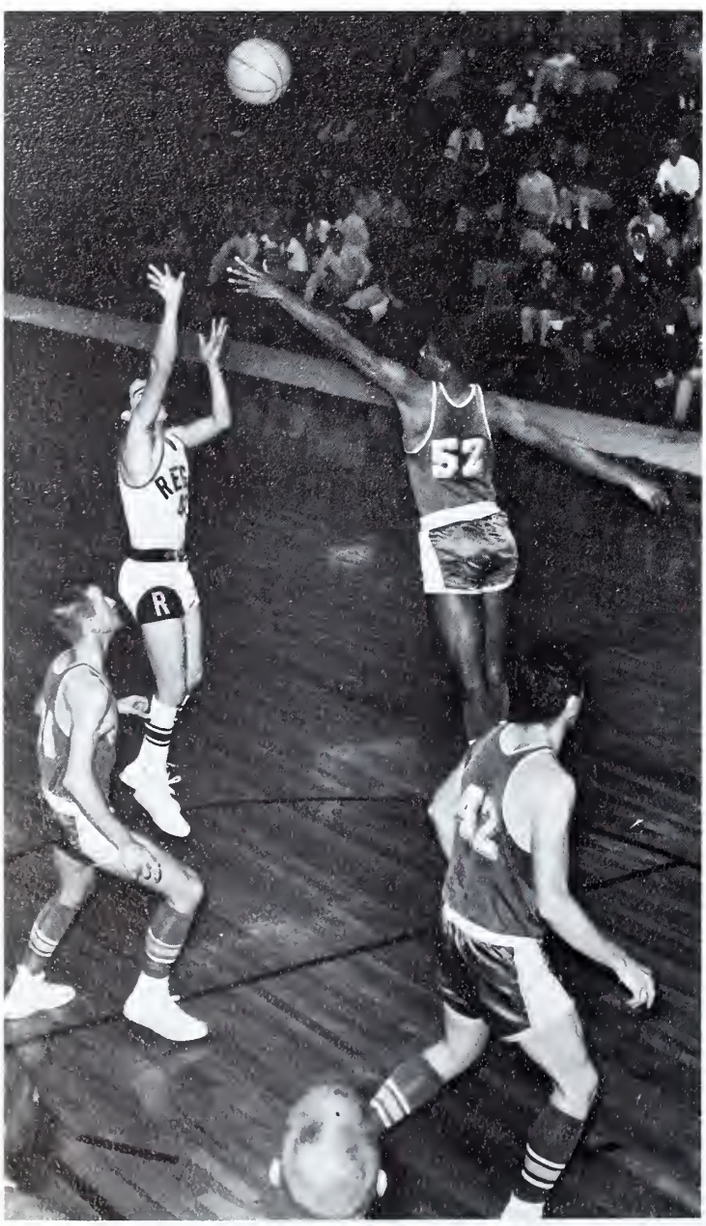

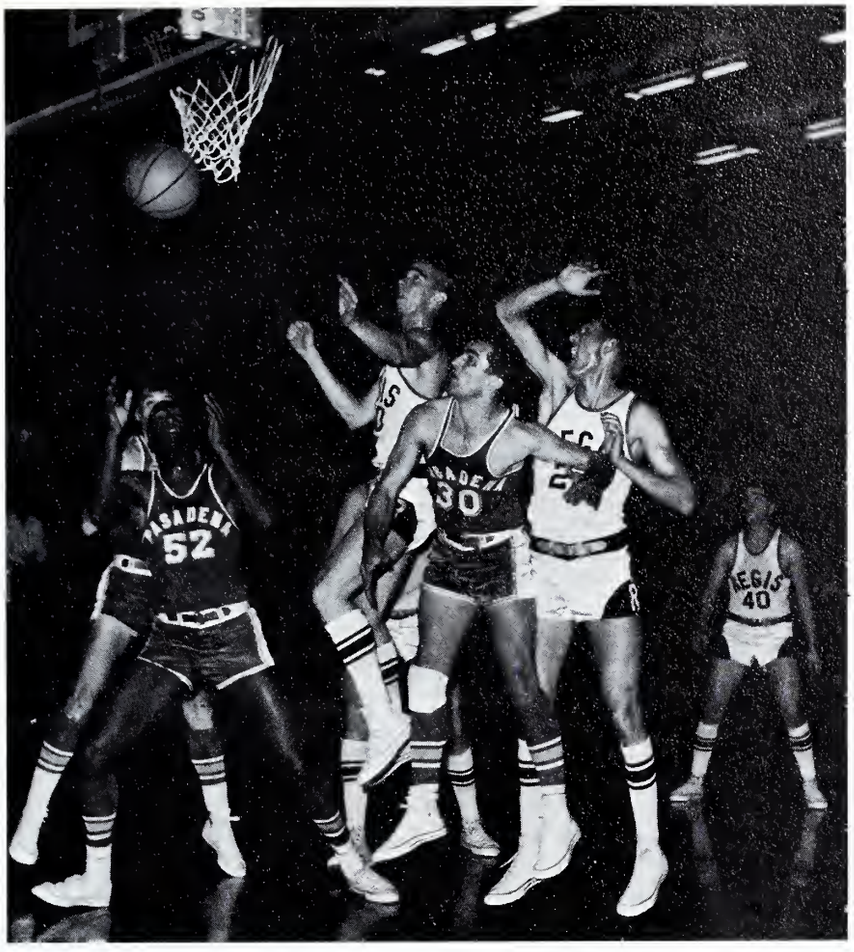

Tony Reed's good play making contributed much to the Regis cause this season.

Jay Coakley stretches to get shot off against Southern Colorado State College.

"Coakley," says John Coyne, "If I've told you once, I've told you a hundred times...."

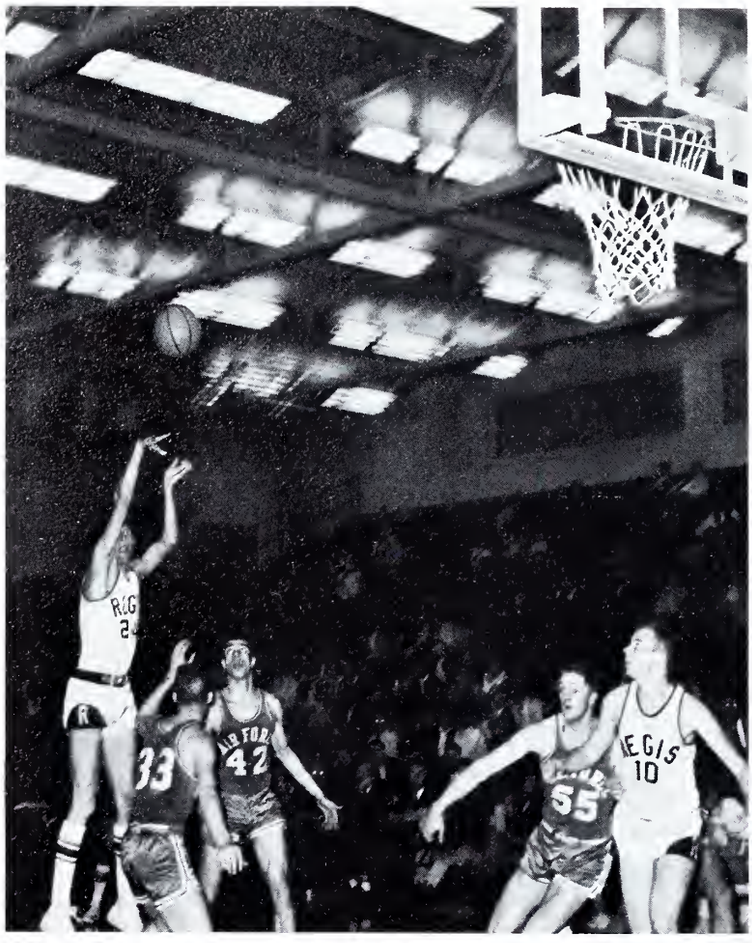

Coyne goes up for a jump shot.

The Ranger Rooters filled the fieldhouse for the Air Force game. Even the Heights girls came to see this one.

Chavez hits again with his jump shot.

Coyne fires away as Kaveney holds up the Air Force with an arm.

This year the tennis team expects to have the best record for any varsity team on the campus and looking back to the other teams they have a good chance. Two of the stars for this year's team will be Darrell Mudd and E. J. Moloney who have improved over the past year.

"I can Fly!"

Varsity Swimming

This year may not have been the best in the terms of wins (our record was 0 and 6), but it certainly was the best in spirit and effort. The squad consisted of John Miazga, Doug Kaiser, Bob Miller, Mike Brooke, Mike Hacke, Steve Zibby, Phil Murphy, Rob Rockney (manager) and Coach Alan Hodges. Everyone of the swimmers has improved both in mind and in body since the beginning of the season.

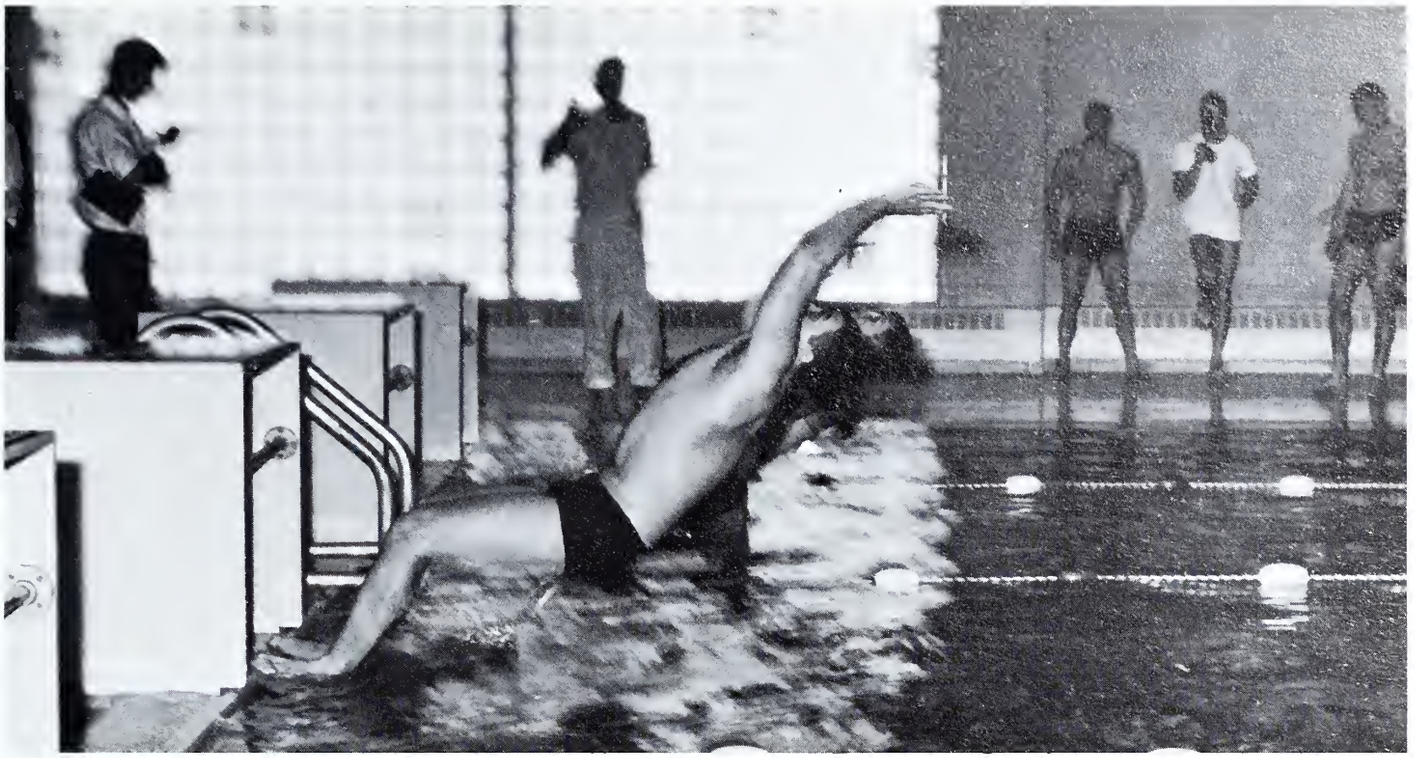

Part of each swimmer's improvement was through his own effort; the other part was brought about through the valuable talents of the coach, Mr. Hodges, who contributed much of his time and patience to the development and improvement of each individual. For his efforts he gained the personal admiration and respect of each member of his squad and the sincere hope of his return as the coach of next year's team.

We are all now looking to the future. Next year's team should bring about better results, especially if most of this squad returns plus a few others who are willing to work and improve. A lack of depth seriously hindered the efforts of the team. If more students participate next year, Regis College could be well on its way to becoming a real swimming power in the area.

Intramural Football

The football giants from the Benchwarmer organization stood off an inspired Skonks team in their season finale for a 29-20 victory and the intramural football crown. Down 12-9 at half time, the Benchwarmer team rallied to score 20 points in the second half while holding the Skonks to eight second-half points. This left the Benchwarmer 'A' team with a 7-1-0 record and an undisputed claim to first place. They scored 186 points in eight games and held their opposition to 48 total points. The Benchwarmers should put forth an extremely strong team to defend their title in the fall of '65 even considering their losses through graduation.

The Benchwarmers suffered their only defeat at the hands of AKPsi fraternity who finished second and just a step behind them with a 6-1-1 record. AKPsi led the league in total defense, allowing only an average of 4.8 points per game to be scored against them.

Roundball Contenders

Intramural basketball began bouncing on the hardwood floor of the field house late in November and extended well into March with a total of 18 teams competing for the title. With an Eastern and Western League composed of nine teams apiece, both leagues sent their four best teams to the tournament to decide the champions. AKPsi Fraternity's 'A' team was ranked as the team to beat in the Western League while Benchwarmers 'A' team and the defending champions was the team to beat in the Eastern League. Due to the early publishing date of the annual, the results of the tournament are not known at this time.

Other teams that showed impressive power on the courts were Rho Chi Sigma and the Denver Club from the Eastern League while the Western League had top notch contenders with the Gorillas and the Aces.

Student Leadership Conference

After literally months of planning The Third Annual Leadership Conference under the able direction of Tom O'Dorisio got under way at The Crags in Estes Park. This year saw the leaders of the campus engaging in penetrating dialogue with the members of panels appointed to research the various areas of Regis College life under scrutiny. Reactions on all sides were extremely favorable. The student leaders expressed their opinions quite frankly concerning issues that had long been a source of grievance to them and likewise the faculty and administration did not fail to liven up the conversation with an occasional incisive comment. Much has been said in the past concerning the futility of these impromptu debates, but it can be said with certainty that this year will be a radical departure from the preceding years' inactivity. A meeting to evaluate the practical application of conclusions reached at the conference is planned and will insure the effectiveness of the decisions reached at the conference. Much has been said on both sides of College leadership about the lack of communication at Regis. The Leadership Conference provides this communication.

"My name is..."

"Think!, Richter, Think!"

Freshmen Orientation

Hang! This one word struck fear into the hearts of the newly arrived members of the Regis College Community. This was merely a means to an end. Much has been said in the past around Regis College about the aims and methods of Freshmen Orientation. In glowing and sometimes nauseating terminology this singularly important event of the College year has been relegated to the place of least importance. This year under the tutelage of Leo Tierney, The Freshmen Orientation Program presented a brash front, but in the end the Freshmen understood the value placed upon membership in the community by the upperclassmen and in the process came to realize their place in this community. They recognize the hand of welcome extended to them by the upperclassmen and this above all was symbolic of an explicit call to the common cause, the promotion and improvement of the Regis Community by the student body and its leaders.

"I'm not even a freshman."

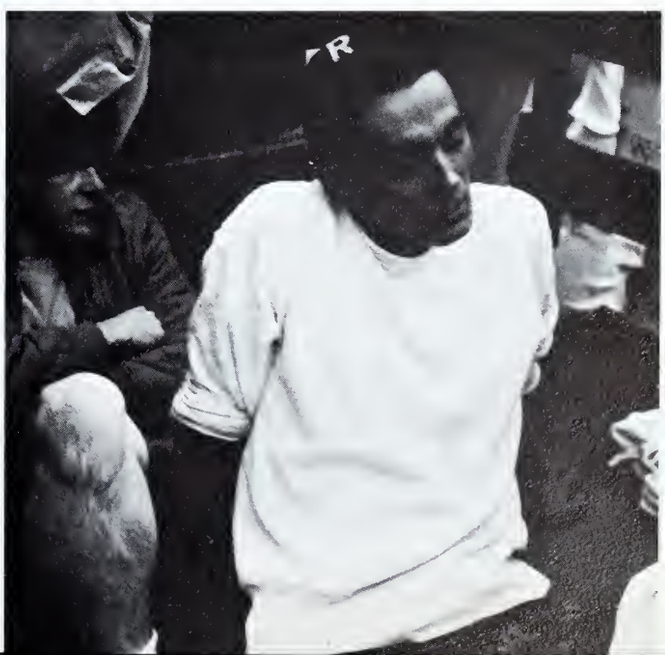

"I said shine 'em."

"I've seen faster Chevy's than you guys."

Freshmen Frolic

Only her hair dresser really knows.

"I won the raffle."

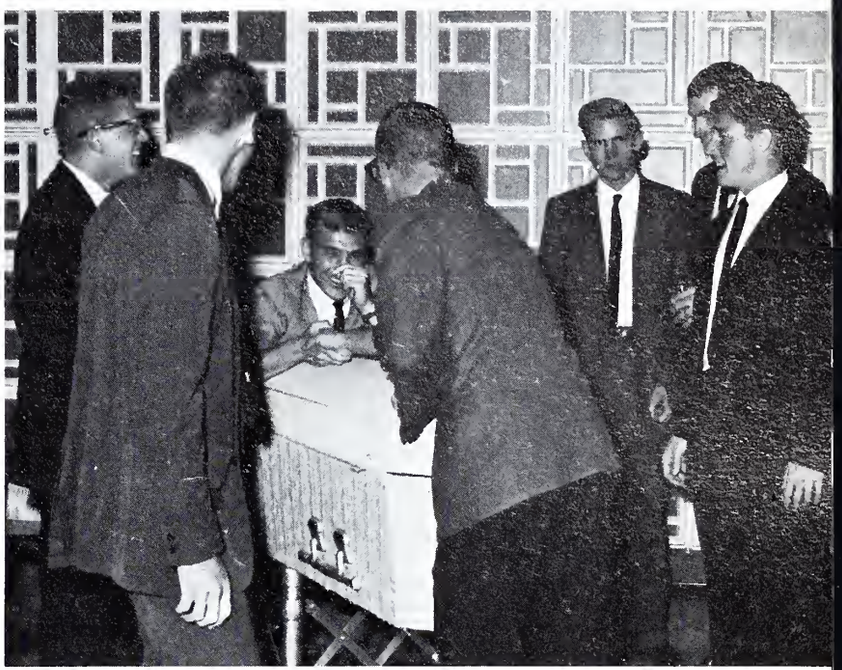

"I'm James Radolf Bond."

"Gosh, I'm embarrassed."

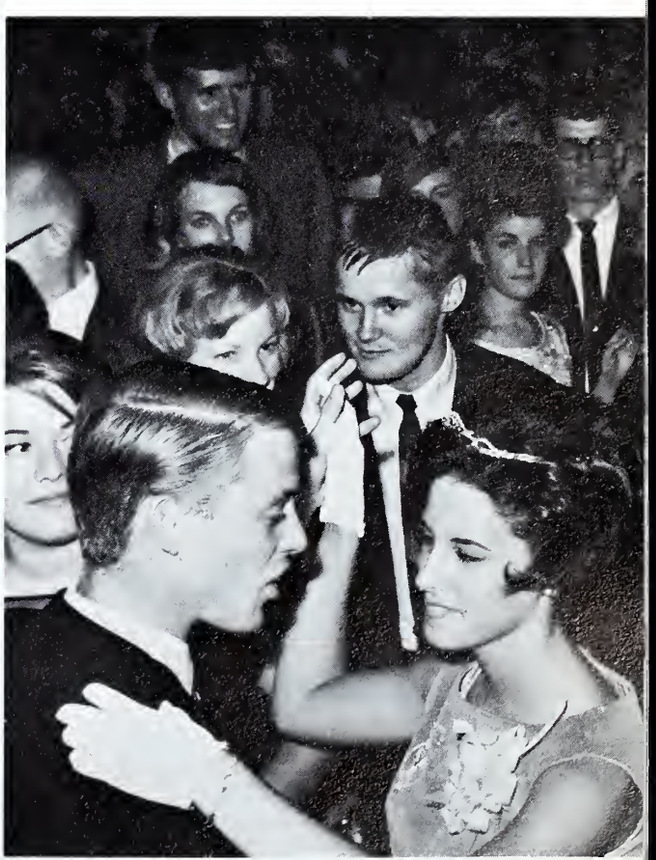

"You are faster than Joe."

"When a body meets a body..."

The Cosa Nostra.

"Isn't it great to be a winner?"

The Sensation

Students enjoy music by the Startones.

"I told him I wasn't perfect."

"Which one is yours?"

The Orphans Trick or Treat

The orphans are treated.

"I'm going to letter in pin ball at Regis."

Saga is everywhere.

"Those spurs are murder."

Halloween Dance

Pete Rohan takes the prize.

"But I DO have a wife and two kids in Omaha."

"I'll be glad when we find your mother."

"He thinks you're a poodle."

"So what now, Running Bear?"

"He's a sergeant in the Salvation Army."

To the victor go the spoils.

Presentation Ball

"Mmmmmmmmma"

"Isn't he cute?"

Marilyn Folk, Pat Kinney, Linda Henning, Susan O'Toole

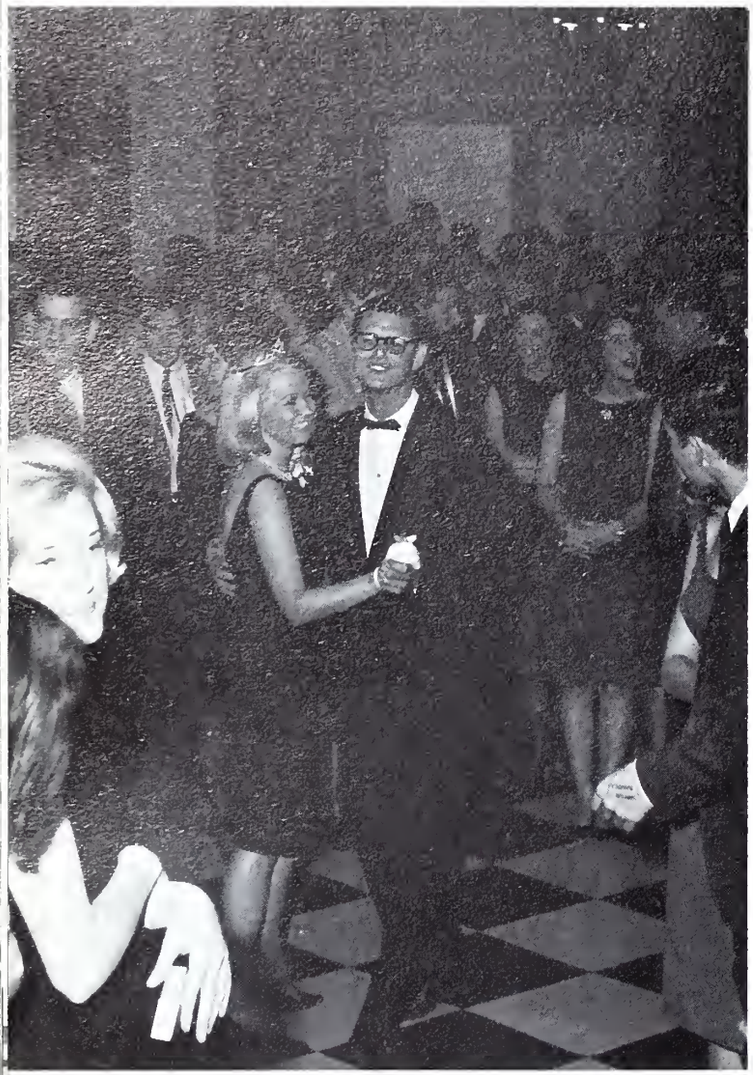

"What, me worry?"

"Well, it IS named after an animal."

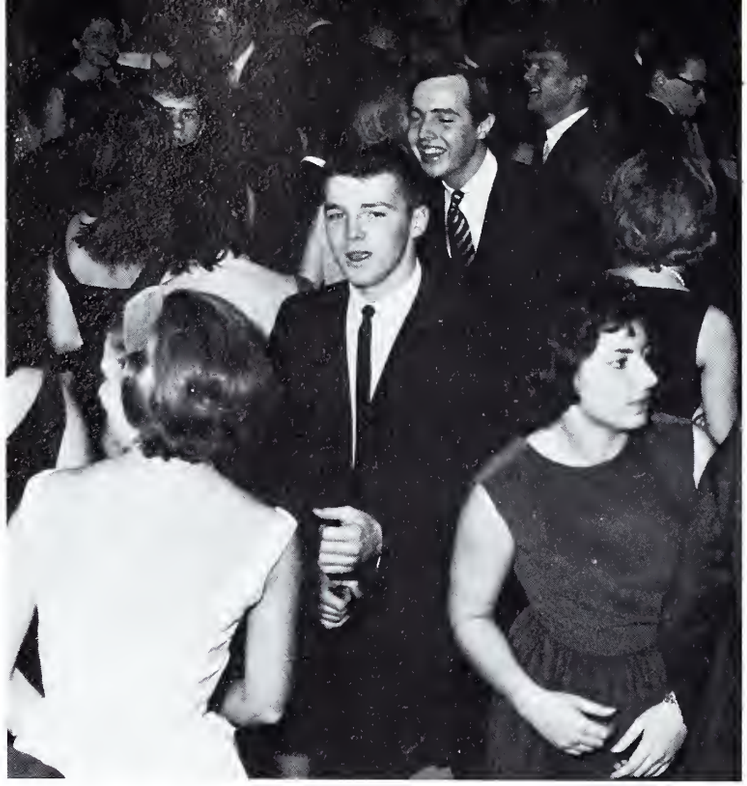

Coronation Ball

"Yes, I'm John Martin."

"Who's he?"

"I had a date here."

"I'm in the yearbook, too?"

"I sell toothpaste."

Parade of the Faculty

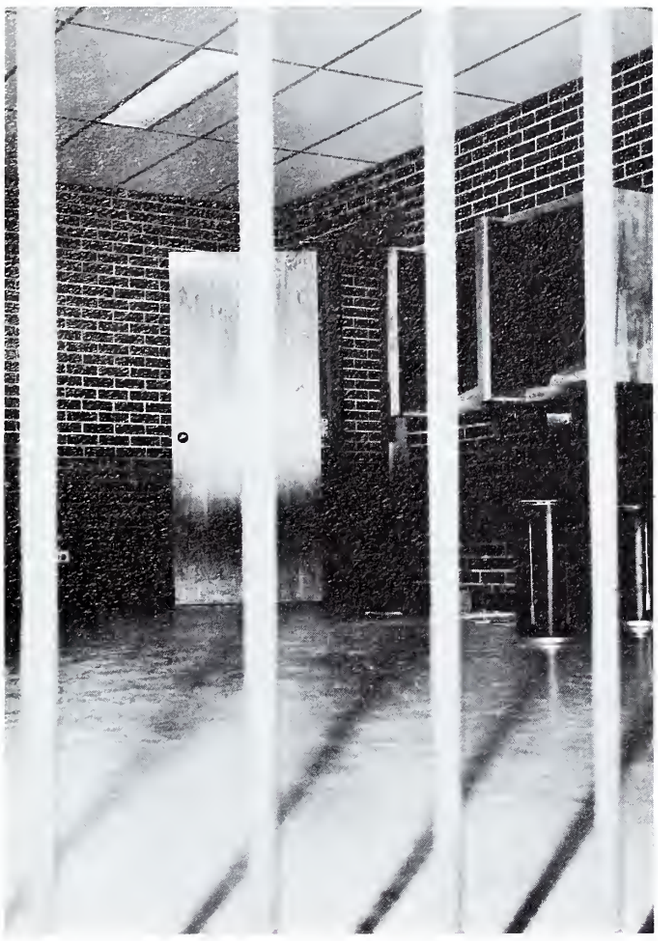

The leaves came tumbling down . . .

The empty cage.

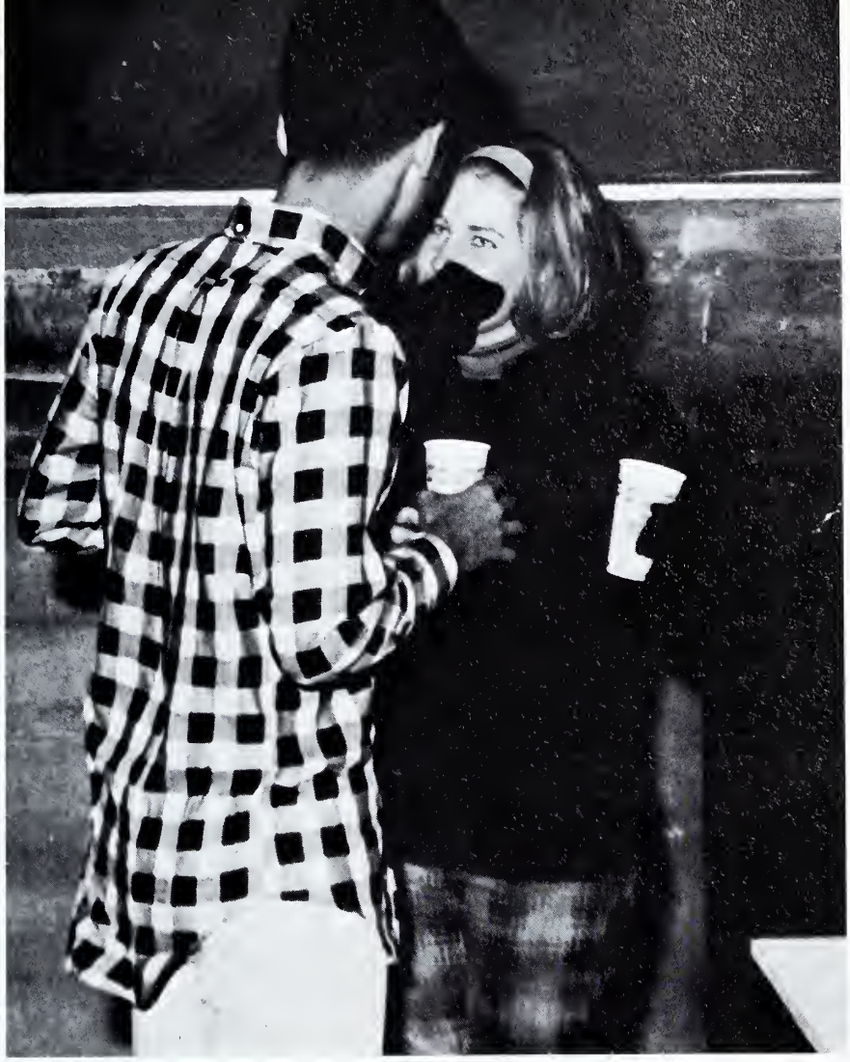

"Wanna try those guns, Thatcher?"

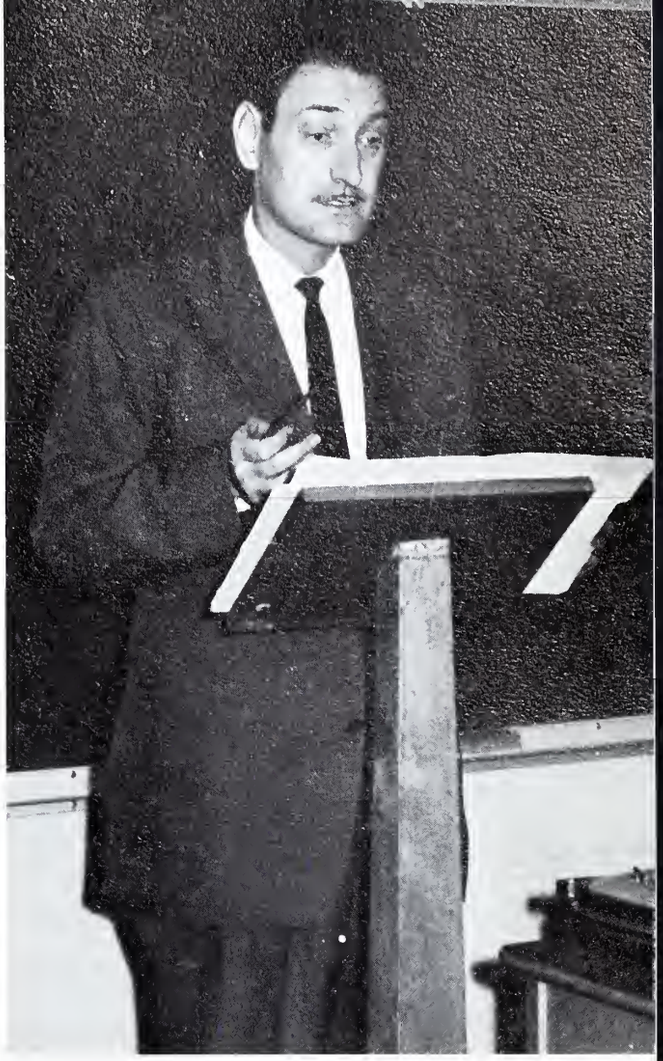

Held up by spit and bailing wire.

The latest in lawn mowers.

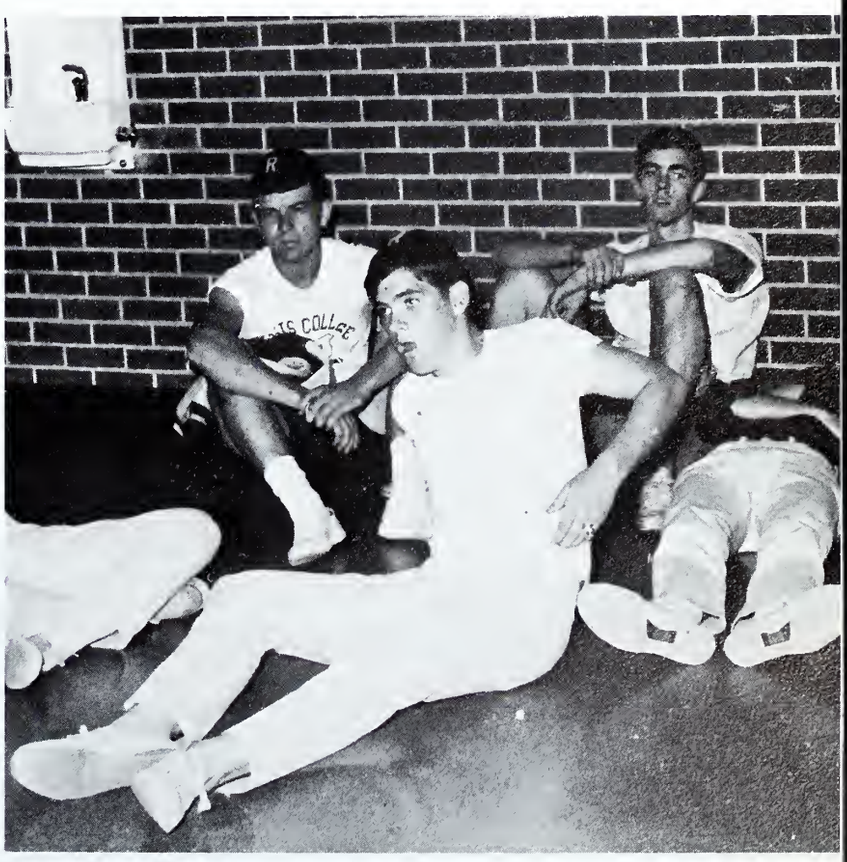

"It spilled down my sweater."

"For my next trick."

"Pardon me, I'm lost."

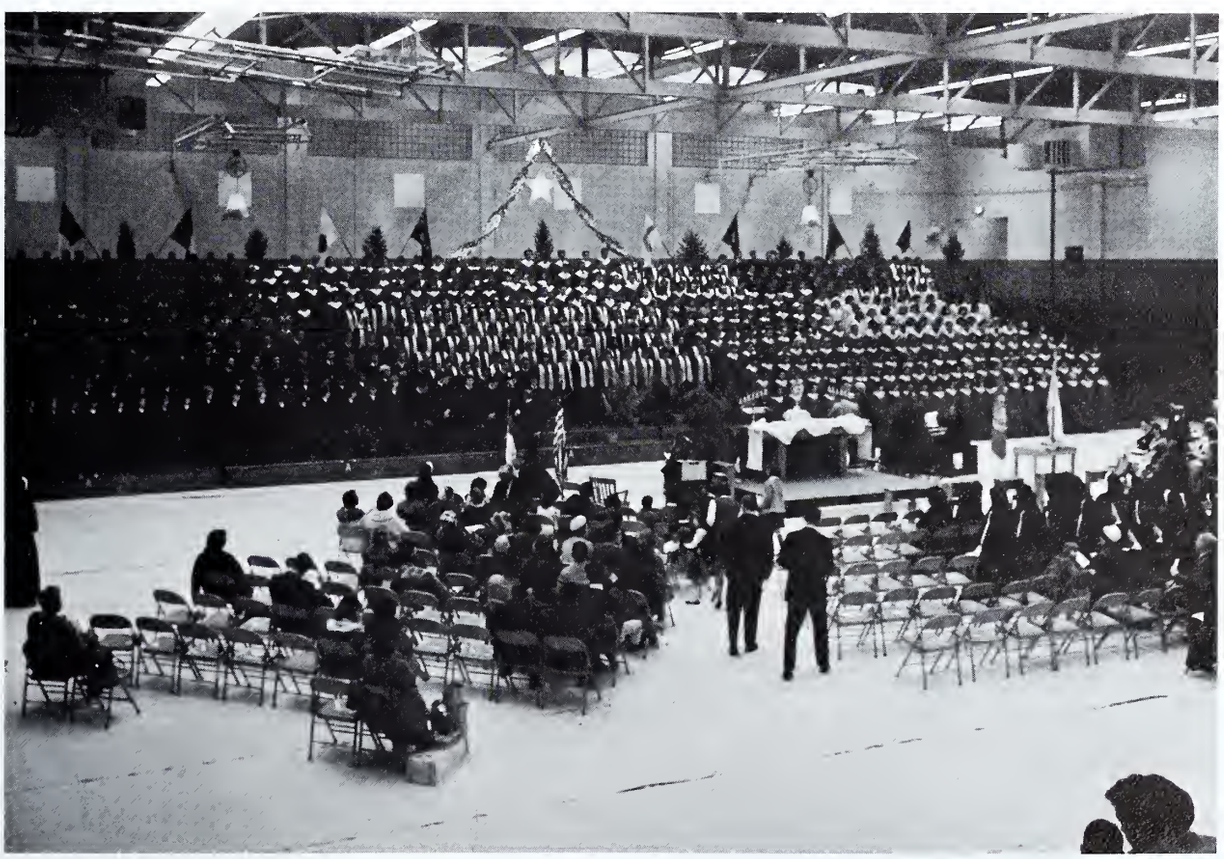

"Someone please scratch my back."

Christmas Festival

On December 18, at 7:30 in the Regis College Fieldhouse, the 1964 Christmas Festival was held. Those who attended found it to be a very enjoyable evening. Over 750 students from 10 Denver area parochial high schools participated in the annual affair. The Very Rev. Msgr. Richard C. Hiester, Archdiocesan Director of Music, was the Festival Director. The Rt. Rev. Msgr. Gregory Smith, Vicar-General, Archdiocese of Denver, delivered the Festival sermon. The Rev. Robert F. Houlihan, S.J., Dean of Regis offered greetings on behalf of the College. The Most Rev. David M. Maloney, Auxiliary Bishop of Denver, was the Celebrant at Solemn Benediction closing the Festival. The participating schools included Marycrest, Machebeuf, Holy Family, Regis, Annunciation, Cathedral, St. Mary's, St. Joseph, Mt. Carmel, and St. Francis de Sales. The Festival served to contribute to the re-establishment of Christmas as a religious occasion.

Winter Arrives

"If we're caught, they look like our skiis."

"That was the leader of the pack"

"The intermediate slopes are fun too."

"I don't think this is the lunch line, Dan."

The Mountains Call

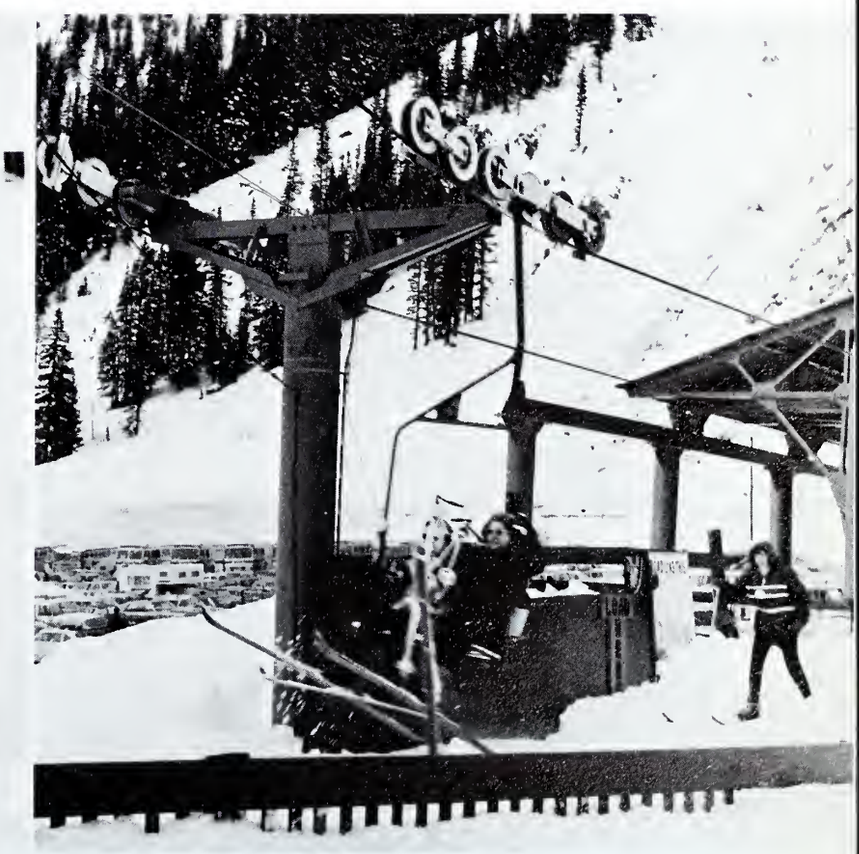

Censored

Stein Kennedy

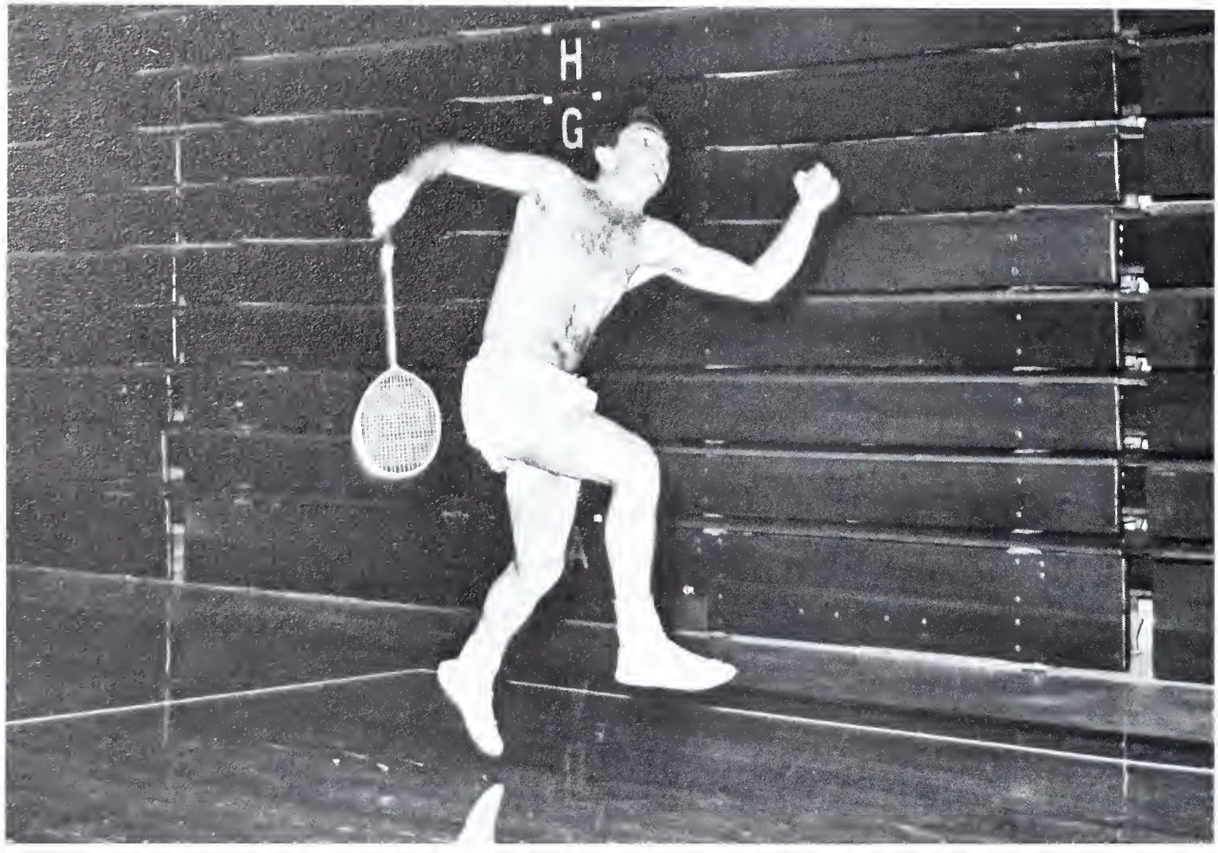

"I can fly. I can fly."

"That starter was fresh."

Regis Men Are Fit

"There go my contacts."

"I know I've forgotten something."

"I don't like this new dorm."

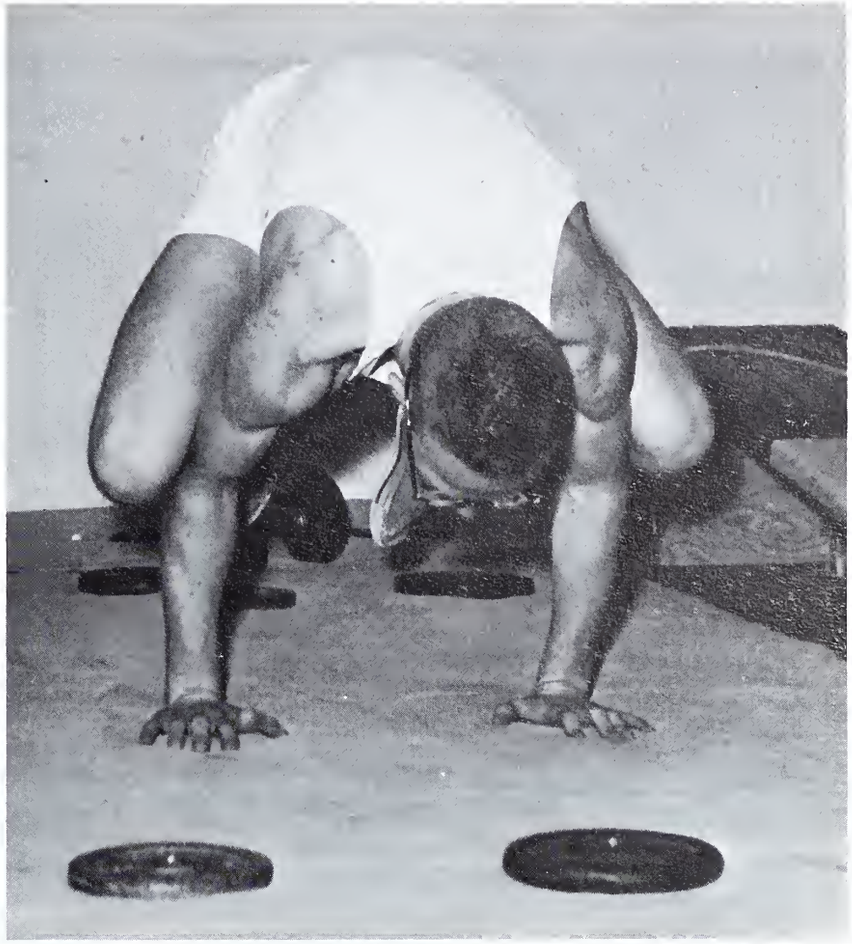

Follow the...

....bouncing ball.

"Maybe we ought to get up, John."

"It is an ant."

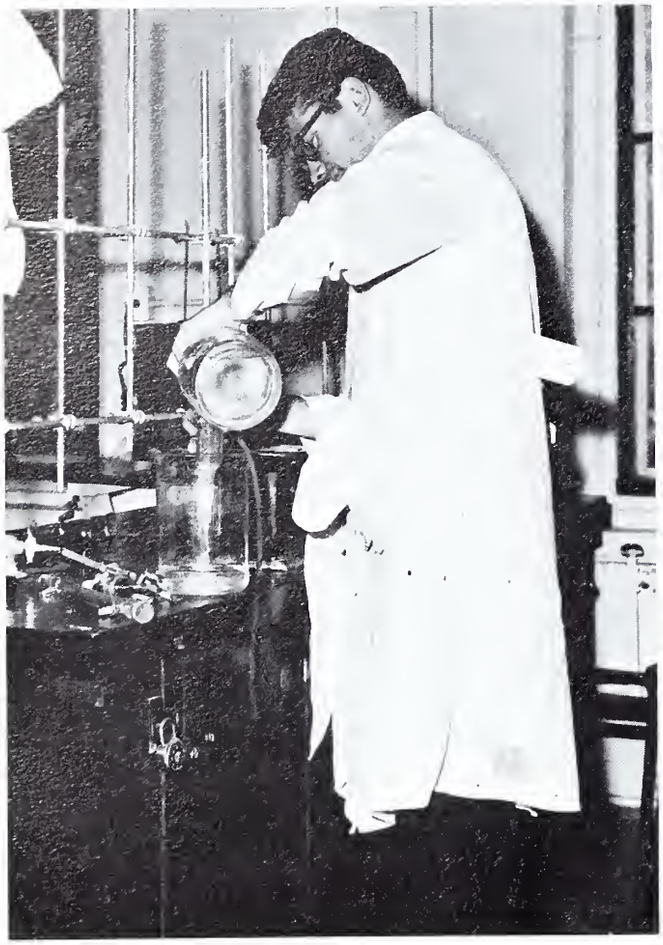

Ban rolls on.

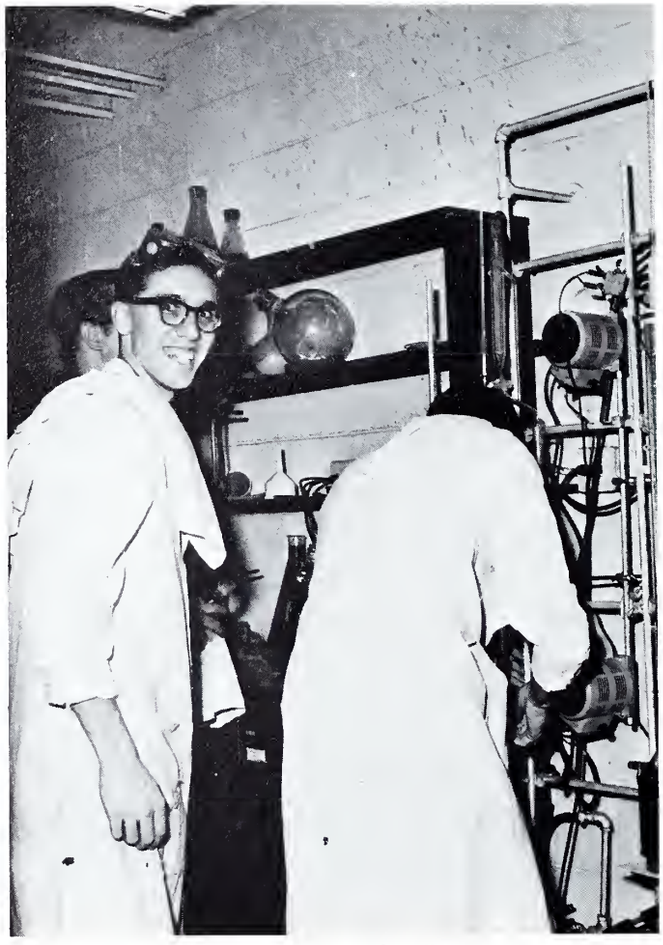

Man was that ball tagged, sports fans.

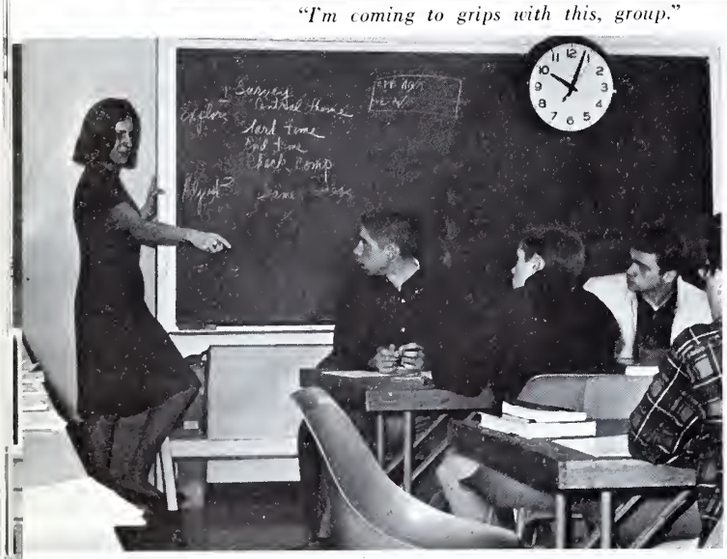

Regis Men Are Academic

"I'm coming to grips with this, group."

"Dinner's at 7:30 sharp."

"Stop doing that, Horace."

"I guess the dance is over."

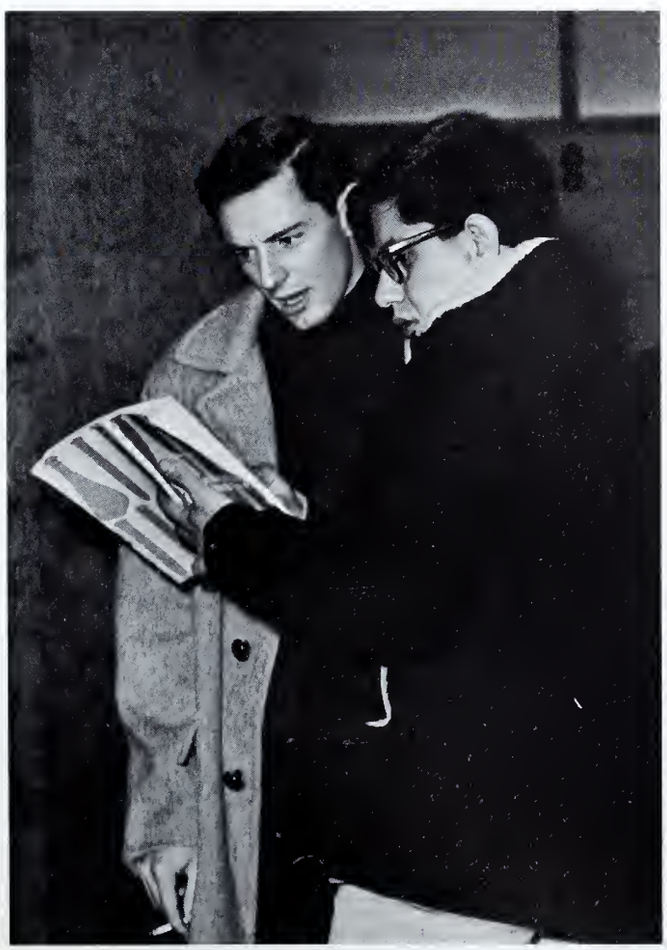

Happiness is an A on a spelling test.

"I've been standing here for three days."

"There I was on top of Loveland."

"I said you're standing on my foot."

"It was a wonderful weekend."

Regis Men Are Sociable

"So how's Molly and the kids?"

Happiness is a fuzzy sweater.

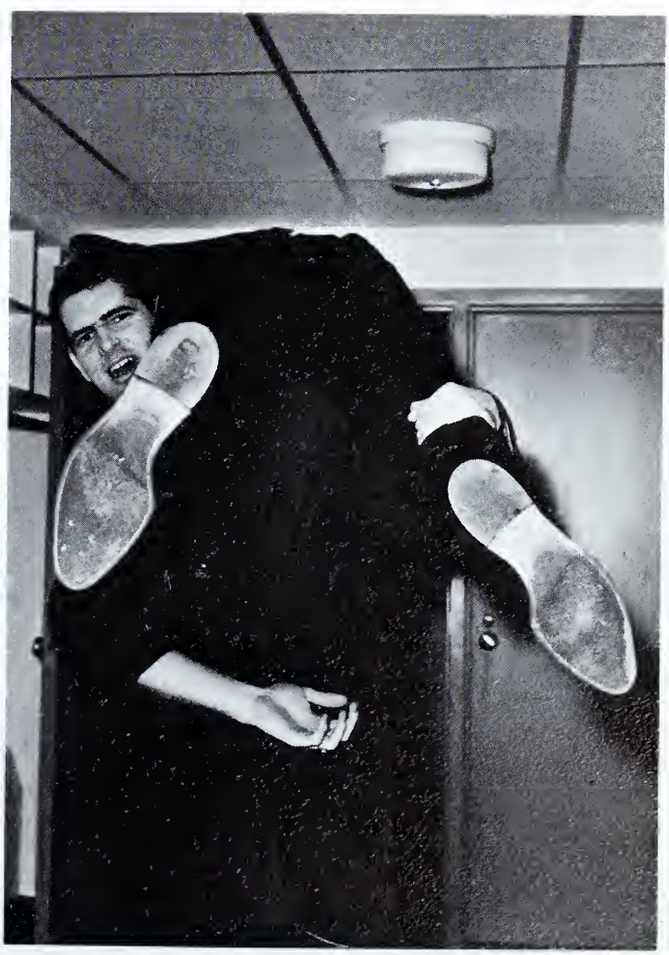

"I've had this throat condition all winter."

"This isn't my idea of a honeymoon."

"Now what, lover?"

"They said transfer on 79th street."

Lecture Series 1964–1965

The Regis College Campus has in the last few seasons been complemented by a number of outstanding individuals, delivering lectures in their own areas of concentration. These lectures serve to provide another in the ever-expanding means to broaden one's intellectual inquiry at Regis College. The theme of this year's series has been Literature for the most part. Interest in these lectures has been growing and soon more organizations will sponsor lectures for the betterment of the student body. Alpha Kappa Psi Fraternity has shown initiative in this regard on an informal basis by presenting various outstanding individuals in the field of business and an especially poignant lecturer on communism. In the future other student organizations, i.e., Student Government, will sponsor some worthy lecturers not only financially, but with attendance.

Fr. Boyle

The Rev. Robert R. Boyle, S.J., Associate Professor of English at Regis, mixed literature and politics in the series' opening lecture September 30, when he discussed "Shakespeare—Democrat or Republican?"

Shakespeare would have been on the winning side in the November election. In Father Boyle's opinion, the Bard was a Democrat. In his talk Father Boyle used material and notes on Shakespeare gathered during his recent visit to England.

The Rev. Joseph E. Hart, S.J., of St. Louis University, spoke on "Modern Art and Catcher in the Rye" during his lecture October 14. Father Hart is an Assistant Professor of Theology at Parks Air College. St. Louis University and also an instructor in Art History at the University. He effectively used photographic slides of modern art to explore Salinger's classic novel.

Dr. Staley

A Regis College Alumnus, Dr. Thomas F. Staley, a member of the Department of English at the University of Tulsa, delivered a November 18 lecture on "The Priest in the Modern Novel." Dr. Staley is a 1957 graduate of Regis. He serves as editor of the James Joyce Quarterly and has contracted to write a book on Italo Svevo.

The fourth lecture in the series was delivered on the 9th of December by Dr. Sarah Youngblood, Assistant Professor of English at the University of Minnesota. Her topic was "Modern Poetry in the American Scene." She is considered a specialist in American Literature and modern poetry and has been honored for her contributions to the artistic life in Minneapolis and for her faculty contributions at the University.

The fifth lecture was delivered by James Sandoe, Drama Department at the University of Colorado, and entitled "Shakespeare's Chronicle Plays: a recital-lecture stressing the sounds of Shakespeare's language." He was assisted by Glenn Johnson and Ricky Wiener.

Dr. Youngblood

The Rev. Robert Boyle, S.J., author of Metaphor in Hopkins and Associate Professor of English at Regis, on the 7th of April delivered a lecture entitled, "The World of Gerard Manley Hopkins': an illustrated lecture dealing with scenes in Scotland, England, The Isle of Wight, and Wales." Father used the photographs he had the occasion to take on his recent European tour. These combined with Father's unique genius in these matters provided a most fascinating and insight-filled evening.

The Final Lecture of the Academic Year was delivered by Dr. John L. Murphy, Professor of English at the University of Colorado. Dr. Murphy entitled his lecture, "Shakespeare, the secret agent of the Jesuits: an investigation of the Elizabethan-Jesuit underground." Dr. Murphy fascinated both students and faculty with his insights into the workings of the Jesuits of Campion's time and the historical origins of the word, jesuitical.

Ranger Day

The Hustlers

"All I suggested was..."

"Slit the rope a little more, Ed."

"Take a right at the hardware store then..."

Welcome to Red Bank, New Jersey.

"One more time."

"I like the RCA Building better."

"Isn't it about time for a midday siesta?"

"All right, all right—I took it for a short spin."

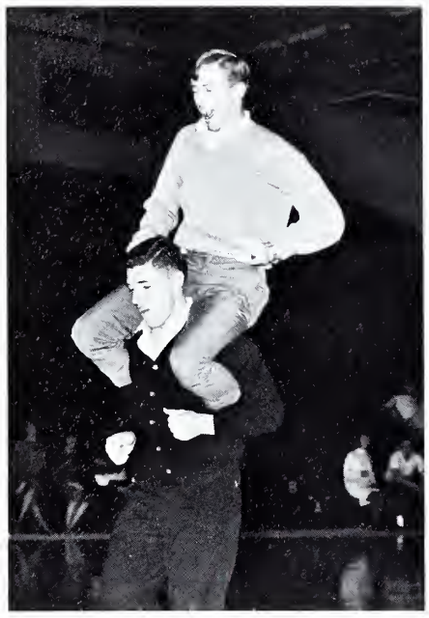

The Weekend

"It's the jerk, guys."

"I won the raffle, O. D."

"Bye, Mom, don't wait up."

"Ah, my name's Mac."

"John, happiness is a good date."

"Dave, it's moving."

Days of Wine and Roses

"Say uncle."

"James Bond's the name."

"Just so people can sit on 'em."

"Oops, sorry lady."

Hazel

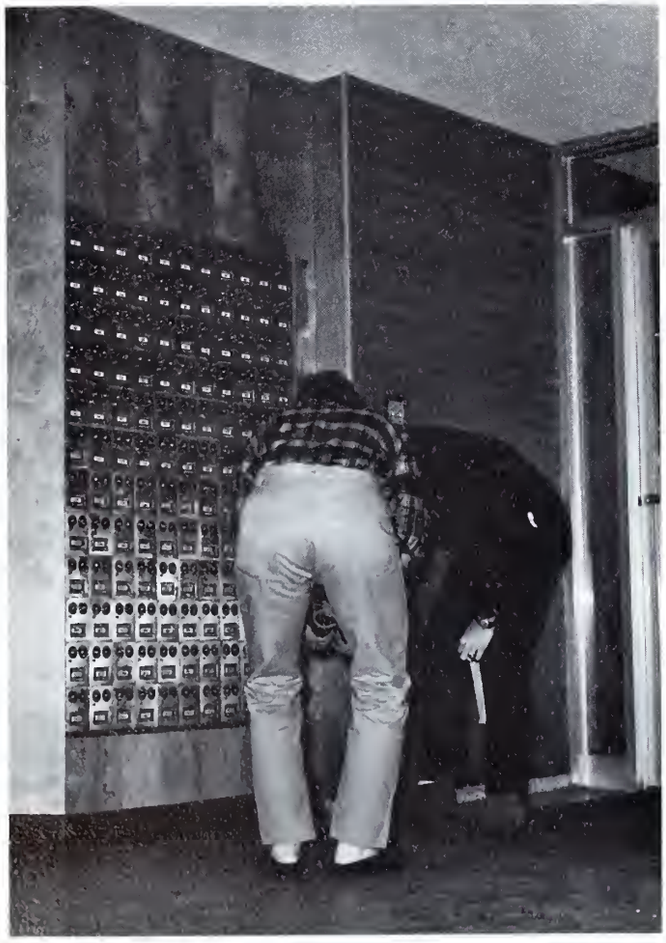

In the Dorms

"Forgive the mess; my maid left suddenly."

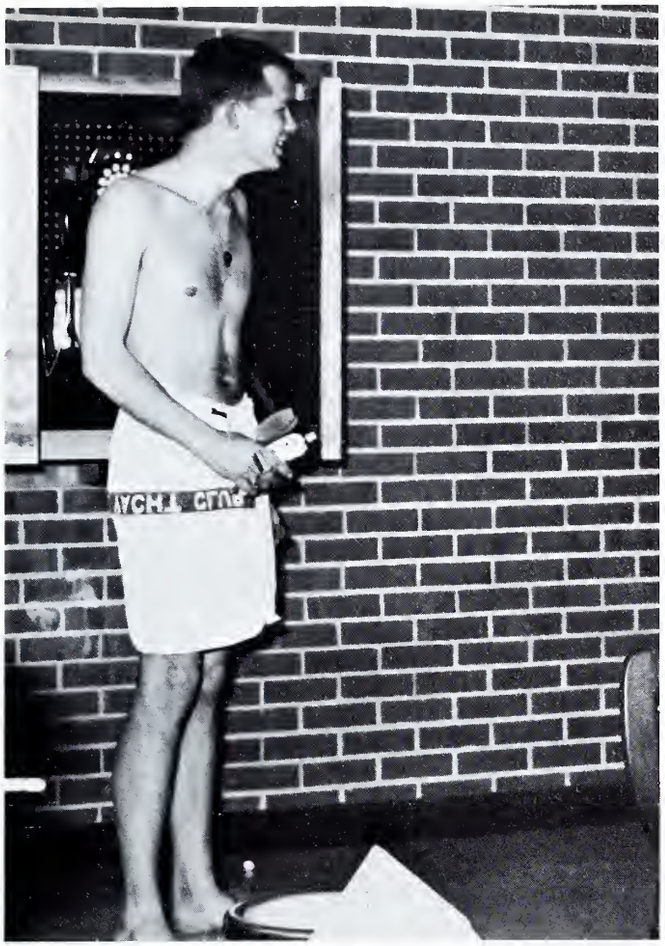

"Gosh, I'm all choked up, fellas."

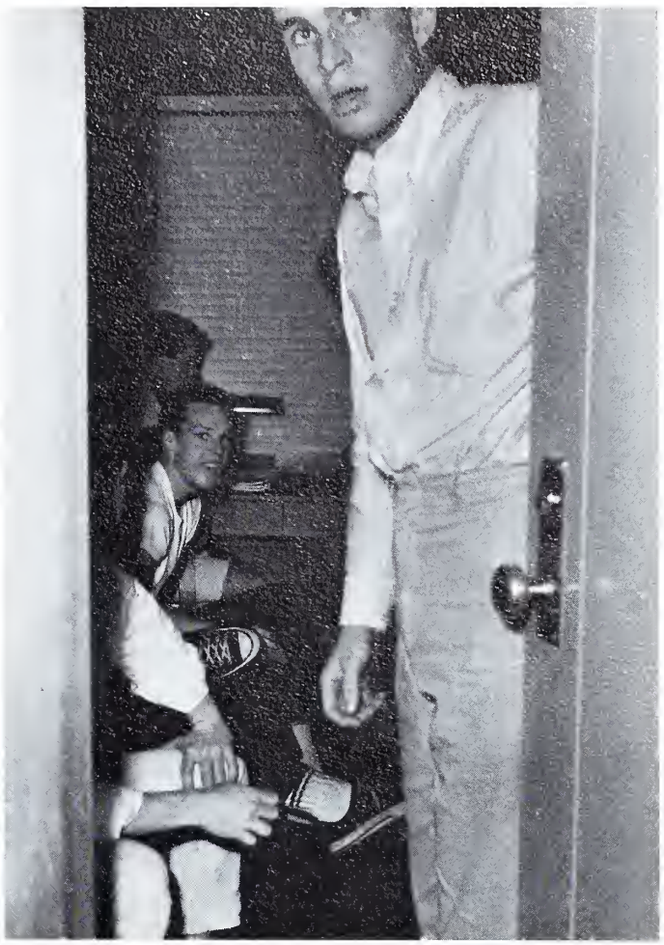

"How'd they get her in there?"

Tired blood

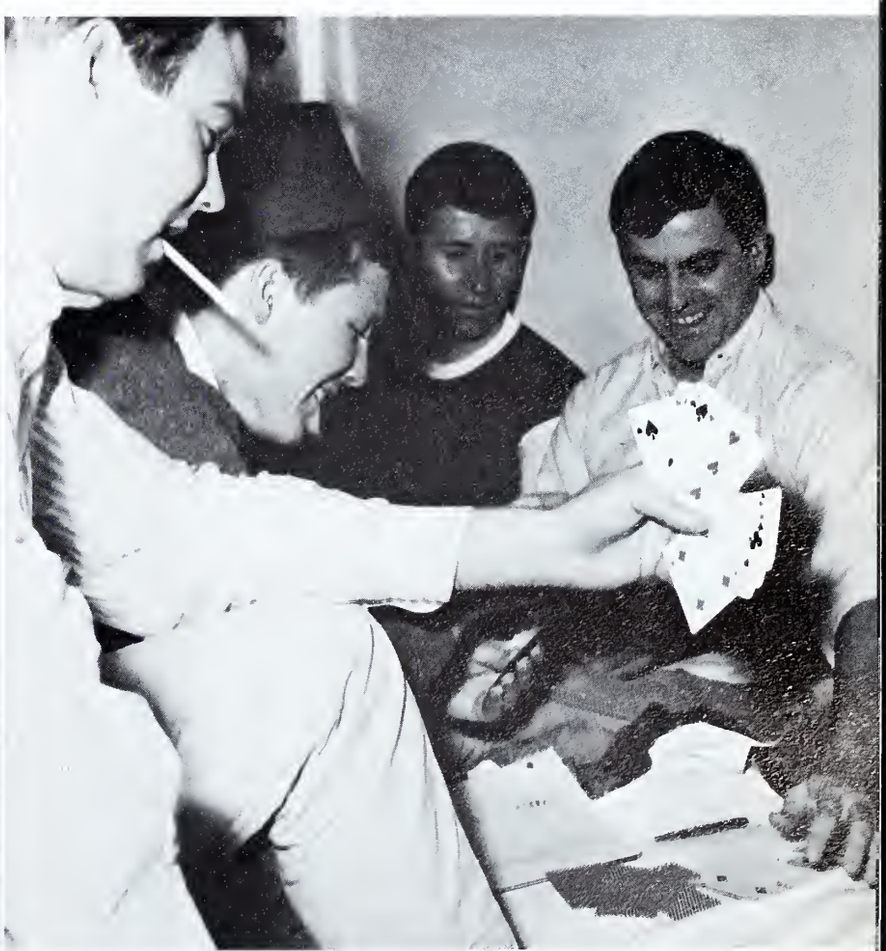

"Where are the skis?"

"Look, mister, we have a TV."

"Sometimes the excitement makes me feel faint."

"Gin."

Such Stuff as Memories Are Made of

"Ed and I are going to Birdland, wanna come?"

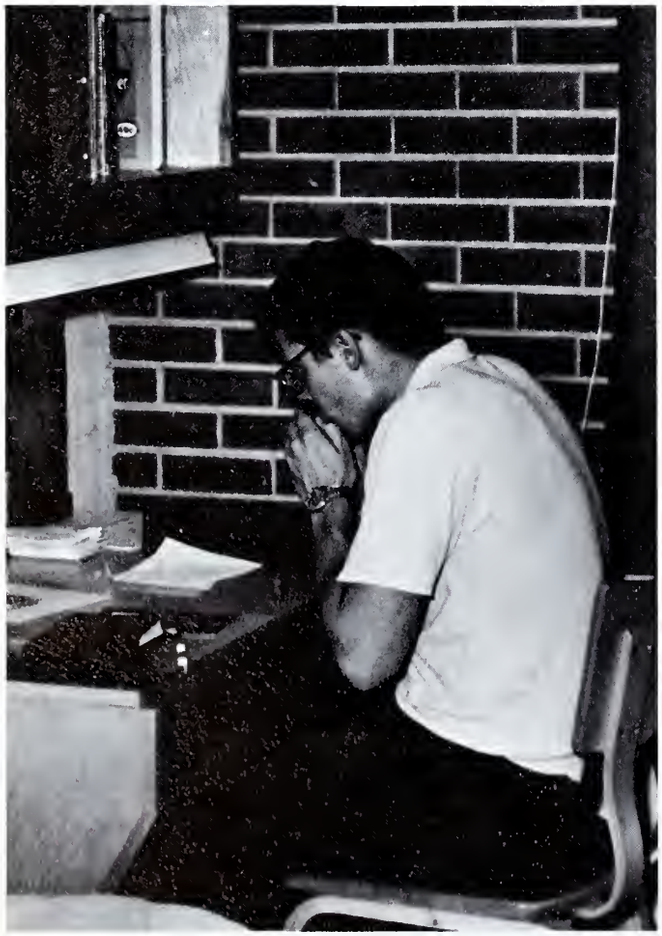

"Mother, you remember Mrs. Kausenbaum."

"I've always found Italian food indigestible."

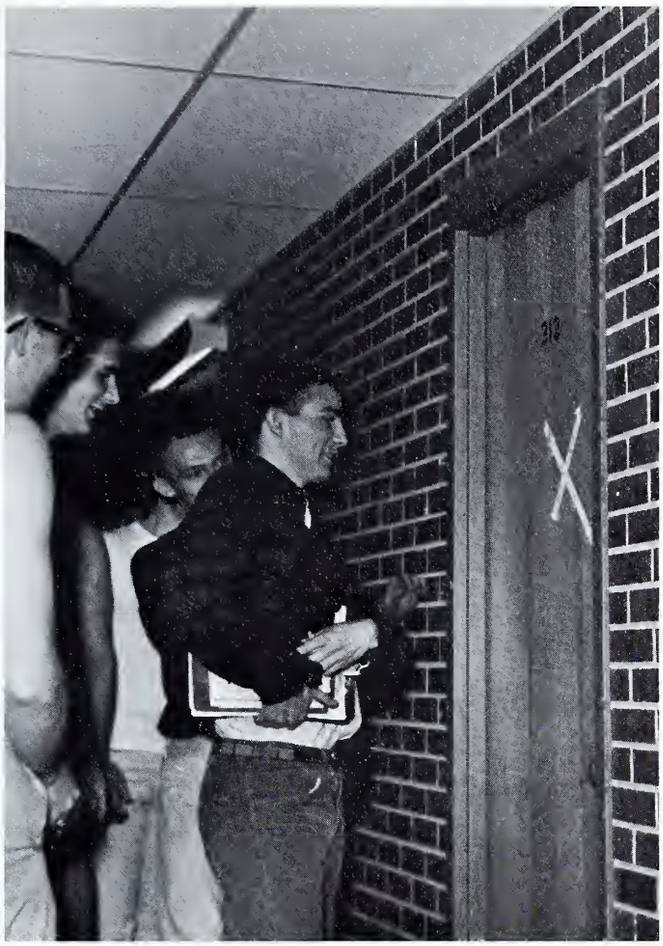

"After this there's a milk punch party."

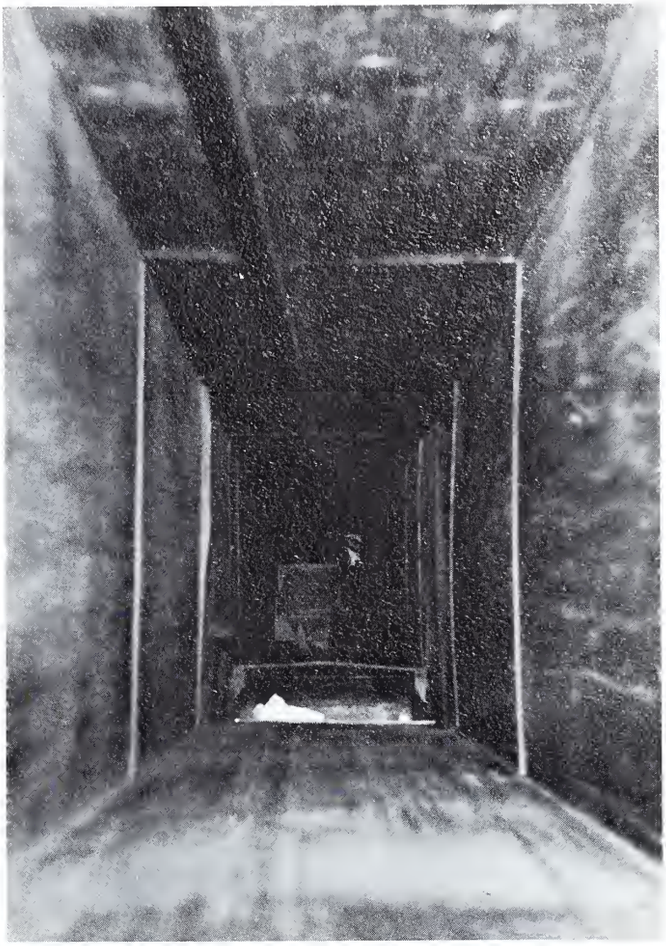

"My God I've been drafted."

The Jolly, ho, ho, ho, Green Giant.

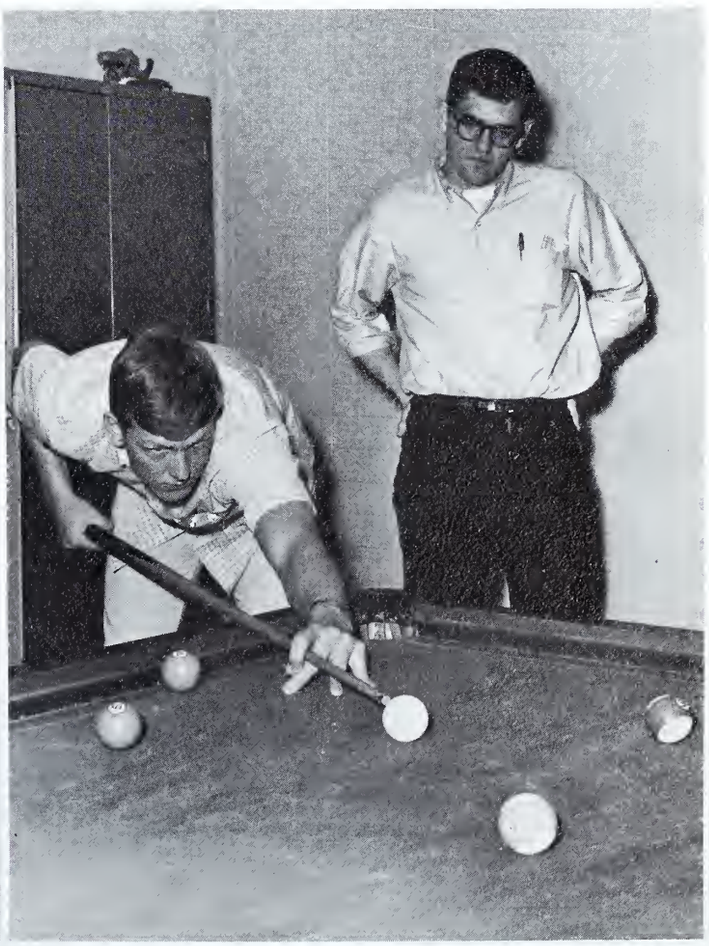

"Did anyone bring an opener?"

Guess what.

"This is my left arm."

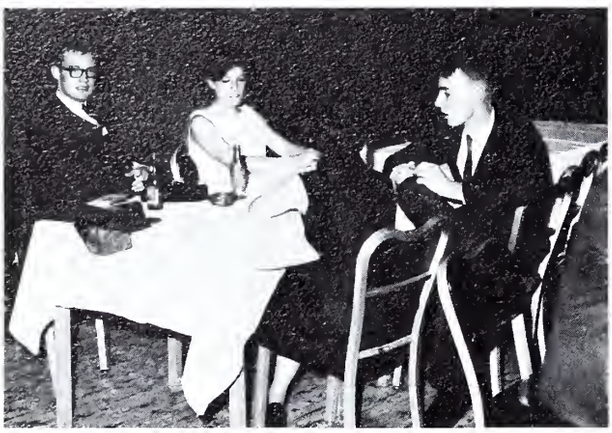

"You sure allow for table roll, don't you?"

That Was the Year That Was

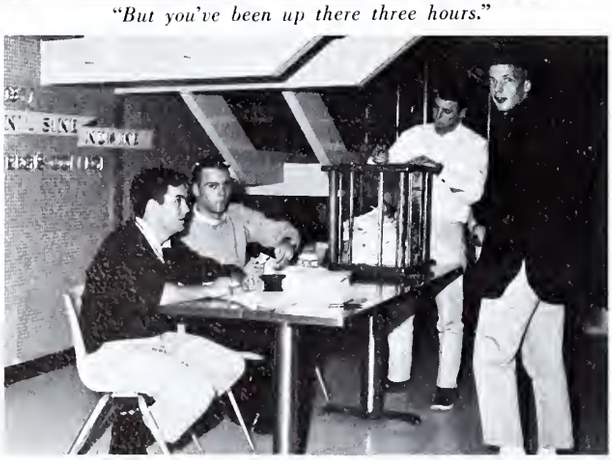

"I'll give you a ticket for your coat."

. . . for those who think young.

"But you've been up there three hours."

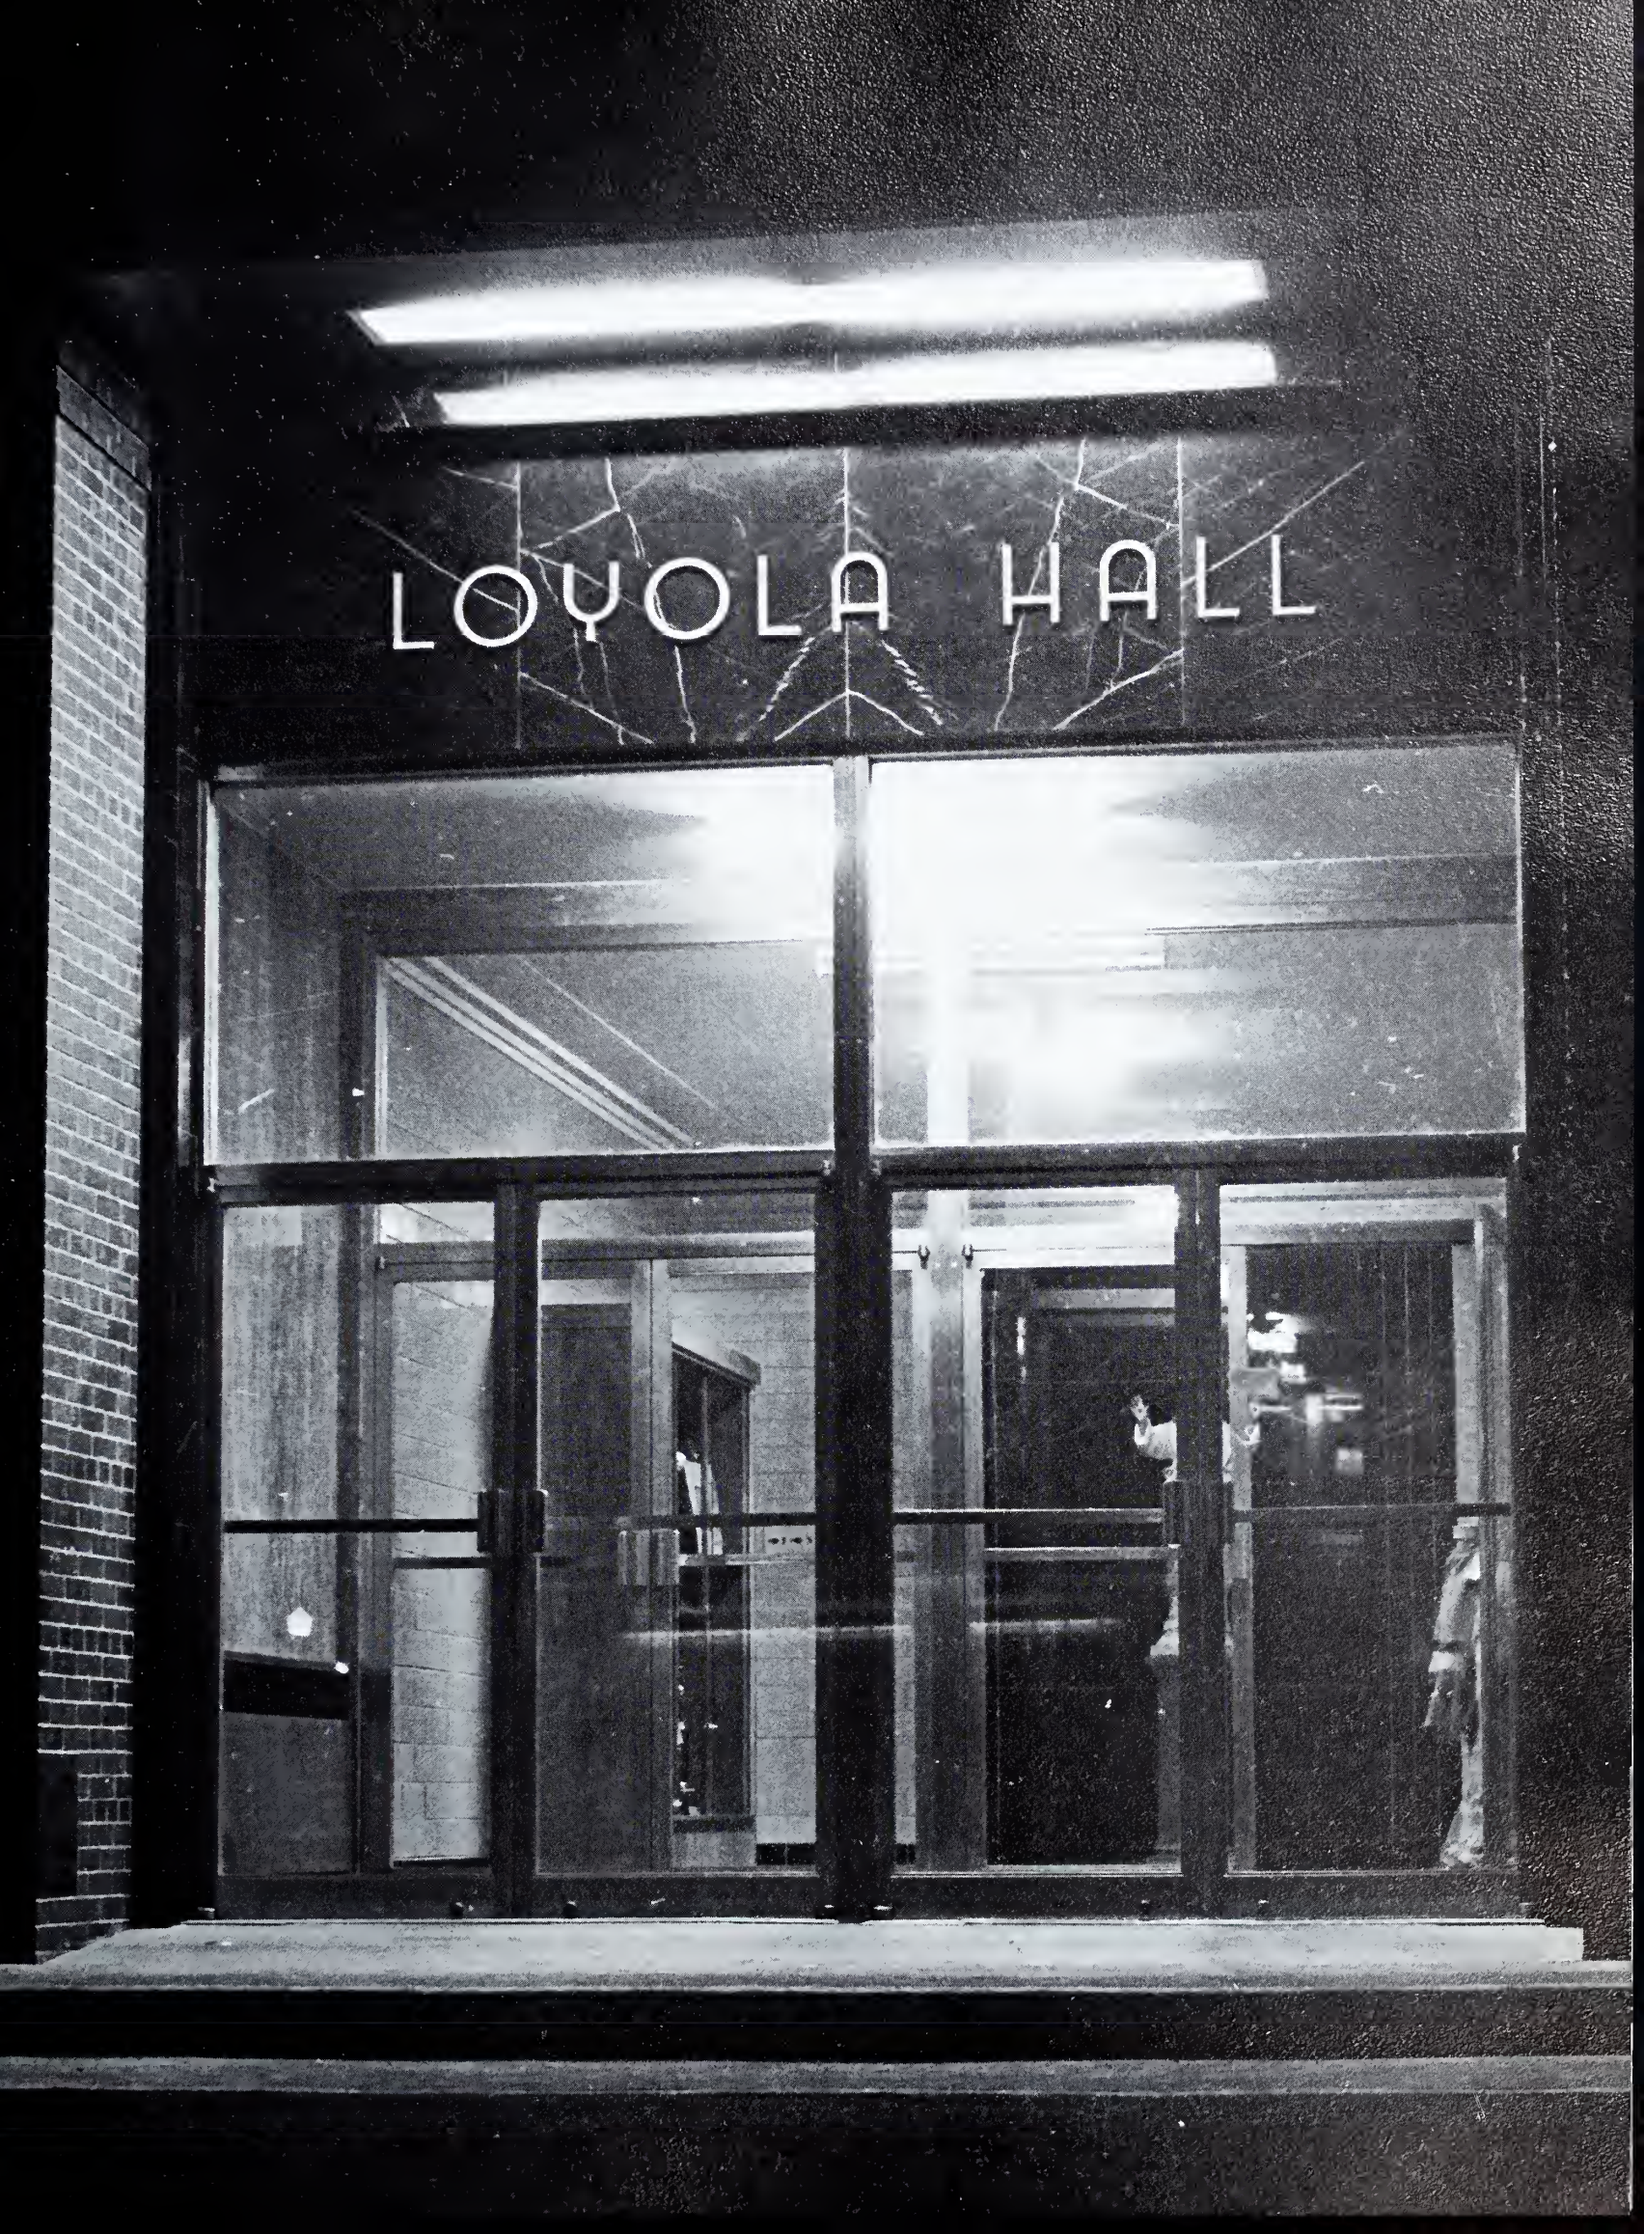

"Hey you with the moccasins."

A Regis man is neat.

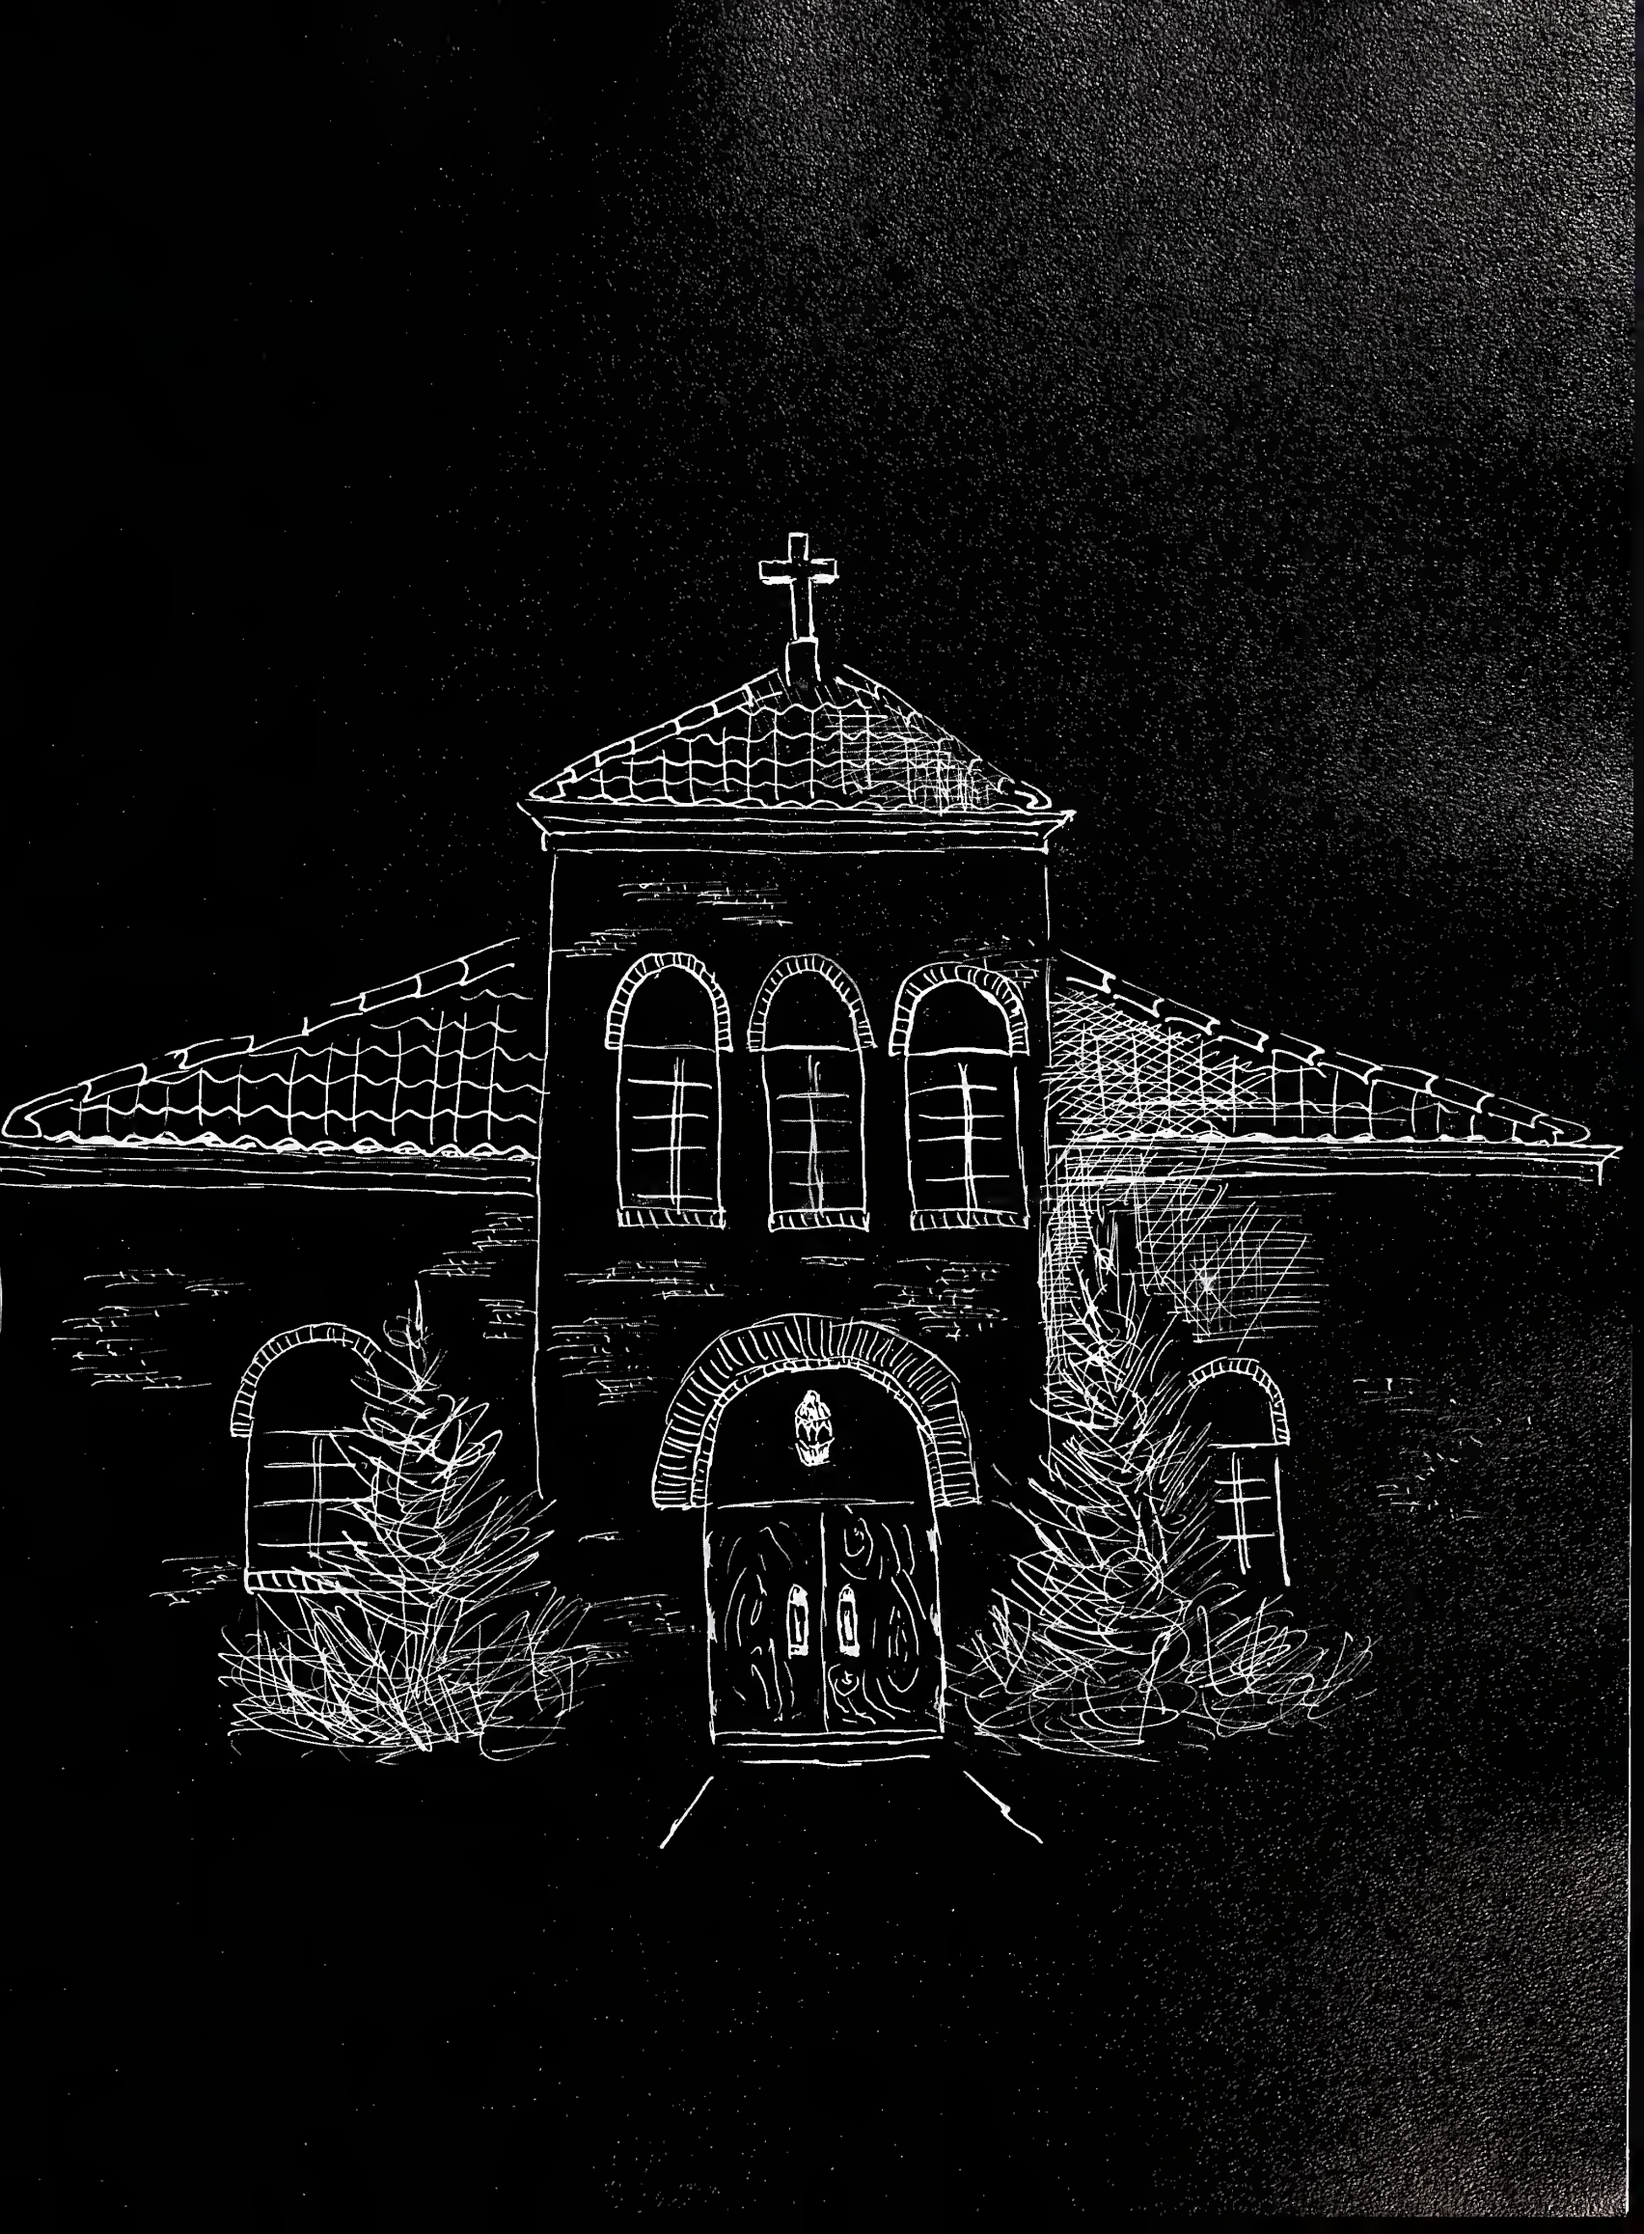

"My shoe's stuck."

CONGRATULATIONS TO THE CLASS OF '65
FROM THE BROTHERS OF

ALPHA KAPPA PSI FRATERNITY

GAMMA SIGMA CHAPTER

LORD,
make me an instrument of Thy Peace.
Where there is hatred, let me sow love.
Where there is injury, pardon.
Where there is doubt, faith.
Where there is despair, hope.
Where there is darkness, light.
Where there is sadness, joy.
O DIVINE MASTER,
Grant that I may not so much seek to be consoled, as to console;
To be understood, as to understand;
To be loved, as to love;
For it is in giving that we receive,
It is in pardoning that we are pardoned,
And it is in dying that we are born to Eternal Life.

—St. Francis of Assisi

It is hard to believe that this is the final page of the book. With the completion of this page the 1965 RANGER will become a thing of the past and plans will start for the next annual.

It was just about this time last year when I took over the job of editor of the RANGER and the enlightenment in the course of this year has been overwhelming for me. I had no idea of the tremendous amount of work that went into a book of this size. There are pictures to be taken, pages to lay out, and a vast amount of other odds and ends that must be taken into consideration. But with a strong will and maybe not so strong a mind I plunged into it whole heartily with the determination to make this the best RANGER of all time. If I have fallen short of that goal, consider me human. But I do sincerely hope that we have given to you, our readers, a panoramic view of the student life in the past year here at Regis. I mean this for everyone. It is my hope that we have been able to represent each and every individual at Regis whether he be a person who has to work most of the day and can't participate in many activities or the person who's name is familiar to the whole student body for being in almost everything.

My work is done but only because of the help I received from my staff and they are also to be congratulated. Our photography was handled by none other than Steve Seeger who in my estimation did a superlative job. Mike Sise is to be thanked for his drawings that went to make our artistic divisional pages. Our copy editor, Dave Close came through many times in the pinch when everyone else was at a lose for words. Ed Essay was the chief in charge of the wonderful stuff called cash and is to be thanked for a job well done. Our first deadline was met by the ardent and industrious work of J. V. Doering and Dick Bowles which to my estimation is the toughest deadline to meet. After going through the Organizations sections I think you will agree with me that the imagination of Chuck Ill gave this book its own special greatness. Con Keyes our sports editor deserves a real hand for making the sports section something really full of life and also thanks for doing so well under the circumstances. Our one man army is Bob Kucera who above all had everything right and on time with no assistance. Bob did the whole activities section by himself in his own little way and deserves a lot of thanks for his unselfish efforts for the Ranger. Steve Petosa was the man responsible for the fine work done in the advertising section. And for all the people that did all the unheard of work I extend my warmest thanks and appreciation. Fr. Maginnis I want to thank you for placing your confidence in me and giving me this job.

I would also like to thank Regis College for letting me be a part of you.
